U.S. FIGHTS PLAN TO PUT CRUISERS IN TWO CLASSES

French Scheme Is to Limit Big Ships.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Bunker Hill strategy was adopted by the American forces at the London naval conference today, with the expectation, however, of more favorable results for their country.

Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, whose forefathers fought at Bunker Hill, was captain of the American delegates in the first skirmish with the British and French at the session of the conference committee for consideration of the method of naval limitation.

Like his ancestors on that other battlefield, though not this time for lack of powder, it is averred that he decided not to fire until he could see the whites of the eyes of his foes.

U. S. Reserves Consent.

In the two hour session today the opposing forces never got that close together, so Mr. Adams has not yet been heard from.

When the French modified proposal for limitation by global tonnage came up for discussion, with its provision for the division of cruisers into two classes and the combination of light cruisers and destroyers in one category, Hugh S. Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium, who is associated with Mr. Adams on this committee, announced that America reserved her consent to that plan. He explained that when America agreed to accept the French proposal as a basis for discussions the plan proposed one category for cruisers instead of dividing them into eight and six inch gun classes.

Much Oratory—with Gestures.

Then the committee's discussion veered to the obtuse question of whether each nation is to "have the nominal right to allocate its global naval tonnage to categories as it sees fit, or is to be bound in terms of distribution agreed upon in advance.

As the French have conceded that maximum tonnage in each category is to be named in the treaty the Americans could see nothing in the discussion but exercise in metaphysics, something akin to the dispute on how many angels can stand on the point of a needle. The French, however, regarded the matter as highly important and expended much oratory and gesticulation on it.

U. S. Aims Still in Dark.

The Americans were willing to let it go at that and get on to the serious business of the conference. But then it came time for lunch, and the committee adjourned.

As matters now stand, the American position on the French and British limitation plans has not been set forth. What the British and French are maneuvering for is as plain as a pikestaff, but what the Americans want and why, nobody knows outside of the American delegation. And the impression is getting abroad that the members of the delegation have nothing on the public in this respect.

Some of the members of the American delegation, notably Senators Reed and Robinson, it is reported, are opposed to acceptance of the proposal to divide cruisers into two classes, which would aid the British in their scheme to impose hard and fast the limitation of big cruisers on America despite the fact that big cruisers are essential for American national defense owing to the lack of outlying naval bases.

Dissension Is Denied.

Reports of dissension within the delegation are, however, strenuously denied by the members, including Senators Reed and Robinson. It is well known, however, that several of the most able naval advisers to the delegation are strongly opposed to acceptance by the United States of the division of cruisers into eight inch and six inch gun ships, with freedom to transfer a percentage of the tonnage from the big to the little cruiser class, but not vice versa, as provided by the British plan.

American admirals perceive in this arrangement only a variation of the persistent British scheme to hold down the number of big cruisers, which are vital and adequate for American defense, while permitting expansion of the force of little cruisers, which are useful to Great Britain, with her 27 outlying naval bases. Small cruisers are of far less use to the United States.

Under the British arrangement, with transfers into the light cruiser class from both big cruisers downward and from destroyers upward, Great Britain would have a valuable force of six inch gun cruisers potentially as unlimited as she contended for at Geneva in 1927.

MAYOR AND HIS AIDS DIRECTED TO CO-OPERATE

Banks Give Caldwell the Cold Shoulder.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

While 40,122 public employés were waiting for $11,275,300 of unpaid salaries, the city council yesterday adopted two plans, in the form of resolutions, to obtain cash. One of these pledged complete coöperation with the citizens' committee headed by Silas H. Strawn.

At the same time H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the board of education, was accusing Mr. Strawn of ulterior motives and questioning his veracity. Mr. Caldwell was presenting his plea for aid to the neighborhood banks, who gave him the cold shoulder by suggesting that he confer with the two bankers' associations.

Before his conference with the bankers and his attack on Mr. Strawn Caldwell had a long talk with Mayor Thompson. What this means in view of the council action promising coöperation with Strawn remains to be seen.

Council Backs Strawn Plan.

The first resolution adopted by the council was introduced by Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the finance committee. It provides that Clark, City Controller Schmidt and Corporation Counsel Ettelson shall be a committee "to find purchasers for tax anticipation warrants."

The second resolution came from Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th]. It asserts that "the city council for, and in behalf of the city of Chicago does hereby pledge itself to coöperate with the publicly expressed plan and program of the citizens' committee for the purpose of inducing said committee to purchase tax anticipation warrants of the city of Chicago."

The resolution went further. It said "that the mayor, the corporation counsel and the city controller be and they are hereby directed and authorized to coöperate with said committee to the same end."

Ask Others to Do Same.

But that is not all. The resolution "invited and requested" the board of education, the library trustees, and the trustees of the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium to adopt similar resolutions "so that relief may be afforded to all municipalities within the city and for the prompt meeting of pay rolls and for carrying out the provisions of the appropriation ordinances."

These resolutions were adopted unanimously without a word of discussion. Later, however, when Ald. John Coughlin [1st] presented a third resolution setting aside $20,000 to pay the expense of selling tax anticipation warrants over the counter, with the city controller in charge, the Coughlin plan was referred to the finance committee for consideration.

Coughlin then wanted the Arvey resolution placed in the same boat.

Arvey Fights for Action.

"The cold fact stares you in the face that we owe millions in salaries to employés and many of them are hard pressed," replied Arvey. "The least that the city can do is to go over and talk to Strawn."

"Where are you going to get the $20,000?" commented Ald. Thomas J. Bowler [41st]. "I have a committee going to Springfield tonight to obtain needed feeder buses. I have been told that the aldermen will have to pay their own expenses. If the city can't pay a $150 expense account, where are you going to get the $20,000?"

"The controller's office would not sell $40 worth of warrants a week," put in Ald. Sheldon Govier [9th].

"Probably it would not sell enough to pay the salaries of the employés," added Ald. Arvey.

Officially the city and school board have tax warrants for sale today. The tax levies were passed yesterday by the council. These total $138,136,361—$66,878,161 for the schools and $71,258,200 for the city, library, sanitarium, and pension funds.

Clark Plan Meets Delay.

Mayor Thompson refrained from saying whether he will obey or veto the Arvey plan of coöperating with the Strawn committee.

"Both resolutions will be given due consideration," said the mayor.

Privately Mayor Thompson is said to have asked a friend: "Do you

MYSTERY BLAST DAMAGES THREE S. SIDE STORES

A mysterious explosion followed by fire early this morning caused damage to three stores at 3248-52 West 26th street. The blast also shattered windows in several other nearby storbuildings. The police and fire authorities were unable to determine the cause of the explosion.

The heaviest damage appeared to have occurred in the Army and Navy store at 3250 26th street. The interior of this shop was wrecked. The police were seeking Heinie Weisberg, one of the owners, for questioning. The Blumenthal shoe store on one side of the Weisberg place and a confectionery shop on the other also suffered from the flames that followed the explosion.

John C. Nebransky was sitting in his restaurant across the street at No. 3239 when the blast occurred. He heard the blast, he said, and then saw a sheet of flame leap up from the front of the three stores.

Three business establishments on the same side of the street as Nebransky's restaurant and directly across from the buildings where the explosion occurred were damaged by the concussion. These are Kapson's clothing store, Patrik's photographic studio, and the B. Minar realty office.

BRITON SEES U. S. TALKIE PERIL TO BRITISH SPEECH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The specter of American dominance in two fields of industry poked up its head in the house of commons today.

Sir Alfred Knox asked William Graham, president of the board of trade, if the import of American talkies could not be limited in order to "protect the language and ideas of the people of this country." The question resulted in a light interchange of quips about the American language and English undefiled.

Later Mr. Graham was asked if he was aware that an American combine, "Copper Exporters, Incorporated" was controlling export prices and selling copper to British manufacturers at a high price which effectively prevents them from competing with American manufacturers. Mr. Graham said the American copper restriction compared to the British rubber monopoly, about which the United States had complained, and indicated that the matter will be pressed later.

Taft Doctors Hold Little Hope for Him

BULLETIN.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—(AP)—After a brief visit to the bedside of William Howard Taft late tonight Dr. Thomas A. Claytor, one of his physicians, said the former chief justice was "sleeping quietly."

Among the callers at the Taft home tonight was Oliver Wendell Holmes, 89 year old associate justice of the Supreme court.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—William Howard Taft, whose resignation as chief justice of the Supreme court of the United States was accepted yesterday by President Hoover, is gravely ill and his recovery is doubtful, his physicians made known today following his return from Asheville, N. C.

Mr. Taft was practically helpless as he was taken from a train to his home this morning.

A bulletin issued this afternoon by Drs. Thomas A. Claytor and Francis R. Hagner following an hour's examination of the patient was as follows:

"For some years Chief Justice Taft has had a very high blood pressure, associated with general arteriosclerosis and myocarditis. Together with these conditions he has had a chronic cystitis. He has no fever and suffers no pain."

A later bulletin issued tonight said Mr. Taft's condition was "possibly a little better" than this morning.

Carried from Train.

In spite of this encouragement, close friends of the family said they had abandoned hope of Mr. Taft's surviving. His blood circulation was giving his physician great concern.

When Mr. Taft arrived early this morning, he appeared broken and worn and somewhat dazed. There was little trace of his usual sunny smile. He was assisted from his stateroom by attendants and lifted into a wheel chair, which was lowered from the car to the station platform. The chair was rolled across the concourse of the Union station to the automobile of Justice Sutherland. Mr. Taft was assisted from the chair into the automobile. Mrs. Taft was seated beside her husband while Dr. Hagner and a trained nurse rode in a separate car. Upon arrival at his home Mr. Taft was helped from the automobile into the house and immediately put to bed.

Hoover "Deeply Pained."

President Hoover's letter to Mr. Taft, accepting his resignation, dated yesterday, was made public today at the White House.

"I was deeply pained at receiving your letter of resignation today," said the President in the letter. "For some time I have been aware of the shock you received to your health and have been fearful lest this event should occur.

"In accepting your resignation, I would like to add my personal appreciation of the long and distinguished service of a great American to his country."

The President's letter was made public on the fortieth anniversary of Mr. Taft's appointment to his first high office, that of solicitor general of the United States.

Young Taft May Move Up.

Suggestions have been made that the President appoint Mr. Taft's son, Robert A. Taft, now district attorney at Cincinnati, as solicitor general, to succeed Charles E. Hughes Jr., who will resign as a matter of propriety, on account of the appointment of his father as chief justice of the Supreme court.

No evidences of any opposition to the confirmation by the senate of the appointment of Charles Evans Hughes Sr., as chief justice, developed today.

The Supreme court is now in recess and will reconvene on Feb. 24. It is thought likely that Mr. Hughes will be prepared to take his seat at that time.

New York, Feb. 4.—[Special.]—A motion was argued today before Surrogate John P. O'Brien for the appointment of a temporary administrator for the estate of Stephen B. Elkins, who died on Oct. 20, last, leaving his fiancée, Evelyn L. Martin, an income of $1,000 a month, the contents of his apartment and half the liquor stored there.

Max D. Steuer, her counsel, accused the executor, former United States Senator Davis Elkins, a brother of the deceased, of making away with the assets and with "stealing" the liquor.

The estate, Mr. Steuer said, was worth more than a million at the time of Stephen B. Elkins' death, but has dwindled to $75,000. There were twenty sacks of fine liquor, Mr. Steuer said, adding that Davis Elkins took all, instead of ten sacks.

"Absurd," Attorney Says.

The charges roused the ire of Alfred L. Marill, attorney for the estate, who declared it was "absurd" to make such statements, and added:

"The man they accuse is a former United States senator, has been president of several trust companies and occupies a position of international honor. His integrity is well known and I resent very much the verbiage of Mr. Steuer."

"Well, I still say that no matter what he was or what position he occupied, he stole that liquor," said Mr. Steuer, "and he seems to think because he is one of the Elkins family of Washington that he can do just about as he pleases."

Of Distinguished Family.

Steuer's remark about the "Elkins family of Washington" referred to the remarkable part the Elkins family has played in politics.

Stephen B. Elkins, the elder, was a Republican United States senator from West Virginia. He was the son-in-law of Henry Gassaway Davis, who was a Democratic senator.

When Senator Elkins died, in 1911, Davis Elkins was appointed senator. He also was reëlected senator in 1918.

Brother-in-law of Ex-Kaiser to Marry Maid

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BONN, Germany, Feb. 4.—Barely released from his marriage to the former kaiser's sister, Princess Victoria of Schaumburg-Lippe, through her tragic death, young Alexander Zoubkoff is jumping to the other end of the love gamut and will marry a barmaid of Cologne.

The marriage, which he announces, will be a return to his first love, so to speak, his original Paris romance having been with a lowly midinette. Germany is heaving a sigh of relief that the proposed new alliance has no possibilities of hurting German pride like the late romance with the Hohenzollern princess.

It is with hush money received from the harassed royal relatives of the late Princess Victoria for her love letters that Zoubkoff intends to start his new matrimonial venture. He received $3,571.

The estate of the late Princess Victoria, who went bankrupt trying to support her capricious young husband, is keeping a dozen lawyers busy trying to settle it. The demands of Bonn artisans and small merchants have been satisfied by 68 per cent paid by imperial relatives of the late Victoria.

The court is withholding the greater share of the proceeds of the auction of her effects, which yielded $71,000, until different branches of the family and the chief creditors reach a compromise as to how to split the money obtained from the auction, which broke the heart of the aged princess.

SIX IN SIX DAYS IS DEATH TOLL OF SHOOTINGS

Pistols Blaze While Authorities Confer.

CRIME

Two more murders yesterday bring gang shootings to eight, six of them fatal in six days.

Swanson appeals to the grand jury to indict gun carrying hoodlums. Four true bills voted.

Two more killings were chalked against gangland last night as State's Attorney Swanson and Police Commissioner Russell concluded their second crime conference in two days and pledged coördination of their forces to stop the shootings.

Gangsters' guns have slain six victims in the last six days. Two others have been wounded in that period, one of whom is dying.

Another startling event in the crime situation of yesterday was the finding of several sticks of dynamite in a Sheridan road hotel. Still another was a statement by William Healy, dying gangster, telling how he was shot early yesterday morning as he left a beer flat at 3740 Lowe avenue operated by Mrs. Bridget McMahon, whose son, "Smiling Jack" O'Brien, was hanged for murder in 1920.

Philip Marchese, a racketeer with a long police record, was shot down at Lexington street and Hoyne avenue within sight of children playing in the Irving school yard at about 3 p. m., the hour Commissioner Russell left the state's attorney's office. No clew in this killing had developed at a late hour last night.

Kill Host at Wine Party.

Joseph Buchere, known to his neighbors as the proprietor of a grocery store at the south edge of the loop, fell with two bullets in his brain in his expensively furnished apartment at 2709 West 71st street, at 9:40 p. m. Three men whom he had welcomed into his home an hour before and to whom he had served wine were heard scuttling down the back stairs a moment after a thud on the floor signalized the end of Buchere.

Mrs. Elizabeth Tadzunas, who runs a grocery store below Buchere's flat, said that at about 8:45 o'clock she heard the buzzer sound in Buchere's apartment and heavy footsteps on the stair. The radio upstairs was playing softly at the time.

Loud Radio Drowns Sounds.

Mrs. Tadzunas believed she distinguished three voices, including Buchere's. These voices grew loud, but some one turned the radio to full volume and she could not distinguish what was said. About an hour after the men were admitted she heard the thud on the floor and the clatter on the back stairs.

When Lieut. Roger Murphy and a squad burst in, Buchere's body was found with two bullet wounds through his right temple. Four half filled glasses were on the table.

From Mrs. Tadzunas and other neighbors the squad learned that the slain man had at various times said he was financially interested in a lunch room at 52 West Harrison street and a grocery at 741 South State street. Among his papers was a notice from the Associated Underwriters, advising him that Chicago Lloyds, an insurance company, "had elected to cancel their policy in accordance with terms and conditions provided therein." The cancellation was effective Jan. 30.

Buchere's Brother Questioned.

Buchere was a Sicilian and 28 years old. His wife, Angeline, who passed through a serious illness before Christmas, has been convalescing in her parents' home at Clinton, Ind., for the last three weeks and was notified of her husband's death there.

Early this morning Lieut. Richard Barry ordered Buchere's bro[illegible] Louis, who is said to have been associated with him in the ope[illegible] the grocery store, taken to [illegible] cago Lawn police station for [illegible] ing. Barry said that Buchere's father resides at 758 South Clark street.

While Buchere's name was a blank at the bureau of identification, investigators checking the record of the earlier victim, Marchese, found a notation showing he had served a year in the House of Correction for attempted abduction of two women and that he had been accused but acquitted by a jury of killing two patrons of a saloon at Harrison and Laflin streets. In the barroom fracas the saloonkeeper had cut Marchese's head with an ax and there was only his word against the defendant's at the trial.

In another shooting escapade Marchese was arrested June 13, 1925, after he had shot one Mike Lombardi during a quarrel in front of a poolroom at 7725 Loomis street, but escaped prosecution. Police were in doubt last night as to his place of abode.

At 1526 West Congress street, his listed address, tenants said they did not know Marchese, and the police were inclined to think he had lived there under an alias. Anthony Marchese, 2628 West Monroe street, was described as the slain man's brother by the police.

One Shooting Solved.

The shooting of William Healy yesterday morning was marked on the police books as "cleared up" during the afternoon when Lieut. Walter Storms of the detective bureau visited the wounded man. A priest had been called for Healy and the attending physicians told Healy there was little chance for him to live. Then the wounded gangster violated the underworld code and "squawked."

"I was in the beer flat of Mrs. McMahon from 3 o'clock in the afternoon till about 1 o'clock this morning," Healy told Lieut. Storms. "I was pretty drunk and I left there with George Campion, Jerry Cotter, and Jack Neville. They walked me around the block and then they led me into an ally. Suddenly and for no reason that I know all three of them started firing at me.

"They separated and shot at me from all directions. I didn't have any quarrel with them. As far as I know they have been my friends."

700 Bottles of Beer.

Lieut. Storms first procured a search warrant for the McMahon home at 3740 Lowe avenue and found there 700 bottles of beer. Mrs. McMahon denied selling beer or knowing anything about the shooting of Healy.

Cotter, who lives at 523 West 36th street, and Campion, who is known as Monk and lives at 3219 South Union avenue, were arrested, but the police did not find Neville, who is business agent for the marble setters union, and lives near the beer flat. Neville has a record of having served eight years in the penitentiary.

After several hours of questioning last night Cotter admitted that he was with Healy when the shooting occurred. He said he saw Neville and Healy turn into an alley, and a few moments later he heard the shots.

At the People's hospital last night surgeons said Healy had no chance for recovery. He resided with his wife and three children at 7609 Normal boulevard.

Dynamite Is Mystery.

The finding of dynamite in the Lake Shore Castle hotel, 640 Sheridan road, gave the police a problem. The sticks were fitted up with percussion caps and fusing and were ready for use.

It was in the bureau drawer of a room not rented since last fall. Wrappings indicated the dynamite had been manufactured or purchased at Ishpeming, Mich. Last August three men rented the room, giving the names of Christ Eckrine, Martin Eckrine, and Joseph Rengeldshy. After they left two women, Mandy Dillon and Kate Hinders, occupied the room. The manager of the hotel said he couldn't account for the dynamite being put there unless it was left behind by the three guests.

Fire Attorney Hogan was investigating the explosion at Kildare avenue and Harrison street which was followed by a fire that damaged a fruit store on the northwest corner. Workmen were busy making repairs when one of them noticed some cloth beneath a pile of débris. On investigating he discovered the body of Vito Russo, who lived at 1240 Congress street with Tony Sacco until last Saturday.

Mr. Hogan ordered the detention of Sam Madonia, owner of the fruit store, on the theory that Madonia had arranged with Russo to cause the explosion and fire. He said he did not believe a bomb was exploded, but he was of the opinion gasoline was used and that the explosion came so quickly that Russo did not have time to escape.

Hogan said he had information Madonia was in the store until a few minutes before the explosion. He had the police take Madonia to the county morgue to look at Russo's body.

"Honest, I never saw him before," Madonia said when shown the body. But in Russo's clothing there was a billhead of Madonia's store and this caused his detention.

Convicted of a Bomb Plot.

The prosecutor's office was heartened by the conviction yesterday afternoon of Nathan Vehon, 58 years old, 5550 Kenmore avenue, president of the Nathan Vehon Manufacturing company at 327 South Market street, of conspiring to have a bomb exploded at the residence of his former partner, Philip Bloom, at 4860 North Hermitage avenue.

David Goldman, formerly employed by Vehon, confessed that he threw the bomb at Bloom's home at the instigation of Vehon. He was convicted last week and is awaiting sentence. Vehon is facing a sentence of 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary.

Prosecutor Swanson set grand jury machinery in motion yesterday against gun toters, a class of felons hitherto permitted to stand trial in Municipal court. As a result indictments were voted against Danny Stanton, Frank Diamond, Tony Accardo and Jack McGurn, hoodlums recently seized while carrying pistols.

Action Follows Conference.

The prosecutor decided on the policy of indictments for gun toters after his conference with Commissioner Russell on Monday. Yesterday he sent Assistant State's Attorney Charles Mueller to the jury room with Detectives William Drury and John Howe, who had arrested Stanton, Diamond, McGurn and Accardo.

Their testimony was sufficient to cause the voting of indictments that carry the possibility of a year's imprisonment upon conviction.

McGurn, who was indicted as one of the participants in the massacre of last Valentine day, and who was arrested with Accardo, both of them armed, a few minutes after Julius Rosenheim, crime investigator, was slain in front of his home last Saturday morning. Their cases were pending in the Municipal court when Swanson decided to cause their indictments.

Samuel Howard Dorr, convicted two weeks ago for the murder of William O'Brien, is one of eight prisoners in solitary confinement for an attempted jail break last week. Warden David Moneypenny yesterday said that Dorr will be kept in solitary confinement until he sifts the details of the plot to break jail by prisoners in the C-1 cell block. Dorr was given a life sentence by the jury and is still in jail waiting disposition of his new trial motion.

The warden said he originally had 17 prisoners in solitary confinement after he had discovered 8 saws in one of the cells and found that a small panel had been cut through one of the cells. The plot was discovered by the guards hearing the prisoners using the saws.

SWANSON WEIGHS YEAR'S WORK AND FINDS IT GOOD

Prosecutor Sends Report to Citizens' Group.

State's Attorney Swanson yesterday sent a report of what he considers the accomplishments of his office during the last year to the officers of the Citizens' Association of Chicago. The report deals with the number of criminals sentenced during his first year in office and tells of the work of his assistants in collection of taxes, fines, fees, and bond forfeitures.

The prosecutor said he believed the prosecution of the slot machine syndicate case, while it failed, had a "beneficial public effect." Organized gambling will not be tolerated by his administration, he asserted.

Although Mr. Swanson said the bombing situation is a difficult problem, he emphasized that last August he obtained the conviction and sentencing of four bombers and that another conviction was obtained within the last month in a business bomb case.

Gambling Curbed, He Says.

"It should be a matter of much public satisfaction that the wide and flagrant use of slot machines and other gambling devices in Cook county has been effectively suppressed during the last year," the report read. "This gambling had become syndicated in the hands of the worst criminal elements in the community. The revenues therefrom ran into many millions of dollars during a single year. The unhindered operation of organized gambling resulted in politically protected crime of all kinds involving bribery and extending to slugging, kidnaping, and even murder.

"It was unfortunate from the standpoint of law enforcement that the so-called slot machine cases against prominent leaders of the ring could not be tried upon the evidence originally obtained.

"I feel, however, that these prosecutions have had a beneficial public effect; I shall not hesitate to prosecute again in such cases where sufficient evidence may be obtained. I want it understood that during the remainder of my term organized gambling with its attendant criminal consequences will not be tolerated.

"Bomb Problem Difficult."

"The use of bombs for terroristic purposes presents a very difficult matter to handle for the reason that most of the victims are unwilling to disclose prior threats and motives on the part of the bombers and other facts and circumstances required for the solution of such crimes."

The prosecutor also mentioned the diploma mill and bucket shop investigations and inquiries on racketeering enterprises and official corruption.

Figures on the work in the Criminal courts submitted by the prosecutor follow:

	1928.	1929.
Sentenced to Joliet	628	1,004
Sentenced to Pontiac	356	536
Sentenced to Bridewell	540	457
Sentenced to County jail	115	103
Probation	515	675
Total Guilty	2,154	2,774
Total not guilty	500	735

Mr. Swanson called attention to the increase in sentences to Pontiac and Joliet from 45.5 per cent in 1928 to 55.5 per cent in 1929. The report did not show how many cases were disposed of by nolle prosequi or other dismissal orders.

ONTARIO TO INCLUDE AMERICANS IN DRIVE AGAINST GUN TOTING

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Persons who go into Canadian territory carrying weapons without proper credentials for possessing them will be arrested and prosecuted, whether they be British subjects or United States officers or citizens, Sidney Oliver, district inspector of the Ontario provincial police, announced today.

Inspector Oliver came to Windsor to open an investigation into the shooting of Arthur La Framboise early Monday. He is acting for the attorney general of Ontario who authorized the step to determine whether or not LaFramboise was shot while in Canadian waters.

LaFramboise, who was wounded twice, charges that he was shot while on the Canadian side by United States inspectors. Immigration service records show he is wanted by American authorities for alien smuggling.

PAROLE OF TWO OPPOSED

State's Attorney Swanson through an assistant prosecutor will oppose the release of any well known criminal by the state parole board, Assistant State's Attorney Henry J. Samuels informed the board yesterday as it gathered at the old penitentiary at Joliet to take up the regular February applications for pardons and paroles.

The assistant prosecutor said he is prepared in cases of well known criminals to back up his protests against an early release with records. In the ordinary run of cases the prosecutor, however, will not attempt to interfere with the routine operation of the parole commissioners.

Fight Release of Connell.

George [Rabbit] Connell, a gunman with a long record, who is now serving a robbery sentence, is one of the cases against which a protest was lodged. Connell in May of 1925 held up a jewelry store at 16 South Dearborn street and obtained $150,000 worth of jewels.

Another case is that of Edward Cummins, convicted of participation in the Parody cafe robbery of December, 1927. He was convicted in February, 1929, and is now asking release on parole.

Oppose School Bomber's Release.

No protest was made in the case of three former La Grange policemen—Emory Drew, Henry Huzenga, and Joseph Duffek—also sentenced for robbery.

DEATH FOR VOGEL URGED AS CURE OF "MURDER A DAY"

"Whim Slayer" Will Be Sentenced Saturday.

The death penalty is the only cure for "a murder a day," Assistant State's Attorneys Harry Ditchburne and Walter Butler insisted to Judge Otto Kerner in the Criminal court yesterday as they ended their efforts to bring August Vogel, 27 years old, to justice for murder. Vogel, called the "whim slayer," killed Lyle Perrenoud, a salesman.

Judge Kerner, who is to impose sentence because Vogel at the last minute decided he would rather take a chance on his life with the judge instead of twelve jurors, announced that he would give his decision Saturday morning.

State Asks Same Penalty.

Prosecutor Butler in his speech told the judge that the state is looking to him to mete out the same punishment that society would expect from a jury. He declared that there is no question what a jury would do if asked to inflict the death penalty under the evidence submitted by the state and defense.

Vogel's only defense in the murder hearing was that he was full of gin and is subject to epileptic fits. In addition to this testimony, offered as mitigation, Judge Kerner has before him a defense speech by Attorney James Burke to the effect that the infliction of the death penalty is a "relic of the past." The attorney suggested that the defense would be satisfied with a 99 year penalty for the murder plus four terms of 1 year to life for each of the robbery crimes committed by the defendant.

Points to Former Term.

Prosecutor Ditchburne, however, argued that such a sentence would not suffice in the present case because Vogel was once before convicted of robbery and even after serving a term in Pontiac reformatory he returned to his profession as a gunman. He was on parole when he killed Perrenoud for no other reason than that the latter's automobile had brushed fenders with a car driven by him.

"No promise of any kind was made to this defendant before he entered his plea of guilty," said Prosecutor Ditchburne. "The only question for your honor to decide is one of punishment. The defendant by his plea admits he is guilty of the murder.

"I want your honor to remember that he represents not an individual but an institution. I want your honor to remember that you represent justice—blind to any plea of prejudice or sympathy.

"It is useless for me to say that when your honor accepted the assignment to the Criminal court you took an oath to enforce the laws in the statute book and it was not necessary to ask if you had any scruples against the death penalty. This is not a matter of revenge with me or with your honor, but of enforcing the laws as they appear in the statutes.

"Only Penalty Slayers Fear."

"A great majority of the gunmen are afraid of that last moment on earth. I do not know that the death penalty is the most severe but it is the most available for murder. The death penalty is the only one this defendant and all potential murderers fear. The state is not asking for vengeance on this defendant, but he has demonstrated that he is of no use to society and should be sacrificed so that others may know that the wages of sin are actually death.

"The enforcement of the death penalty is the only solution to our crime situation of a murder a day."

Embarks on Crime Career.

Vogel embarked on a career of banditry last October after it was believed he had reformed. He committed a series of stickups which culminated on Oct. 15 when he killed Perrenoud in front of 836 East 81st street. After the shooting Vogel and several companions, among them Mrs. Fay Allison, went on to a party in the flat of a colored woman. Mrs. Allison turned state's evidence and probably will be given her liberty as a result.

The defendant fled the city after the crime, but was apprehended in Canton, O. He denied the charge when placed on trial, but after a jury was selected he changed his mind and decided to take a chance on mercy from the judge on a plea of guilty rather than face a jury.

Ex-Bailiff Gets Year in Jail for U. S. Perjury

Charles Bond, 40 years old, 6241 Woodlawn avenue, was sentenced to six months in the county jail and fined $500 by Federal Judge Carpenter yesterday when he pleaded guilty to perjury in helping an alien obtain citizenship papers. Bond, a former deputy bailiff in a Municipal court, swore that he had known the applicant for naturalization for five years, whereas he had known him for only two years.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Sam White and Fred Carter, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge William N. Gemmill.

Sebastian Tinnerello burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory; Harry Roche, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

GOV. KOHLER TO FACE TRIAL OVER ELECTION FUND

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Gov. Walter J. Kohler must stand trial in Circuit court on his right to hold office. The charges involve the claim that his recent campaign violated the corrupt practices act. The act permits the expenditure of $4,000 in a campaign and the La Follette forces charge Kohler permitted $100,000 to be spent.

The state Supreme court today held that the act was constitutional and that a person who permits violation of that act, thereby winning an election, has no valid title to the office.

Just what the future procedure of the governor will be is unknown. It is intimated an appeal may be made to the United States Supreme court.

Pair Strip Cab Driver of Clothes; One Apologizes

Richard Kline, 611 Barry avenue, driver of a Yellow cab, picked up two fares in front of 22 East Ontario street last night. They ordered him to drive to 2735 North Racine avenue. There they ordered him to back his cab into a nearby alley, where they stripped him to his underwear and took $11. After he pleaded they returned his trousers, and one of them remarked: "Tell the lieutenant at the Sheffield avenue police station that Denney said times are tough and he's sorry he had to pick on a cab driver."

WOUNDED IN FIGHT OVER DEBT.

James Durham, 35 year old Negro, of 4937 Indiana avenue, was slightly wounded in the thigh in a fight that ensued after he attacked another Negro, William Ladd, who owed him $12 at Armitage and Elston avenues yesterday. Ladd escaped.

ARLISKAS WINS DIVORCE; WIFE SCORED BY JUDGE

Declaring that she was "absolutely devoid of any realization of a married woman's obligations," Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday denied Mrs. Patra Arliskas' suit for separate maintenance and granted a divorce to her husband, Frank Arliskas, wealthy south side automobile dealer.

The divorce was granted on the grounds of Mrs. Arliskas' conduct with Lawrence Gaffney, six day bicycle rider. Judge Feinberg ruled that there was no evidence to sustain Arliskas' amended crossbill in which he charged his wife had committed adultery with one John Doe, later naming in court her attorney, Patrick J. Allman, as the John Doe.

"The evidence of the husband and his detectives, even if true, would not even approach adultery," Judge Feinberg ruled. "The most that could be said if the evidence were true would be that counsel was highly indiscreet in his relations with his client."

Wife Loses Two Pleas.

Mrs. Arliskas not only lost her plea for separate maintenance, but also was denied the share she claimed in her husband's real estate.

"A woman has to pay the penalty who admits the things she did," Judge Feinberg said.

Louis F. Davis, Mrs. Arliskas' counsel, announced he would appeal. He entered the case in the morning session when Allman withdrew to take the stand in his own defense.

Judge Feinberg pointed out that when Arliskas forgave his wife following her cross-country trip with the cycle rider, and her subsequent sojourn with him in a Los Angeles hotel, that her course of conduct thereafter was not irreproachable.

Two weeks later, he said, Gaffney performed in a bicycle race in the Coliseum and she defied her husband's demand that she stay away, and visited the Coliseum "to feast her eyes upon this Gaffney." That led Arliska to abandon her last April.

Attacks Woman's Conduct.

"There was not a hesitant note in her voice or even a disposition to relent because of her confessed acts of adultery," Judge Feinberg declared. "She knew Gaffney was married, undivorced, and the father of a child, and there was no excuse, legal or moral, for her conduct. Her pretense that a lack of attention and devotion on the part of her husband justified her conduct does not merit consideration in a court of equity.

"She appears here in a coat which she admits her husband paid a thousand dollars for. The evidence shows she had the use of a car and that he was generous with money."

Mrs. Arliskas, dressed in a jade green dress and hat of the same shade, a mink coat and dark green pumps, occupied the witness stand when court convened yesterday. She was cross-examined by John P. Barnes, and testified to parties she and Allman had had in chop suey parlors. Allman objected to being put in the parties without his wife. The witness then said that Mrs. Allman always went along.

Allman, watched by his wife, who sat next to the railing in the courtroom, testified that he had never kissed Mrs. Arliskas nor indulged in petting parties with her.

COURT CUTS DANCER'S CLAIM BY $150,000

DOLORES SALAZAR.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 4.—[Special.] Attorneys for Ferdinand Pinney Earle of "Affinity" fame, today secured the overruling of two of Dolores Salazar's civil suit counts against the artist. As a result of Superior Judge Harry Archbald's ruling in their favor, the Mexican dancer's $180,000 damage suit dwindled to $30,000 before any jurors were chosen.

Miss Salazar charges Earle with betraying her under promise of marriage and with promising her $15,000 as proof of his marital good faith and pledging another $15,000 for her support and education. The latter two counts were all that Judge Archbald allowed to go to trial.

Miss Salazar's attorneys have tied up $30,000 worth of Earle's Hollywood property.

CHARGE FOREMAN TOOK WAGES OF 16 PAY ROLL 'MYTHS'

Otto Rizzo, 38 years old, for 15 years the trusted foreman for A. B. Shubert, Inc., wholesale furriers at 25 West Austin avenue, was arrested yesterday, charged with stealing $35,000 from his employers.

In a statement to Detectives Edward Walsh and Henry Dorf of the Chicago avenue district, Rizzo is said to have admitted he carried on the pay roll his wife, brother-in-law and three nephews, who did no work, and 11 mythical persons, whose pay checks he appropriated to himself.

Furs had been disappearing from the stock for months. The detectives trailed Rizzo on Sunday from the Shubert factory to the office of the Canadian-American Fur company, 215 South Market street, where, they say, he delivered pelts worth $600. His customer, Max Moskowitz, was arrested on a charge of receiving stolen property.

Gunmen Bind Two Men, Woman, in Victim's Home

When Burt Beatty, proprietor of the Kedzie bowling alley, 3204 Armitage avenue, returned to his home at 3132 Clybourn avenue at 2:30 a. m. yesterday, two gunmen leaped from under the porch, forced him into the house and bound him to a chair. Seeing the light within, William Gross and his wife, Margaret, friends of Beatty living at 2611 Jones street, stepped into the Beatty home and were also bound. The robbers took $85 from Beatty and $24 from Gross and escaped.

Submarine Runs Aground in Storm; Tug Frees It

Portsmouth, N. H., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The submarine O-3, bound from New London, Conn., to Portsmouth, ran aground tonight in a heavy snowstorm a few miles south of Portsmouth harbor. She was aground five hours before the navy tug M. Mitchell Davis got her off shortly after 11 p. m. and towed it to the navy yard here.

TRIO ROB HABERDASHERY.

Mrs. Otto Gray of Gary Severely Burned in Blast

Mrs. Otto V. Gray, wife of the president of the Gary city council, was in a serious condition last night at Mercy hospital, Gary, as a result of burns received when a can of naphtha exploded in her home yesterday. Mrs. Joseph Petruch, a maid, escaped serious injury. Assistant Fire Chief Thomas Clune and Fire Captain Joseph Shirk were cut by flying glass in fighting the fire which followed the explosion.

MAN HIT BY STREET CAR DIES.

Charles Schmidt, 40 years old, 1114 West Lake street, died last night at the county hospital of injuries he incurred when he was struck by a street car at Lake and May streets.

FIND AUTO TAKEN BY LOOTERS OF MALLERS HOME

Clews to Holdup on North Shore Are Slim.

Recovery of the car, which was found by Police Sergt. Michael O'Donnell at 5:30 p. m., reduced Mr. Mallers' loss from $14,410 to $9,100, the difference representing the value of the machine, which was undamaged. Experts at the detective bureau found a few blurred finger prints on the car and a rubber heel from a man's shoe, clews which they admitted, were of little worth.

North Shore Uneasy.

A feeling of insecurity was discernible in the north shore towns last night as residents reflected on the ease with which the robbers gained entrance to the Mallers home, locked Mr. and Mrs. Mallers, their two children and four servants in a closet, prowled through the dwelling from top to bottom, and feasted on the contents of the ice box before driving away at 4:30 a. m.

The leader of the bandits posed as a physician calling to attend the daughter of the family. Once in the vestibule, he beckoned two accomplices from the shrubbery and all drew guns. The maid, the children's nurse, the cook, and the butler were led upstairs and with the children were locked in the closet. Mr. Mallers and his wife reached home at 2 a. m. and were locked up with the others.

Captives Force Door.

An hour elapsed after the robbers escaped before Mr. Mallers and the butler forced the closet door. The loot, as itemized by Mr. Mallers, consisted of a man's reccoon coat, $800; fifteen suits of clothing, $1,000; two dozen shirts, $100; one squirrel coat, $500; one caracul coat, $500; one diamond-sapphire watch, $2,000; one platinum ring, $250; one ruby and one emerald ring, $250 each; one set of diamond links and studs, $350; one cigaret lighter with a watch inset, $110, and silver table ware, $3,000.

Coping with house robbers as skilled and deliberate as those in the Mallers robbery is almost impossible, in the opinion of Chief W. M. Peterson of the Winnetka and Chief Henry Brautigam of Wilmette, villages ajoining Kenilworth. The two chiefs drew up a list of suggestions to the public, the tenor of which was that servants should exercise extreme caution in admitting callers.

CHAMP CARRY TO RECEIVE D. S. C. AS HERO TODAY

Champ Carry, a vice president of the Pullman company and well known figure in Chicago society, will be decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross today for conspicuous bravery in action as a member of the American expeditionary forces near Fismes, France, on Aug. 11, 1918. Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding the 6th corps area, will pin the decoration upon Lieut. Carry at the general's headquarters at 1819 Pershing road at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Lieut. Carry was attached to the 18th field artillery of the 3d division. The citation for which the decoration was bestowed says: "Lieut. Carry, assisted by another officer, carried a wounded man under fire to a place of comparative safety, from where the soldier was evacuated to the rear. The utter disregard for his own safety displayed by Lieut. Carry was an inspiration to the entire command."

Lieut. Carry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Carry, 1317 East 50th street.

BRIGHT LIGHTS, BAD CHECKS JAIL MINISTER'S SON

Three weeks of whoopee making in the big city terminated last night for Harold L. Buckley, 22 years old, who says he is the son of the Rev. Jesse Buckley, Methodist minister of Whitehouse, O., when he was arrested and locked up at the detective bureau on a charge of passing worthless checks.

Buckley was arrested after he had passed a check for $91 in a loop clothing store. He told police he came here three weeks ago to make the rounds of night clubs. To keep himself in funds, he said, he procured blank checks on a New York bank, opened an account at the National Bank of the Republic, and wrote a check for $700 on the New York bank, and deposited it to his account. Then he wrote checks against this account to pay his cabaret bills.

SPEED UP WORK! BRITISH DEMAND TO NAVAL PARLEY

MacDonald Says He Must Show Country Results.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The naval conference got down to hard pan today when the first committee, made up of all the delegates, met at St. James's palace to discuss the French and British proposals for a compromise between the French thesis of naval limitation by global tonnage and the British contention for limitation by categories of ships. But if any real progress was made it was not disclosed to the world.

The various spokesmen were unanimous in declaring that everything went satisfactorily, but no particulars were given. None of the chief delegates of the five powers were present when the first committee met. Hugh S. Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium, who on the alphabetical roster should have presided, yielded the chair to A. V. Alexander, British first lord of the admiralty.

Consider French Plan First.

The discussion, on the suggestion of Count Rene Massigli, French expert, was confined to the French proposal on the ground that they had better dispose of it before taking up the British modification.

It is learned that there was one incident between Mr. Gibson and the Italian delegates. Mr. Gibson in the course of the discussion assumed that the Italians accepted the French thesis. Admiral Sirianni interrupted, explaining with some heat that they had done nothing of the sort, but had only agreed to accept it as a basis for discussion.

The various powers all made reservations and amendments, which were put forward verbally, and most of them were left for private discussion at smaller meetings.

MacDonald Demands Action.

Immediately after the experts' meeting the "big five" assembled at St. James's palace and there Prime Minister MacDonald surprised the delegates by demanding to know if sufficient progress had been made to hold another plenary session and call in the press. He is said to have explained that the domestic British situation made it necessary for him to have something to show the British people. This was in reference to the fight between the Labor party and the house of lords, which may come to a head at any time. If Mr. MacDonald has to ask a dissolution of parliament and go before the country in a new election with "Down with the Lords" as his slogan, he wants to reinforce his campaign with assurances of the success of his conference.

At the end of the "big five" meeting it was announced that the conversations between the delegates on specific subjects were giving good results and must be continued. It was decided to hold another meeting of the "big five" tomorrow at 6 p. m. It is expected that they will then be able to call together either the first committee or a plenary session of the conference.

Japanese and Americans Meet.

Reijiro Wakatsuki, Tsuneo Matsudaira, and Admiral Takarabe of Japan this afternoon conferred for more than two hours with American Secretary of State Stimson, Senator Reed, and Ambassador Morrow, but nothing was revealed except that they discussed "subjects of mutual interest."

It is reported tonight that the Italians, who are still holding out against limitation by categories, may be pacified if some formula is found enabling them to make important transfers from class to class. A ten per cent transfer, they point out, is of no good to a nation which may have only two or three big ships in a class. They want 100 per cent, or at least 50 per cent, right of transfer.

Rotary Backs British.

The International Rotary club took a hand in the conference today in the shape of a cable from Chesley R. Perry of Chicago, secretary and manager of the club, telling Mr. MacDonald the Rotary club was behind him in his efforts to secure peace and disarmament.

A slight sensation was caused today by an attack on Premier Tardieu of France in the Daily Herald, which is considered the official organ of the Labor government. This was discounted, however, by the fact that the article was signed by the diplomatic correspondent, who is noted for his personal independence, and it is not regarded in well informed circles as in any sense inspired by Mr. MacDonald.

Another slight sensation was caused by a story cabled back from the United States saying an agreement had been reached for the immediate scrapping of a number of battleships. This was promptly denied by all delegates.

PAROLE SESSION WITNESS KILLED AS AUTO UPSETS

Mrs. Hattie Hanneman, 33 years old, 1450 North Leavitt street, was injured fatally yesterday when the automobile in which she was en route to appear as a witness before the parole board at Joliet, skidded off the road and overturned on route 4, ten miles north of that city. The car was driven by Leo Brady, 2138 Cortez street, who had also been summoned as a witness.

MRS. HATTIE HANNEMAN.

Both were to testify on the plea of Edward Schlebowski for parole. Schlebowski, in prison eight years, was convicted of holding up Mrs. Hanneman and Brady. They were called in conformity with the board's routine.

Mrs. Hanneman, who is survived by two small children, died in a farmhouse near the scene of the accident. Brady was slightly injured. He was exonerated by a coroner's jury, which attributed the accident to the icy pavement.

One death yesterday raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 65. The victim:

Joseph Ciesielski, 42 years old, 2142 North Latrobe avenue. Died in the county hospital of injuries received Monday when he was brushed against a telephone pole while riding on the side on an automobile truck at 1614 South Homan avenue. He was a helper on the truck, which carried ashes.

Within a half hour after A. C. Stewart, 42 years old, 5035 North Western avenue, had secured a license in Kenosha, Wis., to marry Velma Armour, 36 years old, a nurse at the Evangelical hospital of Chicago, both were injured when their automobile skidded into a telephone pole north of that city. They were given medical aid at Racine and returned to Chicago by train.

HOOVER SEEKS 5 MEN TO STUDY HAITIAN PROBLEM

Congress Votes $50,000 to Pay Commission.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—President Hoover today began the selection of a commission of from five to seven members to study the question of this country's future policy in Haiti. This body, the President announced, will be charged with the responsibility of recommending when and how the United States is to withdraw its military forces from the Negro republic. It will also recommend the policy which this country should follow during the years that will elapse before American occupation ends. Congress has voted $50,000 to pay the expenses of the inquiry.

The treaty under which the United States entered Haiti to restore order and set up a stable, efficient government that would endure after American marines had been withdrawn will expire, in so far as military occupation is concerned, in 1936. One of the duties of the commission will be to determine whether this country can fulfill its obligations to Haiti by that date.

Indications are that the President does not expect it will be possible for this country to leave Haiti to its own devices for several years after the 1936 treaty expires, although he said today that the United States certainly will retire some time.

Mother of 14 Asks Divorce on 10 Year Cruelty Charge

Mrs. Bessie Dickson of Waukegan, married 26 years and the mother of 14 children, filed suit for divorce yesterday in Lake county Circuit court, charging her husband, Omar, with extreme cruelty over a period of ten years.

REVEAL JOKER IN BRITISH PLAN ON SIZE OF CRUISERS

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The British counterplan to the so-called French transactional proposal was revealed this evening as a farsighted scheme by the British admiralty to preserve the famous four Hawkins type of cruisers of equivocal renown. These cruisers are so designed as to be just under 10,000 tons [they are 9,750 tons], and instead of having eight inch guns they have seven and a half inch guns.

American naval experts have maintained that these four Hawkins cruisers are practically equal to the Washington treaty 10,000 ton type and that their possession by Great Britain gives her a big edge in any numerical fixation of big cruiser strength on the 10,000 ton basis.

Classed, as the French plan provides, as big cruisers, they would be doomed to an early death. But as small cruisers, as the British counterplan provides, they are good for another ten years, since the oldest of the four was laid down in 1919 and the most recent in 1922.

This point, however, has not escaped American Ambassador Hugh Gibson's eye.

ART INSTITUTE ENJOINED FROM PARK EXTENSION

$5,000,000 Project Goes to Supreme Court.

The right of the Art Institute to build a $5,000,000 addition, one of the many lawsuits in the 40 year old legal war to keep Grant Park clear of buildings, will be decided by the Supreme court. This was determined yesterday when Circuit Judge William V. Brothers, for the purpose of setting up a test case, enjoined the Art institute from building separate buildings on the Grant park site.

The injunction was sought by the Stevens hotel on the contention that as an owner of property abutting Michigan avenue on Grant Park, it has right to insist that the land east of the boulevard be preserved for park purposes only. The light, air and unobstructed view on the lake were included in the purchase price of its land when it was bought Jan. 17, 1925, by James W. Stevens, according to Attorney George P. Merrick.

Cites Decision of 1896.

He cited a decision of the Supreme court of Sept. 14, 1896, in a suit brought by the city of Chicago, which barred the Illinois Central railroad from erecting a building in the area, although it owned tracks on the site. On Feb. 3, 1902, the state was enjoined in a bill brought by A. Montgomery Ward from putting an armory in the park, and, again on Feb. 23, 1907, Ward won a similar battle to prevent construction of the Field Museum of Natural History in the park area.

The city council granted the institute permission to build on a 400 foot frontage on March 30, 1891. On Jan. 18, 1918, the south park board granted a permit to allow the institute to extend its building 800 feet. The original area of 120,000 square feet is worth $16,000,000, and the new allowance would bring the area to approximately 400,000 square feet, or a value of $40,000,000. Attorney Merrick contends that the grant is illegal.

Institute Claims Rights.

Attorney Percy B. Eckhart, representing the institute, contended that the proposed structure is an addition and that the institute is entitled to make additions for the purposes for which it was created. He pointed out that the original building was erected with full consent of Michigan avenue property owners. He was supported by Attorney William Rothmann, representing the park board, named as a co-defendant.

Judge Brothers avoided the question whether or not the proposed structure is a separate building. He declared that the institute may build additions on its original grant and might possibly increase its height, although this alternative is not feasible. The question of extension is for decision of the Supreme court he said in granting the injunction.

SEEKS SEAT

[Copyright: Moffett Photo.]

Mrs. Mollie L. Baruch, a familiar figure in the office of the board of assessors, has entered the Republican contest for nomination for state representative from the Sixth or north shore district. The district now is represented by two Republican men, Ralph E. Church and Emil A. W. Johnson. Mrs. Baruch has been employed in the office of the assessors for twelve years, a large part of that time at the personal property window. She lives at 1243 Arthur avenue. She is the fourth Cook county woman to go out for a seat in the legislature.

RAP DRUG BILLS AS NEW INVASION OF STATE RIGHTS

Protest against the passage by congress of the Porter bills, which would make necessary licenses from the commissioner of prohibition for the lawful use of narcotics in the practice of medicine, is voiced editorially in this week's issue of the Journal of the American Medical association. The bills, the editorial contends, would place powers too broad in the hands of the federal prohibition commissioner.

"The legislation proposed is in complete harmony with the prevailing tendency to substitute a powerful bureaucracy in Washington for the authority of the states," says the editorial. "If the Porter bills become law, a physician, dentist, veterinarian, or pharmacist authorized by a state to practice his profession cannot use narcotics in connection with his work until a Washington bureau chief, under rules and regulations of his own making, says that he may. Autocrats of such a type have no place in the scheme of American government."

Professional men who would be affected by the passage of the bills were asked to protest against their passage.

Aldermen Will Prepare Protest to U. S.

Chicago's official protests against the war department ruling refusing the city the right to legislate against the open bridge nuisance will be framed this morning at a special meeting of the bridge subcommittee of the council, Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], chairman, called the meeting last week upon receipt of the ruling of Secretary of War Hurley, who held with his subordinates in denying an extension of the closed bridge hours for loop spans.

Late yesterday Ald. Rowan was arranging an impressive list of figures which he believes will show conclusively that vehicular and pedestrian traffic reaches a peak during morning and afternoon periods when the present ordinance allows the bridges to open. Maj. H. J. Wild, resident government engineer, vetoed the amended bridge ordinance which would have extended the closed hours to include uninterrupted passage for this heavy traffic and his chiefs in the war department approved the action.

Would Call on Congressmen.

Several courses of protest will be proposed at the meeting this morning. The one which appeared certain of most consideration involves asking cooperation from Chicago representatives in congress to assist the city council in requesting a rehearing and presenting the city's side of the controversy to the war department and to Secretary of Commerce Lamont.

Secretary Lamont a Chicagoan, succeeded President Hoover as head of the department of commerce and is considered in thorough accord with the steps the President took in advancing traffic interests. As secretary, President Hoover started the most important movement planned to improve street conditions, the national conference on street and highway safety. Ald. Rowan believes that Mr. Lamont would be interested in a workable plan designed to protect the interests of pedestrians and business traffic.

Ald. Rowan was also considering asking council approval of a committee trip to Washington and there joining with Chicago congressmen in a series of interviews with army engineers, Secretary Hurley, and Secretary Lamont.

To Study Sorenson Report.

City Traffic Engineer Sorenson turned over to Mr. Rowan a lengthy report, which will be studied by the subcommittee this morning. The report shows, Sorenson said, that the peak in river movements, during the busy spring, summer, and fall months, is reached between 9:30 and 10 a. m., when about 160 craft open the bridges.

This is during the closed period, but it was so fixed by the navigation interests to conform with the existing ordinance. The peak load could be moved up thirty minutes or even one hour, both Sorenson and Rowan believe, without seriously discommoding the boat operators.

Mr. Sorenson will be at the subcommittee meeting this morning to explain the figures to the aldermen.

PROSECUTOR TO OPEN NEW INVESTIGATION OF CANAL CONTRACTS

The renewed investigation by the state's attorney's office into the year old Sanitary district cases is to be started immediately, First Assistant State Attorney Northup said yesterday as he obtained permission from Prosecutor Swanson to devote his entire time to this task. The original indictments were brought under Attorney Frank J. Loesch as special prosecutor and were taken over by the regular Swanson staff. No effort has been made to try the indictments.

Northup said that his first task will be to obtain the books of the U. S. A. company, an electrical concern which did considerable work for the district. A conference will be held today with Attorney George K. Bowden of that company, Northup said, to see if arrangements can be made for the books of the company to be turned over to the prosecutor's office without a duces tecum subpoena. The books are now in possession of the federal authorities.

The new investigation will have to do with contracts, Northup said, and he hopes to develop evidence of bills being overpaid and division of profits.

NEW ILLINOIS U. PRESIDENT NOT YET DECIDED ON

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 4.—(AP)—George Barr of Joliet, chairman of a committee of the board of trustees of the University of Illinois, tonight denied the board would pick a successor to President David E. Kinley at the regular meeting tomorrow. He said the committee had not yet reached a decision.

Mr. Barr said that President Harry W. Chase of the University of North Carolina would be at the board meeting tomorrow to confer with the trustees, as other prominent educators have done among the more than twenty considered for the position.

Among those who have attended committee meetings or sat with the trustees are President R. D. Hetzel, Kansas State college; Dean Rogers, University of Colorado; Prof. B. M. Woods, University of California; and President Lotus B. Coffman of the University of Minnesota, Barr said.

When the group first started its work of naming a successor to President Kinley it was planned to announce the appointment in October of 1929, but the task had proven more difficult than anticipated.

CHIEF WITNESS GONE, BUT COP'S TRIAL GOES ON

Despite the disappearance of the chief witness Assistant State's Attorneys John L. Murphy and John Hampden are proceeding with the presentation of evidence against Michael De Laurentis, suspended policeman, and three alleged racketeers. The prosecutors said yesterday they hoped to prove extortion even though Gene Masintier, the principal witness, had disappeared.

De Laurentis, who formerly was at the Des Plaines street station, and Thomas Cook, Harold Ardner, and Edward Otic are charged with having demanded money from Masintier because he was operating a beer flat. The men were trapped by Chief Investigator Pat Roche and his policemen.

Judge Philip Finnegan continued the case several times to give the police an opportunity to find Masintier, but it was discovered that he had disappeared several months ago after telling his landlady that he had completed an $1,800 deal. Detective Arthur Wentzel yesterday produced a marked $100 bill which De Laurentis is alleged to have taken from Masintier.

SAME FOOD, THE SAME DRESS, AND THE SAME BEDS, NEW RED CREED

MOSCOW, Feb. 4.—With an eye to establishing complete equality among its citizenry and of hastening the dawn of pure communism, the soviet government is considering adoption of standardized low priced dresses and shoes for the masses, as well as a uniform type of houses, furniture, beds and even standard forms of food.

Under this system all members of Russian society will be reduced to a common level and there will be no ground for any one to complain that his neighbor is better clothed, housed or fed than himself.

Under the system there obviously will be no place for women who seek style and distinction in their clothes. Already there is a movement afoot to abolish feminine dress goods by the yard and to substitute simple standardized costumes for women.

FLORENCE DRUMMOND

Finds REM brings quick cough relief

The Drummond family of 1322 Watson Ave., St. Paul, Minn., enjoy good health at most times, but coughs do come their way occasionally. Mrs. Drummond, one time, was suffering from a bad cough when a kindly neighbor recommended REM. To Mrs. Drummond's delight, "REM relieved me almost at once and I've had a good word for it ever since." Later on when little Florence got a cough, what more natural than that her mother should remember her own happy experience with REM. And once again REM "made good" in the Drummond family. So it goes. When one member of a family once tries REM, it usually isn't long before it's the regular cough medicine for the whole household. Try it for yourself!

want me to cooperate with that batch of phoney reformers?"

It was Clark's plan to meet yesterday with the controller and corporation counsel. Ettelson, however, is at Green Bay, Wis., supervising the redecoration of his summer home. Controller Schmidt conferred with Mayor Thompson for half an hour during the council meeting and then went home. It was rumored that the mayor desires to talk with Corporation Counsel Ettelson before permitting Schmidt to indicate the exact attitude which the mayor will assume.

Mayor Thompson is said to desire to avoid any blame for not paying salaries to city employés and at the same time does not want to cooperate with Strawn. So Ettelson is to be relied upon to phrase the mayor's position.

Caldwell Meets Bankers.

Mr. Caldwell's meeting with the neighborhood bankers was described as "a frost" by one of the bankers after the conference. Caldwell asked them to extend credit to teachers and other school employés. The bankers wanted to know how much money was desired. Caldwell said he did not know.

The bankers asked how much Mr. Caldwell proposed to raise from the loop banks. Caldwell was uncertain, but he offered the bankers certificates "in any form they desired." One banker asked the due dates on the proposed certificates. Caldwell did not know when they would be paid. Another banker wanted to know what credit other local governments would want, but Caldwell did not know.

"Is it positive that the loop banks have refused to cooperate?" asked one banker.

"Yes" replied Caldwell.

He Asks in Vain for a Plan.

"Has any one here a plan?" asked Caldwell. There was no reply.

"Is it possible to make loans on certificates of indebtedness?" he next asked. There was no answer.

"Has any one any suggestion?" asked Caldwell. Still no answer.

Later, however, one banker suggested that it might be well to appoint a committee to ascertain the situation and perhaps formulate a plan. Still later another banker suggested that Mr. Caldwell confer with the Chicago and Cook County Bankers' association, which last Saturday recommended that its members refuse to cash tax warrants issued to public employés in lieu of cash, or to accept them on loans. This banker also suggested that Mr. Caldwell "get in touch" with the Chicago and Illinois Bankers' association.

It is said that Mr. Caldwell sent out 288 invitations to his conference and received 111 acceptances. Actually there were 46 bankers present, but several of them were representatives of loop banks who have interests in outlying banks.

Failing to get any promise from the bankers, Caldwell then resorted to a different system. He told them that the city council was considering a referendum on the law which would permit governmental depositories to be outside of Chicago. Corporation Counsel Ettelson presented that proposal to the council, but it was sent to the finance committee.

That did not appear to make much impression on the neighborhood bankers, so Mr. Caldwell told them that school employés and teachers had suggested that the board sell tax warrants to the parents of school children "in order to keep the schools open." That fell on deaf ears.

Launches Attack on Strawn.

During the meeting Caldwell launched into his attack on Strawn. He traced his feeling against Mr. Strawn back to 1928. He said that a committee investigated the schools for ten months and made no suggestions for curtailing expenses. Then at the last session of the legislature, when the school board obtained a big boost in its tax rate, he charged that Mr. Strawn remarked one day, "It might be a good thing if the schools were closed."

"I have made that charge several times and it has never been denied," went on Caldwell. "Last September I arranged with outside banks for a loan of $54,000,000. Pressure was then put on the bank selected for a depository and the deal had to fall through. That was a bank boycott. I have an agent in New York now negotiating for a loan and I believe that we will get satisfactory results finally. I refuse to disclose his name or the banks we are dealing with because of possible interference."

Predicts School Closing Again.

"We closed the year 1928 with a deficit of $8,000,000 and our 1930 budget will run behind $7,100,000. This will necessitate the closing of the schools on Nov. 15 unless we get unexpected relief.

"I was called over before the Strawn committee just before Christmas and told that if I would call off my bloodhounds I could get financial relief. The conditions were that there should be no clearing house loan, that I discontinue my attacks on the loop valuations, and that the committee should say how the money they procured should be spent.

"The Strawn committee has two motives: First, they want to embarrass the city administration and eventually get the city manager plan adopted. Second, they want to see that a reduction in loop property values is carried out.

No Word from the East.

Mr. Caldwell's fiscal agent has been in the east more than a week, with no announced results so far. In striking contrast is the success of Evanston in getting New York money. Charles N. Stevens, Evanston banker, obtained a loan of $925,000 for the Evanston schools. Word was received last night from Wirt Wright, another Evanston banker, that he had sold $600,000 of Evanston city tax warrants.

County Recorder Clayton Smith obtained an offer of $75,000 yesterday from the Chicago Title and Trust company to pay a month's salary to employés in the recorder's office without interest charges.

Women Back Strawn Plan.

The Woman's City club yesterday sent a letter to all its ward organizations commending the Strawn committee and criticizing Mayor Thompson and Mr. Caldwell. The women assert that the mayor and Caldwell are "befogging the minds of the public with misleading statements."

The state tax commission met in the office of Chairman Malone and completed its survey of the tax situation in all Illinois counties but Cook county.

W. R. DAWES GIVES VIEWS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—[Special.] — William R. Dawes, Chicago banker and head of the 1933 World's fair committee of Chicago, who is in Washington on a waterway mission, tonight gave out a statement concerning the financial situation in Cook county. The statement urges bankers and merchants of Cook county to honor tax anticipation warrants if the county government should issue them to its employés in lieu of their salaries, which have been overdue for several weeks.

"In discussing the temporary financial embarrassment of Cook county, it is well to keep certain things clearly in mind," Mr. Dawes said. "The county has adopted a budget within its expected revenues. The county has an unused borrowing power, ample to protect its proposed issue of 1930 tax warrants.

"The county has offered a reasonable amount of these tax warrants for sale for cash, but for some reason, to my mind not justified by its present ample resources or by the long record of integrity surrounding the obligations of the county, has been unable to consummate a bulk sale.

His Recommendation to Banks.

"As a result of this extraordinary situation the county as a last resort is prepared to issue and deliver to its employés tax anticipation warrants in such denominations and amounts as will discharge their individual accounts. If this is done every assistance should be given to the employés in the disposal of their warrants at their full face value.

"More than that, any bank or business concern within the confines of Cook county having available funds or the ability to secure them and refusing to negotiate a warrant issued to a distressed employé of a county institution under the present pressing emergency would merit and would probably receive the censure of the community."

"It is also unfair and unjust to crucify the county for the delinquencies of others."

For COLDS
We all catch colds, and they certainly make us miserable; but yours needn't last long if you do this: Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin as soon as possible after cold starts. Stay in the house if you can—keep warm. Repeat with another tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin every three or four hours, if symptoms of cold persist. Take a good laxative when you go to bed and keep the bowels open. If throat is sore, dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glassful of water and gargle. This soothes the inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. ILLINOIS PAYS LARGER SHARE OF U. S. TAXES

Ranks 2d in Payments on Incomes for 1929.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Illinois has been contributing a steadily increasing share of federal taxes, regardless of any breakdown in the local taxing machinery in Chicago and Cook county.

Figures for the calendar year 1929 by states, as made public today by the bureau of internal revenue, show that Illinois ranked second among the states in income tax payments, displacing Pennsylvania, which was in second place in 1928.

Illinois was in seventh place in miscellaneous tax totals instead of eighth as in 1928. Its total tax contributions, including both income and miscellaneous taxes, ranked third among the states, instead of fourth, as in 1928.

Five States Pay 15 Per Cent of Total.

Income taxes paid by Illinoisans represented about 9½ per cent of those collected throughout the United States. Total income and miscellaneous taxes paid in Illinois amounted to 11 per cent of all federal taxes, a slightly larger percentage than in 1928, when this state contributed 8.1 per cent of the total.

The five central states of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Iowa, contributed about 15 per cent of the total taxes. New York state, which heads the list of income tax contributors, contributed about 30 per cent.

While New York state's income tax payments are considerably more than three times as great as those of its nearest competitor, Illinois, it is obliged to yield the crown to North Carolina in the matter of miscellaneous tax payments. North Carolina, as a result of tobacco and cigaret taxes, pays twice as much into the federal treasury as New York in miscellaneous taxes. North Carolina has held the leading position in the payment of miscellaneous taxes for the last two or three years since automobile and other important taxes were repealed.

Virginia, another tobacco state, also ranks ahead of all other states, except New York, in miscellaneous tax payments.

Illinois taxpayers increased their earnings in 1929, including presumably some stock market profits, considerably more than those in Pennsylvania, but showed no such gain as those in New York. In Illinois income taxes, including both corporation and individual taxes, amounted to $236,986,918, compared with $203,988,113 in 1928. The Pennsylvania income taxes, which totaled $205,672,909, a little more that the Illinois total, in 1928, were increased only to $214,275,811. The New York income tax total increased by almost one third, advancing from $653,428,625 in 1928, to $852,422,267 in 1929, the abnormal increase undoubtedly reflecting Wall street activity.

California ranked fourth among the states in the payment of income taxes, with a total of $141,789,816 in 1929, while Michigan was fifth with $140,305,742, and Ohio sixth, with $139,270,953.

Dixie Miscellaneous Totals High.

In miscellaneous taxes, North Carolina led with $246,935,444 in 1929. New York was second with $106,829,509; Virginia, third, with $73,144,890; New Jersey, fourth, with $28,198,321; Pennsylvania, fifth, with $23,701,876; California, sixth, with $22,289,117, and Illinois, seventh, with $22,196,764.

In 1928, Illinois was eighth, Michigan, which was in sixth place in 1928, having fallen to eleventh place in 1929 as a result of the repeal of the automobile tax.

Total federal taxes paid by Illinois amounted to $259,182,682 in 1929, as against $224,858,133 in 1928. New York led with $959,251,777, followed by North Carolina, with $266,089,533, with Illinois in third place.

In 1928 Pennsylvania was third and Illinois fourth.

Michigan Figures Decrease.

Total taxes paid in Michigan in 1929 amounted to $149,161,095, which was a decrease from $159,476,206 in 1928. In Indiana, the total was $28,314,583, which was a decrease from $29,925,306. The Wisconsin total was $13,110,255, which was a decrease from $14,416,221. The Iowa total was $14,517,164, which was an increase from the 1928 total of $12,421,494.

While the repeal of the automobile tax contributed to the falling off of the tax total in Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin, corporation income taxes also decreased in these three states. Individual income taxes increased in the three states.

SHOOTS SELF

MRS. BLANCHE SIMANE.

"I was just tired of living," Mrs. Blanche Simane, 28 years old, explained to the police after she was found lying in the bedroom of her home at 338 West 38th street yesterday with a bullet wound through the back of her head. When first questioned at the county hospital Mrs. Simane said she had discharged a revolver accidentally. Later she admitted firing the shot after a quarrel with her husband. Her condition is critical, physicians say.

FACTS DEMANDED ON COSTS TO CITY OF BIG LAWSUITS

Albert Acts as Result of Phone Litigation.

Ald. Arthur F. Albert [43d] demanded in the city council meeting yesterday that the finance committee make a survey of all litigation, with the exception of minor suits, in which the city is involved. The order struck at Corporation Counsel Ettelson as a result of the decision, adverse to the city, handed down last week by the federal court in the Illinois Bell Telephone rate suit.

Albert wants the survey to develop what the city has spent in litigation and also whether there has been any delay in any city suits and the reason for delays, if any. The resolution was referred to the finance committee.

Points to $500,000 Cost.

Albert charged that the city might have saved the $500,000 which he said was spent in the telephone litigation by the city. He contended that the city's lawyers had not brought out evidence that the Illinois Bell company stock is owned mainly by American Telephone and Telegraph company.

"The city did raise that point," countered Ald. R. A. Cronson [4th], "but the court overruled it."

The city's lawyers had asked the court to determine whether the rate reduction, fixed by the Illinois commerce commission in 1922 but rejected by the federal court, was confiscatory upon the Illinois Bell company. The judges held that the commerce commission did not make an investigation of the earnings of the parent company for the purpose of fixing the rates for the local company and said, therefore, that the city was estopped from making that argument.

Recalls Former Demand.

"I knew that the city could not put in that evidence," shouted Ald. Albert. "That is why I asked the council last year to coöperate with a proposed special committee of the United States senate to investigate public utility affairs. That request was referred to the council judiciary committee and never came to light again."

Further debate on the subject was shut off by demands from aldermen that the resolution be sent to the finance committee for consideration. Albert obtained from Ald. John S. Clark [39th], chairman of the finance committee, a promise that the resolution would be acted upon by the committee before the next meeting, Feb. 26.

Spiritualists Say Prayers for Conan Doyle; Ill Abed

LONDON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, is ill with heart trouble and has been confined to his bed for the last few weeks. Spiritualists of Australia, England and the United States are offering special prayers for his recovery. Overwork during the spiritualist campaign in Scandinavia was said to have weakened his heart so that a walk of 100 yards left him breathless.

DRAFTS WINES AND BEER BILL FOR N. Y. STATE

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Sale of light wines and beer by the state would be provided for under the terms of a legislative bill drafted by Assemblyman Langdon W. Post, New York, Democrat. A maximum alcoholic content of 15 per cent for wine and 6 per cent for beer would be allowed, the legislator said in explaining his measure tonight.

The measure would create a board of control in the state department of health, the board to possess the power "to buy, sell, import, store and transport, within the boundaries of the state of New York light wines and beer."

Authorities on constitutional law, the assemblyman said, had agreed with him that his plan would not be in violation of the eighteenth amendment which, he said, "leaves to congress and the several states the right to pass upon enforcement statutes, included in which is the right to establish the legal maximum alcoholic content." The federal constitution, said Mr. Post, which fixes the maximum at one-half of one per cent, applies only to "persons" and does not prevent state manufacture and sale within that limit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Feb. 4.—A small group of former Russian naval officers, some engaged in business and others occupying posts in the Latvian fleet and on the general staff, today attended a requiem service in the Alexander Nevski orthodox church in Riga for the souls of an unknown number of former officers of the imperial navy who were killed in their cells by the cheka in January. The number is reported to be around 500.

Lighted candles in the hands of the mourners wavered when the priest chanted a petition for "eternal rest for Nicholai and others, whose names you know, O Lord."

Letters received from relatives in Russia mention scores of names which should have been mentioned in the service, but brother officers here fear the cheka has established a local bolshevik representation and might trace the names, leading to further arrests and executions in Russia. Nicholai, the name mentioned in the service, was the most common name among those executed.

Similar memorial services have been arranged in Tallinn, Helsingfors, Warsaw, and Paris.

DISGUSTED DRYS TO URGE REPEAL AT HOUSE INQUIRY

Wet Bloc Decides Not to Call Al Smith.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Prominent manufacturers, doctors, sociologists, and clergymen who once favored prohibition, but who have conceded its failure after ten years' trial, will be called as witnesses Feb 12, when the house of representatives judiciary committee starts its hearings on repeal of the 18th amendment.

Members of the wet bloc decided against calling such men as Alfred E. Smith and Nicholas Murray Butler who have opposed prohibition from the beginning. It was agreed that former dry advocates who have switched their views would give more impressive testimony.

"As the evils and follies of the dry laws become more obvious, more former drys are swinging over to the nodificationist point of view," declared Representative J. Charles Linthicum [Dem., Md.], chairman of the wet bloc. "We intend to bring an impressive array of these persons before the committee, showing to congress and to the country, in an effective way, the failure of an attempt to make people temperate by law."

Another Battle Due Tomorrow.

Another prohibition battle is expected Thursday, when the house takes up the Williamson bill to transfer the prohibition bureau from the treasury to the department of justice.

The wet bloc representatives today agreed not to attempt unified action on the transfer bill, each one voting as he pleases. For the most part, the wets are not particularly concerned as to the bill's passage. Many of them say that it means merely another futile administrative change that will serve to emphasize the hopelessness of enforcement. There is certain to be a sharp debate, however, as the wets will grasp the chance to attack prohibition in general. Further, six dry members of the expenditures committee signed a minority report protesting the bill's division of authority over industrial alcohol permits between the secretary of the treasury and the attorney general. This forecasts a clash among the dry themselves.

Doran Defends Alky Policy.

Apparently as a move to forestall expected criticism of the present alcohol permit system, Prohibition Commissioner Doran sent to the house today a lengthy memorandum discounting charges that there are big leakages, and defending the use of poison denaturants.

Dr. Doran declared that "the government is not using any denaturant in sufficient quantities to be fatal if any one, through ignorance or otherwise, should use denatured alcohol as a beverage."

He voiced his opposition to the pending Sirovich bill to compel the use of adrehol or other harmless ingredient, as follows:

"If the government is compelled to change or alter its policy in regard to the denaturation of alcohol and required to substitute the denaturants referred to by Dr. Sirovich in the quantities indicated, millions of gallons of industrial alcohol will be diverted for beverage purposes and hundreds of industries will be unable to obtain alcohol suitable for their legitimate requirements."

WASHINGTON NOTES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The senate passed a house bill to extend three years from Feb. 11 next the time for completing the construction of approaches and extensions of the municipal bridge across the Mississippi river at St. Louis.

Senator Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.] was designated by Vice President Curtis to read George Washington's farewell address on the first President's birthday, Feb. 22.

The house rivers and harbors committee decided to defer action on the Harlingen, Tex., harbor project until next month, when data on title observations will have been received.

Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee introduced a bill to provide $5,386,367 for pilgrimages of Gold Star mothers to European cemeteries.

An appropriation of $31,400,000 to be made available immediately for rural post road construction in coöperation with the states was asked in a bill introduced by Chairman Wood.

The makers of tacks and nails, representing an annual business of $10,000,000, have been granted an application to hold a trade practice conference with the federal trade commission.

Municipal and commercial representatives of Grand Haven, Mich., petitioned the army board of engineers to dredge a channel 21 feet deep in Grand Haven harbor from Lake Michigan to the Grand Trunk railroad bridge.

Secretary Wilbur called for bids for the sale of royalty oil accruing to the United States from two leased wells on government land in the Kettleman hills oil field, California.

Henry A. Barnhart, president of the Indiana Telephone association, told the senate interstate commerce committee there was "neither occasion nor consistent demand to centralize control in Washington of telephone companies doing interstate business."

Broker Sues Health Club; Asks $100,000 for Injury

Samuel R. Wenk, 654 Wellington avenue, a broker, yesterday filed the praecipe of a $100,000 damage suit against the Post Health club, 312 South Wabash avenue. Wenk charges, through his attorney, that an employé of the club fractured two of his vertebrae while giving him a massage after a handball game last August.

Two Bandits Get $800 in Loop Store Holdup

Two well dressed young bandits last night robbed the Atlas radio store, 326 South Wabash avenue, of $800 and escaped in their automobile, it was reported to police by the manager, A. E. Shurr. One of the robbers forced Shurr and his two clerks, Guy Timberland and Maurice Bermosik, into a back room while his companion rifled the cash register, Shurr said.

SENATE KEEPS UP TARIFF ON COAL TAR PRODUCTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—American chemical manufacturers won a substantial victory today when the senate, by a vote of 57 to 23, adopted a finance committee amendment to the pending tariff bill continuing the American valuation system as the basis for ad valorem duties on coal tar products.

Two regular Republicans, Senator G. W. Moses [Rep., N. H.], and Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.], voted with 12 Democrats and 9 radical Republicans against the amendment, which, they declared, singled the chemical industry out for special consideration, while duties on other imports are based on foreign valuations.

Senators Harry Hawes [Dem., Mo.] and Guy Goff [Rep., W. Va.], in whose states large chemical industries have been established, pointed out during the debate that the American synthetic dyestuff industry, virtually nonexistent before the world war cut off the importation of dyes from Germany, has become a 100 million dollar business. To repeal the American valuation system, they asserted, would be to leave the domestic industry and the American consumer at the mercy of the European dye monopoly.

1 Hurt, Several Shaken Up in Street Car Derailment

One man was injured and several other passengers were shaken up yesterday when the trailer of a southbound Halsted street car became derailed at 47th street. The injured man, William Fildsley, 34 years old, 401 Winnecoma avenue, who suffered cuts, bruises, and perhaps internal injuries, was taken to a hospital by the Stockyards police.

25,000 GARMENT WORKERS GO ON STRIKE QUIETLY

Students Help Pickets; Few Arrests Made.

New York, Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Twenty-five thousand of New York City's 35,000 garment workers walked out at 10 a. m. today. This figure was set by Benjamin Schlesinger, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, which called the strike to abolish sweatshops. He said that he expected the other 10,000 to be out within 24 hours.

"The industry is virtually paralyzed now," he asserted, "and we expect it to be absolutely so by tomorrow."

Communists Merely "Boo."

The strike was quite orderly in its first hours. There were a few arrests for too strenuous activity in the distribution of placards. But the communist element, which had been a potential source of trouble, did nothing worse than "boo," and did not do that much.

In obedience to union orders the strikers, more than half of whom are women, conducted a demonstration of mass picketing here and there. They were quiet about it. They stood in knots, talking. Only a few carried red banners telling what shops they had left.

Literature Is Distributed.

Some fifty students from Barnard, Hunter, and Columbia colleges, Columbia university, and Union Theological seminary volunteered as pickets and distributors of literature, and they were among the first on duty today.

According to a union statement, the strike was called to establish the five day 40 hour week, a minimum scale of wages, a right to a job, to place responsibility upon the jobber for conditions in contracting shops, and to eliminate the many sweatshops.

"Cross-Eyed Bandit" Confesses 100 Holdups

Connie Johnson, Negro robber and ex-convict, who was captured by Lieut. Thomas Mangan and his squad after a gun battle at 41st street and South Park way yesterday, admitted yesterday that he is the "cross-eyed bandit" who has been terrorizing the Stanton avenue and Cottage Grove districts the last four months. He confessed to more than 100 holdups and was identified by 35 victims.

U. S. FLAGS PLACED ON CEDAR TREES, BUT CUTTING CONTINUES

Shepherdstown, W. Va., Feb. 4.—(AP)—An appeal to President Hoover to prevent the felling of cedar trees on which American flags have been placed has been made by property owners here in a last attempt to prevent the destruction of the trees by the state.

Flags were placed atop the trees in the belief that cutters employed to fell them would not bring down the flags by chopping down the trees. The property owners were wrong, however, for the cutting continued.

The trees are being destroyed by provision of a state law for the protection of apple orchards from "cedar rust."

GEORGE F. BAKER GIVES MILLION TO DARTMOUTH

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The New York Times tomorrow will say George F. Baker, financier, has made a new donation of $1,000,000 to Dartmouth college for the maintenance and operation of the Baker Memorial library there.

Mr. Baker provided $1,100,000 several years ago for the construction of the library in Hanover, N. H., as a memorial to his uncle, Fisher Ames Baker, Dartmouth '59.

While efforts to reach Mr. Baker today were unsuccessful, and Dr. Ernest Mark Hopkins, president of Dartmouth, declined to confirm or deny the gift, confirmation was obtained by the Times from an authoritative source.

CONDICT ASKED ALLOWANCE, SAYS MOTHER-IN-LAW

Wouldn't Even Pay Gas Bills, Ex-Wife Claims.

New York, Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Katherine Turck Condict, former Junior league leader who says she was the "dollars and cents" wife of Alden S. Condict, lineal descendant of John Alden, today described the collapse of her marriage to the jury which is trying Condict's $150,000 alienation suit against her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Fenton B. Turck.

The young woman divorced Condict in Reno in 1927 and refused to let him have custody of their 3 year child, Avis, because, she said, she was afraid he "would teach her the creed of money."

"Are you being supported by your father now?" asked Joseph H. Levine, counsel for Condict.

"I'd be on the street if I wasn't," replied Mrs. Condict with deep resentment.

Bought Her No Clothes.

"My husband was cruel to me at the very outset," Mrs. Condict declared. "He refused to buy me any clothes. The final blow was his humiliating letter to my parents on March 10, 1927. In this he suggested that I should be put in a public institution. I was terrified. I had a baby in my arms. I fled from him after ascertaining that he had refused even to pay the light and gas bills for our apartment. It was then I felt certain he regarded me merely as his dollars and cents wife."

Mrs. Avis Turck, the young woman's mother, was next on the witness stand. She told how she and her husband had given Condict a $1,000 check at the time of their daughter's marriage to be used for the purchase of furniture.

Came Back for More.

"Three weeks after the wedding," Mrs. Turck said, "Alden called. He came into my sitting room and said that it seemed to him that Katherine was troubled about money. I replied that that was too bad. He suggested that if she only had some money everything would be lovely.

"I told him I'd like to help but couldn't. Then he suggested that I settle $200 a month upon him and $200 upon Katherine. I told him I had no money with which to do that. I put my hand on his shoulder and told him I was sorry; that I wished I could help."

RINGLING'S YACHT SINKS; CREW AND 4 PASSENGERS SAFE

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Four passengers and a crew of twelve were landed safely when the palatial yacht Zalophus, owned by John Ringling, circus magnate, struck a rock and sank in 12 feet of water two miles south of here early today.

C. V. Moore, a member of the crew, was the only person injured. His right arm was broken.

The yacht is 125 feet long, has a 30 foot beam, and is equipped with two 180 horsepower motors.

PROFESSOR'S SON ADMITS SETTING SCHOOL ON FIRE

Robert Gill, 14 year old son of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Gill of 5419 Greenwood avenue, who is a student in the Illinois Military school at Aledo, told school authorities there yesterday that in the hope of getting a vacation he had set fire to the main north dormitory of the school. The fire caused only slight damage.

Dr. Gill, an assistant professor in Armour institute, was on his way to Aledo last night to confer with school authorities.

The boy denied any knowledge of a fire last week which destroyed the junior dormitory on the grounds.

ADAM WECKLER IS JAILED ON FRAUD CHARGE

Adam J. Weckler, 55 years old, former Chicago harbor master, was in jail last night. He was arrested yesterday in his home, 547 Hinman avenue, Evanston, on a confidence game warrant. Judge Herbert G. Immenhausen issued the warrant on complaint of Nathan Flyer, a contractor of 2839 Eastwood avenue, who said he loaned Weckler $5,000 last summer and took in security a mortgage on a lot at Argyle street and Sheridan road, of which Weckler claimed ownership. Flyer said he had since learned that Weckler did not own the property. Weckler has been convicted in the past of larceny and contempt of court.

OUSTED PASTOR SCORES IN 2ND SLANDER TRIAL

New Evidence Aims to Prove Malice.

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—With utter calmness except when he referred to his dead wife, John A. Logan Warren took the stand this afternoon in his suit charging slander against five former members of his flock at Durand and denied the charges of immoral conduct made against him by Hazel Lamb, now Mrs. William Lathery.

It was the second time Warren had made specific denial in court, he having refuted the word of the former domestic in his home at the first slander hearing in November when a jury awarded the unfrocked pastor $20,000 damages. An appeal brought a new trial. Warren's counsel read the entire signed statement of Hazel Lamb incriminating the minister, and then went through it, bit by bit, examining Warren at every point.

New Evidence Offered.

New evidence tending to show that Warren and members of his Durand Methodist church board had a dispute nine months before Warren was ousted from the ministry in May, 1927, enabled the unfrocked pastor to score a point against the five men he is again suing for $50,000.

The argument between Warren and his board, considered important by his attorneys because it might indicate malice, was back of his eventual ouster, grew out of a disagreement regarding construction of a new church in August, 1926. According to Harold S. Bradley, architect, and William Ploetz, neither of whom heretofore has appeared, differences of opinion between a group headed by Warren and a group led by Henry Graham and George Fritz, two of the defendants, became so strained that construction on the church was halted three days while the dispute was settled.

Architect on Stand.

Bradley declared that Graham and Fritz had called on him in August, 1926, and inquired if "Warren was conspiring against them." Warren's counsel is expected to show that this dispute was the beginning of ill-will which later prompted defendants to press charges against the pastor.

LINDBERGH RESTS FROM GLIDER TESTS ON 28TH BIRTHDAY

Los Angeles Cal., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh spent his twenty-eighth birthday anniversary quietly at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Maddux here today. The noted flyer is technical adviser in the T. A. T.-Maddux Air Lines system of which Mr. Maddux is president.

Col. Lindbergh said he was awaiting the arrival of new parts for the Bowlus sailplane in which he had a thrilling experience yesterday near Lebec, Cal., north of here, when he lost an aileron while in flight but made a safe landing.

He said he hoped to return to Lebec tomorrow to resume the sailplane flights, out of which he and Hawley Bowlus of San Diego, Cal., hoped to produce a world record for sustained motorless flight. Bowlus is the American gliding champion with a record of six hours aloft.

5 BANKS CLOSE; ASSETS GIVEN AS 2½ MILLION

Rutherfordton, N. C., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Five Rutherford county banks, with assets of more than $2,500,000, closed today.

The Rutherford County Bank and Trust company here and its branches at Spindale and Union Mills failed to open this morning. Later a run was started on the Farmers' Bank and Trust company at Forest City and shortly before noon this bank and its branch at Caroleen also closed.

Two employés of the state banking department at Raleigh were sent to investigate after John Mitchell, state bank examiner, was notified.

Notices posted on the doors of the banks, signed by the boards of directors, merely stated the affairs of the banks had been put in the hands of the state banking department for protection of depositors.

The Rutherfordton bank, in a financial statement as of Jan. 1, 1930, gave its total resources as $1,340,606.75. It was capitalized at $200,000, had a surplus of $20,000, and deposits were announced in the statement as $970,407. J. L. Taylor is president of this bank.

Surplus and capital of the Forest City institution is $250,000, with resources of well over a million dollars. Dr. T. B. Lovelace is president. The Caroleen branch had resources of approximately $50,000.

Fageros, 29 year old attorney of New Ulm, Minn., and son-in-law of a reputedly wealthy Minnesota lumberman, changed his plea from guilty to not guilty of charges of violating the Dyer act in Federal Judge Wilkerson's court yesterday. Fageros was arrested here last October after three stolen automobiles, two taken from Chicago and one from Milwaukee, had been traced to him. PRESIDENT RUBIO OF MEXICO TAKES HIS CHAIR TODAY

Thousands Jam Capital to See Inaugural.

BY JOHN CORNYN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 4.—Pascual Ortiz Rubio, a direct descendant of the Aztec kings before the Spanish conquest in the sixteenth century, will be inaugurated at noon tomorrow in the great national stadium here as president of the Mexican republic.

Provisional President Portes Gil today performed his last official act in office by receiving in the long hall of ambassadors in the national palace the 26 specially accredited representatives of foreign nations to the inaugural ceremonies. These included sixteen special ambassadors, three delegates extraordinary, and one minister plenipotentiary, all of whom were presented to the retiring president by Genaro Estrada, minister of foreign relations. The outgoing president welcomed the ambassadors as a special honor to Mexico and to the incoming president.

A Brilliant Mass of Color.

The reception was a brilliant mass of color. The special envoys wore the ambassadorial uniforms of their respective countries. They previously had been received in the foreign office by Señor Estrada, and were conducted to the palace in state by him.

The ambassadorial party was escorted by motorcycle police riding in front, at each side and at the rear, and by generals and officers of the infantry, artillery, aviation, and marine. The party was also escorted by the complete staff of foreign relations department and the presidential guards, who formed in three sections, one leading, one remaining at the side of the party and the other taking up the rear.

With hotels filled to overflowing two days ago, excursions are still arriving from the United States and various parts of Mexico. Never since the last years of Porfirio Diaz' régime has English been so much spoken here. Tourists are in evidence everywhere.

Numerous committees from the various departments of the government, the offices of the federal district and the National Tourist association, are busy from early morning taking care of visitors, especially those from the United States, who are accompanied anywhere they care to go. Interpreters provided by the government accompany women on shopping tours, steering them to places where every Mexican novelty can be had.

Business Picks Up.

The presence of thousands of tourists from the American, Central and South American states, with a goodly sprinkling of Europeans, has given feverish life to business along Mexico's great white way. The tramways are crowded to the limit with tourists, especially Americans, visiting suburban towns, villages and Indian pueblos.

The Indians, who have an "underground telegraph," have flooded the metropolis with their wares, which are all bought up, often before noon. The Americans return triumphantly to their hotels or their Pullmans, loaded with the spoils of battles after the Spanish and Indian ways of doing business.

ALADDIN'S CAVE OF DIAMONDS REPORTED FOUND IN SO. AFRICA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Feb. 4.—Another story of an Aladdin's cave on the wild coast of Namaqualand comes from Port Nolloth, where, it is said, six Europeans were arrested on charges of diamond smuggling.

The center of operations is said to be a cave 20 miles from Port Nolloth, to reach which the men climb down a precipitous cliff. It is alleged that the six men discovered that an erosion by the sea in the cave disclosed a rich diamondiferous stratus several feet thick. The diamonds are said to be of remarkably fine quality. The sea at high tide did all the work necessary to reveal new diamonds. All the men had to do was pick them out of the sides of the cave.

Two members of the diamond detective department engaged in suppressing illicit traffic are said to have tracked the men to their lair and caught them red handed. They will be tried at Port Nolloth.

COUNCIL ORDERS QUIZ ON WIVES IN CITY EMPLOY

Married women employed by the city, school board, public library, and municipal tuberculosis sanitarium are to be questioned by their department heads concerning the nature of the employment of their husbands in accordance with an order passed by the city council yesterday. Ald John Toman, [23d], author of the order, expects it to develop information showing that women whose husbands are capable of supporting them, are keeping unemployed persons out of jobs.

The investigation will show names and addresses of the married women on the pay rolls, their civil service classifications and salaries and the same information concerning the husband, if he is also employed by the city. Toman requested that the information be submitted to the council at an early date.

CHINA TO DISCUSS PEACE WITH RUSS AT POINT OF GUN

Nanking Heeds Moscow's Blunt Demands.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 4.—The imminent possibility that the Chinese government will shortly be forced to resume diplomatic relations with Moscow as the only possible means of preventing further Red aggression in Manchuria is indicated by a report from Nanking this afternoon.

No official statement has been issued prior to the meeting of the national central political council, scheduel for tomorrow, but the official Kou Min news service today stated that the national government will notify the soviet government of its readiness to open formal negotiations for settling the outstanding soviet-Chinese issues.

China to Send Delegates.

The decision of the national government to send delegates to Moscow, which means the recognition of the preliminary soviet-Chinese agreement, signed at Harbarovsk, pertaining chiefly to the Chinese Eastern railway, is apparently due to the continuous provocative attitude of the Red army and soviet agents in north Manchuria.

A dispatch from Harbin today stated that the soviet consul, Gen. Melnikoff, as well as other officials, held a conference in the soviet consulate yesterday, following which Gen. Melnikoff informed China of the necessity of immediately executing the Harbarovsk agreement, as well as to appoint delegates to the Moscow conference.

Gen. Minikoff also demanded that China suppress at once the strike of Chinese laborers on the Chinese Eastern railway, which has practically paralyzed the workshops in Harbin. He is also alleged to have said that the Russian army will remain near Manchouli, on the western end of the railway, pending a definite Chinese reply.

While patriotic bodies are demanding Nanking not to submit to soviet dictation, to repudiate the Harbarovsk agreement, and refuse to send delegates to Moscow, Gen. Chang Hsueliang of the Manchurian government is daily telegraphing the capital urging the government to "do something in order to relieve the Red pressure in Manchuria, which is becoming unbearable."

GRAY HAIRED BANDIT ROBS STORE.

A nervous, gray haired robber entered a delicatessen store at 2124 Wellington avenue yesterday afternoon, held up the proprietor's wife, Mrs. Frances Stehl, and fled with $35.

What's New About the New Pierce-Arrow

NO new feature, or set of features, was ever so important to a motor car as the single element which has always set Pierce-Arrow apart. That element is Pierce-Arrow.

It is, of course, true that every engineering improvement of merit finds adoption by Pierce-Arrow the first moment it proves worthy of Pierce-Arrow.

The most recently proved Pierce-Arrow feature, for example, is the silent gear-shift . . plus a quiet intermediate speed, smooth as the ordinary high, with a capacity of sixty miles an hour. (Think what this means in traffic!)

Pierce-Arrow body engineers have contributed increased passenger space in all models. Famed decorators have introduced new beauty in colorings and appointments. And master craftsmen have lent added touches of luxury in the skilled handwork that is Pierce-Arrow.

All the new Pierce-Arrows continue with the supereequipment that America expects of her finest motor car. The new prices are from $2695 to $6250 at Buffalo. (Custom-built models up to $10,000.)

THREE NEW GROUPS OF STRAIGHT EIGHTS

Group B: 125 Horsepower 134 and 139-inch Wheelbase $3125 to $3870

Group C: 115 Horsepower 132-inch Wheelbase $2695 to $2875

(All prices f. o. b. Buffalo)

In the purchase of your first income, the average allowance on a good used car usually more than covers the initial Pierce-Arrow payment.

ASK FOR TIME FOR APPEAL IN EXPERT FEE CASE

Attorneys for Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements and a defendant in the expert fee suit brought by THE TRIBUNE against Mayor Thompson and other city officials, filed a petition with the Illinois Supreme court yesterday asking an extension of time to April 1 in which to file briefs. Faherty is in Florida and is not expected to return to Chicago until March 1.

If the motion, expected to be passed upon by the court today, is granted, the appeal of the city officials from the decision of Circuit Judge Friend will not be heard at the present session of the Supreme court. Judge Friend's decision held that all of the defendants in the case, including the mayor, had been guilty of conspiracy in the payment of large sums of money to four real estate experts in 1920. Restitution of the money plus interest, a total of $2,245,604, was ordered by the court.

CARRY RELIGION TO DAILY LIFE, M. E. BOARD AIM

Secretary Tells Program at Annual Meeting.

The rescue of religion from the confines of the church and the Sabbath day and putting its influence into every day life is the present interest of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, according to the Rev. Dr. William S. Bovard. Dr. Bovard, who is secretary of the division of educational institutions, gave his annual report yesterday at the annual meeting of the board of education, which is being held this week at the board's offices at 740 Rush street.

Dr. Bovard pointed out that the educational program of the Methodist Episcopal Church is not a warfare of education against no education.

Its Educational Aim.

"It is rather an interest of purposeful education versus a conglomerate of educational forces undirected," he said. "Newspapers, pictorials, magazines, moving pictures, radio, even ordinary conversation, are confronting us constantly. How much character forming education do they contain?

"Our problem, then, is to provide for simple, unobtrusive Christian living in all the social groups which the enterprises of present day life present, rather than getting formal recognition for text books on religion and types of public worship.

"We must rescue religion from the confines of the church and Sabbath day and bring it into unison with the basic ideals of common daily life."

Furnish Most Students.

The Rev. Dr. Albert E. Kirk of Chicago, secretary of educational institutions for the Methodist board of education, said Christian homes have furnished the majority of students in colleges and universities. Dr. Kirk formerly was the president of Southwestern college at Winfield, Kas.

Quoting President Jessup of Iowa university, Dr. Kirk stated that 85 per cent of the student body of that university came from church homes. He cited other figures to the effect that out of the population of 130,000,000 in America there are 1,000,000 students in the colleges and universities, or one student to 130 people. In a church population of 50,000,000 there are 700,000 students, or one student to 70 people, while out of a Methodist population of 4,500,000 there are 125,000 students, or one to 36.

ORDER STRIKING PUPILS TO GO TO BURBANK SCHOOL

School authorities yesterday ignored the "strike" of forty-seven pupils of the new Burbank school, Mobile and Armitage avenues. Superintendent Bogan announced the students assigned to the school will have to attend as required by the compulsory education regulations.

The children, who recently were transferred from the Lovett school, were kept at home by their parents yesterday in protest to the change which necessitates their crossing sixteen railroad tracks en route to the Burbank school.

"More than 100 of the 180 children affected by the transfer have been crossing the same tracks for several years without a protest being registered," said Mr. Bogan. "A watchman and several policemen will be on duty at the crossing."

A committee of parents headed by Ald. J. H. Taylor [37th] plans to go before school officials with a plea for restoration of the seventh and eighth grades at the Lovett school.

STOMACH ILLS
A Medical Opinion
"The ideal correction for 'sour stomach' is calcium carbonate—a potential anti-acid, incapable of disturbing the normal action of the bowels and bladder, impossible of overdosage and perfectly safe to use."
—Your own doctor will confirm this quotation from noted medical authority.
A Powerful Anti-acid—yet Safe
Old-fashioned folks, not abreast with medical science, still take burning soda. Occasional doses may do no harm.
But Calcium Carbonate, in proper form, is the modern anti-acid: 2½ times as effective as soda, and is safe in its action and positive in its relief. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the ideal form of Calcium Carbonate combined with other valuable healing ingredients. Medical authorities commend Stuart's formula as the only kind for use with children and best for men and women.

A frail and gentle lady whose boy had 7 years to live....

The confidential nature of The Northern Trust Company's relationships makes it necessary to disguise the personal details in this story. But the facts of trust experience are substantially as have been given here

THERE was a small inheritance, all that was left of a great fortune. Dependent upon this were a mother and son.

The son was an invalid, unable to look out for himself. And there were no close relatives.

To stand as a parent after she was gone, to do just as she would have done, to watch over and care for the boy was the responsibility which this frail lady and her wise attorney assigned to The Northern Trust Company.

When the time came to assume this responsibility, the first act of The Northern Trust officers was to consult the boy's physicians, who said that due to the nature of his infirmity he had at the most only six or seven years to live.

With this in mind, the trust officers carefully planned a program involving some expenditures from the principal of the estate. By this means they were able to secure for the boy, all through his life, comfort that would never have been possible out of the income alone. In fact, the event proved the wisdom of the course taken.

This procedure required unusual discretion by the trustee. But it did much to brighten the boy's life. It was the human interpretation of the mother's wishes.

What are your plans for your estate?

To whom have you entrusted your plans for the future?

Will your executor-trustee be always here, never lacking in courage, time and financial responsibility?

Will your estate receive the personal, human attention ingrained into the staff of The Northern Trust Company through more than forty years of energetic trust service to many of the foremost families of Chicago?

Once only a few large fortunes knew the benefits of trust service. Today to The Northern Trust Company come hundreds of people of moderate means. They bring here their many problems of will and of estates-management.

Before a committee of its board pass and repass the difficult problems of the trust estates. Carefully, systematically, every investment is scanned. In the spirit of this old trust-minded institution each major decision is methodically reviewed.

Discover what this intensely human yet ever living, ever present trustee can do for you. Its rich fund of trust knowledge is yours. In minimizing estate shrinkage and in planning for your estate it can be of valuable help.

Drawing your will is work to entrust to your own attorney. He will find Northern Trust men anxious to cooperate with him. Today The Northern Trust Company is actively at work with attorneys for many men and women of property. They find their contacts here congenial and easy to make.

The time of Northern Trust men is yours. At its home on the northwest corner of La Salle and Monroe Streets, or in your own office, a trust officer will be glad to confer with you.

An informative booklet, "The Ordered Life," will be mailed upon request. Write or phone for your copy.

IN COMMERCIAL BANKING

The Northern Trust Company offers the same careful attention to your banking business as it does to your affairs of trust. Sound banking as practiced here leaves ample room for an energetic and resultful effort to serve. CHANGE IN THE SUPREME COURT JUSTICESHIP.

The retirement of the chief justice of the United States and the immediate appointment of a successor constitute a double event of first rate importance, the full significance of which must await the future.

The retirement of Chief Justice Taft closes a career which is in conspicuous respects unique in American history. No other man has held so many important posts in the service of the national government. He has been governor general of the Philippines, secretary of war, President, and chief justice of the United States. He has thus had experience in high, even the highest, office, both in the executive and judicial branches of our government, besides being active in professional and public affairs apart from his official duties. As the first civil governor of the Philippines he was called upon to lay the foundations of that civil experiment which is still in process in the most important and difficult of our dependencies. As President he found himself involved in a party crisis which shook the nation and with momentous consequences reversed the course of national policy at home and abroad. As chief justice of the nation's highest court his responsibilities have been less spectacular and more in keeping with his moderate and conservative makeup, but they have involved consequences in our constitutional history which a future generation may consider more vividly than do his contemporaries.

Retiring in serious ill health, he has the good wishes of his fellow countrymen. His successor, Charles Evans Hughes, has also had a distinguished and varied career, and resumes a place in the Supreme court, not only with the prestige of a leader of the American bar and of his previous term on the Supreme bench, but of service as secretary of state, member of the international court, governor of New York state, and in conspicuous activities in public and professional life.

THE BRITISH UNION IN THE MAKING.

The report of the imperial judicial conference has been issued in London. The conference was held last fall to prepare recommendations to be submitted to the imperial conference to be held this year. The body would be recognizable in the United States as a constitutional convention and the work with which it is engaged as one intended to produce a written constitution for a more perfect union, defining the powers conferred upon the union and the powers reserved to the states; in other words, the British United States.

In a preliminary release several weeks ago more details of the report were given than are contained in the latest statement of it now at a time when the naval conference makes a pressure of news matter in London. The two abstracts of the proposals give an outline of what the dominions seek for their future union.

One recommendation provides that no law of the United Kingdom shall extend to a dominion without its request and consent. Furthermore, no law of a dominion shall be void or inoperative on the ground that it is repugnant to the law of the United Kingdom. A law of a British state could not, then, be declared unconstitutional and the parliament of the United Kingdom could not operate as a federal legislature giving laws of general applicability to the rest of the commonwealths.

It is further recommended, and would follow in natural course, that the veto power of a governor in a dominion acting as the agent of the king be abolished. It was agreed by the jurists that shipping laws, one of the great grievances of the American colonists before the revolution, shall not infringe on the law-making rights of the dominions. What is proposed, in all, is a more perfect union of much looser structure than the Union of the American states.

The new British federation, as contemplated, could not have a war of secession because it would not recognize the sovereignty of the union. It apparently would be a voluntary association of separately acting states regarding themselves as having undisputed interests in common, but not compelled by their constitution to accept a centralized control to which some absolute powers had been delegated.

The recommendations are the decisions of the jurists of the commonwealths, but as such they may be regarded as representative of an important and possibly controlling body of opinion in the dominions. Great Britain, of late years, has taken the position that the dominions were bound to the mother country by consent and agreement and not by coercion. If that policy prevails, and it is difficult to see how it could be changed, the dominions will get what they want, which would be a loose confederation of somewhat united British states.

The American revolution did not end with the treaty which concluded the war. It has been on Great Britain's heels ever since.

A recommendation affecting the crown provides that any change in the law of succession to the throne or any change touching the royal style or titles shall require the consent of the parliaments of the dominions as well as of the parliament of the United Kingdom, this because the "crown is the symbol of the free association of the members of the British commonwealth nations."

Canadians might be well advised not to ask for a voice in any changes affecting the throne, but to assert that no responsibility whatever respecting it was assumed by the dominion. It has escaped or is escaping from a form of society organized by titles. By its petition to the crown no new titles are being bestowed on Canadians because such distinctions are repugnant to the Canadian democracy. The traditions of the British people hold them to an obsolete system, but Canadians are now laying down the traditions of their future. They are people of the new world and new times.

OVERHAULING OUR PENAL SYSTEM.

Dr. Edward H. Ochsner, whose information is authentic and whose judgment is respected, believes that the absence of an asylum for the exclusive confinement of the feeble-minded criminals is one of the gravest defects in the Illinois penal system. As president of the state charities commission in 1915 Dr. Oschner was instrumental in the formulation and passage of our present law for the commitment and segregation of the feeble-minded. The law, he believes, is unimpeachable, but the means for administering it are not available.

Because there is no proper place for incompetent criminals the courts have been sentencing many of these prisoners to institutions for tractable and noncriminal feeble-minded. This practice is unfair to the innocent inmates. It is a source of contamination. Because the homes are not prisons the staff is faced with unwelcome police duties. Neighbors of the asylums are in justified fear of escaped criminals and the entire state suffers from the demoralization of our prison machinery.

Dr. Ochsner takes the farsighted view of the problem. The expedient is to send all criminals, regardless of their mental condition, to prison. The solution is a suitable institution for the detention of mentally defective criminals where experiments for their rehabilitation may be conducted without threatening the safety of society.

It is not unlikely the situation which Dr. Ochsner has exposed may be only one phase of inadequacies in the penal system. Feeble-minded criminals are quartered with innocent defectives at Lincoln and Dixon. Vicious and casehardened adolescents mingle with pink faced naughty boys at St. Charles. We are sure that Mr. Brandon of the state department of public welfare would welcome an investigation of state institutions for the purpose of recommending correction of deficiencies and relief of evils in commitment. The study and program should be completed before the next session of the legislature. Undoubtedly new institutions will be indicated and the legislature should be advised of the situation in order to vote appropriations.

PUTTING THE PAST ON A CASH BASIS.

The house of representatives has passed the Cramton bill to authorize an appropriation of $23,000,000 to build a George Washington Memorial parkway along the Potomac river from Mount Vernon to Grew Falls, Va. It should be a very nice parkway, improving the historic banks and giving a new charm to the region.

Some sections of the country have a lively sense of the varieties of uses to which patriotic impulses and respect for illustrious names can be put. Thus in a real way the present and the future can be enriched by the past and it can be proved that it pays to have a past. It's worth something at the pay window of the national treasury.

Congressman Drane of Florida has introduced a bill for the making of parks at the scenes of the battles of the Seminole war, particularly at Fort Meade. This is congressional procedure in the approved manner, but, curiously enough, it lacks support in some parts of the congressman's state, notably Miami, but the reason becomes apparent. The Florida of the Miami sector is dedicated to wine, women and song. It has some memories, a few of which it is trying to forget. All the past it wants is today and tomorrow. Monuments to things dead are nothing to a state dancing in the sunlight in what a South Sea islander would regard as a trifle scant for a garment. If congress wants to do something handsome by Florida it should give it some playgrounds, race tracks and casinos, and it probably will in honor of the Seminole war.

In these parts the knack of using the patriotic impulse has never been learned. It's never been thoroughly studied and applied for what it's worth. If it had been there might have been a federal built George Rogers Clark parkway running from Vincennes to Chicago and on to Detroit, a Stephen Douglas boulevard from Chicago to St. Louis, and a Marquette highway from Chicago to St. Ignace. These at least. Hereabouts we're too dumb to know what patriotism really means as a cash consideration.

CROPS OF THE "BARRENS."

[Grand Rapids, Mich., Herald.]

More than once we have found occasion to reproduce, with enthusiasm, comments of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE anent the Michigan climate. Now we find that metropolitan journal indorsing our Michigan winter and advising that "Athletic persons get the greatest relief from the cold by going out to enjoy more of it"; and again we can cheer. But THE TRIBUNE is off on the wrong foot when it headlines its discussion of Michigan winter as "Winter in the Barrens." The locale to which it refers is the Ogemaw county wild country where Bob Becker, outdoor writer, recently has visited a state game refuge. It locates Ogemaw as being "in the heart of the barrens of northeastern Michigan." We object. Ogemaw county, like Roscommon, Presque Isle, and a dozen others, won't produce peaches or pears, lettuce or celery. It doesn't even do well by potatoes, beans or sugar beets. But Ogemaw isn't barren. It will raise pine and oak, deer and grouse, arbutus and ferns, trout and pike—and all of these contribute to that greatest of our Michigan harvests, the tourist crop. Barren? Not on your life! There was a time when Michigan thought that land which wouldn't reward the plowman was barren. We've learned differently. Birds and deer and fish and trees and a salubrious climate are not to be sneered at.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

YESSIR, THAT WAS MIGHTY QUICK WORK— that Mr. Hoover did in appointing Charley Hughes to the job of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Quick? We'll tell the world.

It reminds us of the old darky down south who saw a fast passenger train whiz through the town. "Yassah," said he, "yassah, boss! That train's a-gwine so fast it takes two men to tell erbout hit. While one man's a-saying 'Dar she comes,' de udder man's gotta say 'Dar she goes!'" Maybe Mr. Hoover thought there'd be so many people after the first good job that's been going in some time that he'd better act quick to prevent a riot.

Well, anyway, it was quick work. Mr. Hoover called up Charley Hughes over long distance and says: "Is this Mr. Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Hughes?" "This is Mr. Hughes," says Charley, "but I'm not the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court." "You'd be surprised!" said Mr. Hoover. And if Charley wasn't, he was the only one.

KATIE.

She was nothing but a barmaid
(White sawdust on the floor),
But she could watch the quality
A-going past the door;
And, while she poured a mug o' ale
For lousy sailor-men,
She'd dream of Don Fernando's eyes
And feel his lips again.

And Katie'd tuck a wisp o' hair
(As black as brilliant jet),
A-wiping off the teakwood bar . . .
Sometimes her eyes were wet
Just thinking of the quality . . .
She'd pucker up her lips
At being just a barmaid
To men for sailing-ships.

But her eyes were blue, were Katie's
(She kept them open wide),
And so she heard Don Miguel's feet
And saw him slip inside
While thudding feet went past the door,
Then paused . . . there came a shout:
"I think the blighter went in there!
Let's cut his damn heart out!"

And Katie'd known a Spanish man
(And he was quality!),
But he had kissed her lips one night,
And then he'd gone to sea;
For Spanish eyes are full of guile,
Easy lies and laughter . . .
So Katie'd listened to his words—
Loneliness came after.

And so she watched this Spanish boy
(So slim and dark and tall)
While half a dozen sailor-men
Pinned him against the wall;
But something in his eyes brought back
Another night she'd seen . . .
So Katie threw the ale-mugs fast
And cursed them in between!

Oh, she's nothing but a barmaid
(And blood upon the floor!),
But she had watched a Spanish man
Go slipping out the door!
And, while she pours a mug o' ale
For lousy sailor-men,
She dreams of Don Fernando's eyes
And feels his lips again. . . .

DON FARRAN.

THE NAVAL CONFERENCE in London has now resolved itself into "private conversations" between the delegates. What was that phrase we used to like so well? Oh, yes—"Open covenants openly arrived at." And on the evening breeze comes the soft refrain, "Lykell, lykell, lykell!"

That Was Stonewall Jackson's Way.

From a biography, via the Louisville Courier-Journal, via the New York Times, we extract a story about Stonewall Jackson, whose birthday you probably didn't celebrate recently. No, it isn't the story of the south's gallant son dying after his magnificent victory at Chancellorsville, and at the last lifting his head to say:

"Order A. P. Hill to prepare for action! Pass the infantry to the front rapidly! Tell Major Hawks . . . no, no—let us cross over the river and rest in the shade of the trees."

No, it isn't that. You've heard that. But this story is, in a different way, equally characteristic. It was right after the battle of Bull Run. An excited crowd was gathered at the Lexington post-office, waiting breathlessly for news, among them Pastor White, and when he was handed a letter in General Jackson's writing he tore it open eagerly to read to every one how MacDowell had been turned back and one of the great battles of history won. But this was the letter:

My Dear Pastor: In my tent last night, after a fatiguing day's service, I remembered that I had failed to send you a contribution to our colored Sunday school. Enclosed you will find my check for that object. Yrs. faithfully,
THOMAS J. JACKSON.

M. PATOU, the King of Fashion, has decreed that "opaline rose" is the only color for real stylish folk to wear this spring. Opaline rose baffles description, but the nearest we can get to it is that—well, it's something between a brickbat and the sun sinking down to rest behind the drainage canal. If you know what we mean; neither do we. Anyhow, if you don't burst out in opaline rose you'll be stricken off the social register and asked to resign from your golf club. How we would hate to be a clerk in the dry goods section today when the gels come charging down shrieking for opaline rose.

Curse You, Jack Dalton—Take That—and That—and That!

"Stand back, Jack Dalton; touch but one hair of that poor girl's head and I'll kill you as I would kill a dog!" Oh, that some one would rush into court today down in Hoboken and save the life of Chris. Morley's che-ild, poor Little Mella Drammer. Mr. Morley went across the river and brought back the good old villain and hero plays of long ago, and for awhile fashionable society in New York went in herds. But you know how quickly society tires of a thing. Now Mr. Morley is asking for a receivership to save the dear old home, the heroine is lashed to the track, the cannonball express is just due, and the villain is twirling his long black mustache and saying to the gray-haired father, "Tomorrow and all the wor-ruld will know that D'Arcy O'Brien is a bankrupt. Ha ha!" Quick, the pulmotor!

CHICKEN POX SOMETIMES SERIOUS.

CHICKEN POX is generally regarded as a very mild disease, but it can be very troublesome and occasionally it is fatal. There are some years in which chicken pox causes more deaths in Chicago than smallpox, though neither is an important cause of death. There are many cases of chicken pox in which the patient is very sick, more so than is the rule with the mild smallpox that generally prevails in our time.

Chicken pox has been called the Saturday night disease because of the frequency with which it is discovered rather by accident when the child is stripped for the weekly thorough cleaning. But even in those cases chicken pox means an interruption of schooling for three weeks, during which there is quarantine of the home and more or less domestic disarrangement.

In children's hospitals and asylums the disease is no small menace to the successful management of the institution. In contagious disease hospitals some children develop chicken pox while in the institution, to the dismay of the management and with resultant distrust on the part of the family. Part of this is due to the fact that chicken pox is a disease with a long incubation period and part of it is due to exposure in the hospital.

We will say a child has been exposed to both scarlet fever and chicken pox and is scheduled to have both diseases. About three days later he gets sick with scarlet fever and is sent to a contagious disease hospital for that disease. Two weeks after he gets there, while he is convalescing from scarlet fever, he develops the chicken pox to which he had been exposed and which was incubating in his system when he was going through scarlet fever.

All of this led Drs. Gordon and Meader of Detroit to make a study of chicken pox. This study led them to the following conclusions: About 68 per cent of children who have not had chicken pox are susceptible to the disease; 32 per cent will not contract it after exposure. The susceptibility rates of two other investigators were 73 per cent and 75 per cent.

The incubation period of the disease was fourteen days. In a series of 67 cases two had an incubation period of 11 days, three of 12. Two developed after 20 days. The usual spread was from 13 to 17 days. The disease became infectious about one day before the eruption appeared.

Infectivity is high during the first five days of the eruption. Infectivity has almost disappeared by the end of the first week. Exposure to a case that has been broken out ten days or more seldom caused trouble.

Injection of a serum from a person who has recently recovered from the disease confers immunity. The immunity lasts only a few weeks. After about five months the blood serum of the convalescent is no longer capable of producing immunity.

Vaccination against chicken pox is not advisable.

CHASE THE DOG FIRST.

Mrs. H. M. T. writes: I am 61 years old. I went for a drive and had a dog along. In the evening I thought I had a flea from the dog. I commenced to burn and itch in spots. On retiring I found it was not fleas, as my back and hips were one mass of blotches and highly inflamed. I took a bath in strong soda water with a little alcohol added. The next day it was nearly gone. Then it came out on my feet. I took salts and a milk diet. I have an acid tongue. Can't eat strong cheese, vinegar, etc., as they give me heartburn. What is the matter with me and what should I do? I live many miles from a doctor.

REPLY.

Try dispensing with the dog. Your symptoms could have resulted from dog dandruff. You may be sensitized to it.

PROBABLY CHANGE IN HABITS.

Mrs. M. P. writes: As long as I can remember I had very soft fingernails. They bent and broke under the slightest provocation, making them look ragged and ugly. A few months ago I married and since then have been doing my own housework and leading what would be called a very active life compared to the more or less sedentary one I led before. Now my nails have become tough and strong and are easily kept looking well. To what do you attribute this sudden change—work, diet or what?

REPLY.

Probably to your change in habits. We will add the marriage cure to our list.

STEPS TO CITIZENSHIP.

Waukegan, Ill., Jan. 30.—[Friend of the People.]—How can I obtain my second citizenship papers? Since I have lived in Illinois only since January, 1928, I cannot provide witness here who have known me for five years.

H. S. J.

If the writer desires to apply for naturalization he should obtain form A-2214 from the clerk of the Circuit court at Waukegan or from this office [room 776, Postoffice building], fill it out immediately, and send it to this office, together with money order and photographs, as described on the back of the form.

He requires two citizens who have known him all the time he lived in Lake county, Illinois, during the five years, and should furnish the names and addresses of two citizens who knew him during the remainder of the five years that he lived outside of Lake county. The extra county residence may be proved by depositions which may be taken by the naturalization service, free of charge, provided the applicant furnishes the names and addresses of citizens qualified to give the testimony.

District Director of Naturalization.

OWNERSHIP OF DRUG STORES.

Coal City, Ill., Jan. 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In the event a druggist dies intestate, can his widow continue to own the drug store regardless of the recent drug store ownership law?

G. C. A.

The statute provides that "no person may purchase, lease, acquire, or establish a drug store or pharmacy except:

"1. A registered pharmacist in good standing."

"2. A partnership, each active member of which is a registered pharmacist in good standing; or

"3. A corporation, the officers of which are each registered pharmacists in good standing.

If it is not practicable to sell, we advise you to employ an attorney to make some arrangement, by deed in trust or otherwise, to satisfy the statute.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 5, 1865.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The infamous Black laws are no more. They went down into the gulf of oblivion at precisely 11 o'clock and ten minutes, nevermore to disgrace the Prairie state. The vote in the house was 49 to 30. The senate having done its part of the work several days since, the repeal bill now only needs the signature of Gov. Oglesby to become a law.

NEW YORK.—The World's Washington special says: "It is well known that President Lincoln, Secretary Seward and the rebel peace commissioners from Richmond held a long conference today at Fortress Monroe and radical congressmen who yesterday sneered at the whole peace affair do not hesitate to admit now that their faith is the other way." A dispatch to the Times from City Point says: "It is understood here that Mr. Stephens is instructed by Jeff Davis to make peace on the best terms he can, but to make peace."

NEW YORK.—Late southern papers repeat the statement made some time ago that Beauregard is to command in person the army lately under Gen. Hood in Tennessee and now under Gen. Dick Taylor.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Gov. Richard J. Oglesby vetoed the "horse railway swindle," the bill which granted to Chicago companies 99 year franchises in that city.

CHICAGO.—A large and highly enthusiastic meeting was held in Metropolitan hall to celebrate the veto of the horse railway bill by Gov. Oglesby. Throughout the afternoon citizens shouted their joy in the streets, all feeling as if they had been saved from civic bondage for a century to a soulless horse railway corporation.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 5, 1900.

LONDON.—Reports from three points, Durban, Ladysmith and Pietermaritzburg, indicate that Gen. Buller has set out to make good his boast of a week ago and that for the third time he is advancing to the relief of Gen. White and the beleaguered garrison of Ladysmith. The Durban report is that Buller crossed the Tugela river at a point above Trichards Drift and is marching to Acton Homes. A heavy battle may be in progress at this time.

WASHINGTON.—Great Britain has waived what rights it may have had to the Nicaraguan canal. After negotiations of more than a year it has been agreed that the provisions of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty shall in no way restrain the United States from building and controlling the proposed waterway. It is said England asks nothing other than a guarantee of neutrality, although it is understood that fortification by the United States will not be agreed to.

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Gov. Taylor will permit the body of William Goebel, slain Democratic contender for the governor's office, to lie in state in the capitol if the latter's friends desire it. Feeling is still running high. The Democratic legislature will meet at Louisville today, and the Republican legislature will meet at London at about the same hour.

CHICAGO.—The funeral train bearing the bodies of Maj. Gen. Henry W. Lawton, Maj. John A. Logan and Maj. John A. Armstrong, veterans who gave up their lives in the Philippines, arrived in Chicago.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 5, 1920.

CHICAGO.—The killing of Moss Enright led to the revelation of a bitter factional warfare between labor leaders which reached the point of murder threats and involved Enright as an aspirant for union honors with ambitions toward the presidency of the Chicago Federation of Labor. "Big Tim" Murphy, foe of Enright, is said to have declared he would "get" Moss a week ago. Michael Carozzo, president of the Street Cleaners' union and ally of Murphy, was identified in part by Anton Koller, janitor of Enright's flat, as the driver of the automobile from which Moss was shot to death.

LONDON.—Minister of Defense Neske of Germany, in an interview with the Daily Mail's Berlin correspondent, said that it is impossible to surrender the men demanded by the allies for trial for war crimes. In Paris Baron von Lersner, German chargé d'affaires, said: "Germany will never surrender these men."

SANTA BARBARA, Cal.—E. P. Ripley, chairman of the board of the Santa Fé railroad system, died here from complications following an operation he underwent in Chicago several months ago. He was 74 years old.

BARBERTON, O.—Ohio C. Barber, 79, millionaire match king and known as the organizer of the "daddy of all trusts," died on his model farm here of pneumonia. His widow, formerly his private secretary, survives him. His estate is estimated at $10,000,000.

THE MAGAZINES OF '61.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—"R. V. M." asks for information as to the arms used in the civil war. I had at one time quite a collection of war relics.

In the beginning the Union army was armed with Springfield muzzle loading rifles and muskets, many of which were purchased in Belgium. A few had Sharp's breech loaders using a paper cartridge and fired with a percussion cap in the breech block. There were some Henry repeating rifles using a copper .44 caliber cartridge, and holding sixteen shots. In 1864 the Spencer repeating carbine came into use in the cavalry, a seven shot gun using a copper bottle neck cartridge of .56 or .58 caliber.

In the confederate army there were many Springfields in use, captured from the army stores in the south, also shotguns and Kentucky [squirrel] rifles using a half ounce round ball. The difficulty of getting fixed ammunition kept back the use of breech loading arms in the south, and such weapons captured from the northern troops were practically useless. The Minie bullet so often mentioned in print was not always fired from any particular arm, as it was a conical bullet with a hollow base. On ramming it down this base was supposed to expand and fit the rifling. Sometimes it did, but I have picked up hundreds on the old battle fields which showed no signs of close contact.

I believe that in some branches, cavalry, scouts, etc., the troops were allowed any arm they wished to furnish themselves, the U. S. furnishing suitable ammunition. Most of the Henry rifles were used in this way. This rifle was the forerunner of the present Winchester. The Sharp was a large gun in most sizes, made to take fixed ammunition or a paper cylinder with a bullet in one end and powder in the other. On closing the gun the breech block clipped the end of the paper and a percussion cap fired the charge. The Winchester single shot of today is patterned after it. Some Remington breech loaders were used towards the close of the war, also Maynards and lesser known makes. L. R. BAKER.

PANHANDLING CONGRESS.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Many suggestions have been made as to the best means to be used in relieving Chicago's present financial plight. It occurs to me that there is but one way out of the difficulty, and that is to appeal to the federal government for a loan sufficient to enable Chicago to meet its obligations.

Nothing can be achieved by casting slurs on the Thompson administration. The city is confronted by a condition, not a theory. Its fair name is being dragged through the mire by muckrakers whose only aim seems to be the political destruction of Mayor Thompson.

The United States did not hesitate to go to the rescue of the allies during the world war to the tune of several billion dollars, why then should the present government hesitate to come to the rescue of its own children by granting a comparatively small loan to relieve the tenseness of the present situation?

The government would be running a risk, and it would indeed be a gracious act on the part of the Hoover administration. Congress being now in session the facts could be clearly and ably presented by the governor of the state and the mayor of the city. If prompt action in that respect is taken the matter will then be speedily and happily adjusted.

J. JAMES O'CONNOR.

MALIGNING THE CONSTABLE.

Cascade, Ia., Jan. 28.—In your editorial, "School for Police," was one paragraph that I resented very much. You referred to the town marshal, or town constable as you call him, as the town loafer.

This town has two marshals, one day and one night. I am the day marshal and also superintendent of waterworks and superintendent of sewers. The night man acts as assistant to these offices. My duty as superintendent of water and sewer is to pump the water, read the meters, see that all services are kept in good order, repair any breakdown of pumping machinery and keep the sewage disposal plant in working order and also oversee all sewer and water connections.

You see I have quite a bit of time to loaf. My hours as "town loafer" are from 7 in the morning until 9 at night, a nice short day, and it certainly is a snap during those hours to try to please everybody. I know when you wrote the editorial you thought the town marshal was too lazy to even read the paper.

NO LARGER GAS TAX.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—I want to answer "Tribune Reader," who recommended that 3 to 5 cents per gallon be added to the gasoline tax to pay administration expenses.

In proportion to their numbers motor trucks are by far the largest consumers of gasoline, and should the present tax be increased that would mean additional operating costs. These additional costs would only be passed on to the ultimate consumer and in the final analysis the increased cost on the commodities which the real estate owner is constantly using would more than offset any savings effected by his plan.

Furthermore, under existing conditions it is questionable as to whether his plan would be practicable. Take as an example one subject concerning which your valued paper has given considerable publicity. I refer to the city vehicle tax fund to which motor trucks have contributed quite a sum. The proceeds of this tax were to be used for street repairs, but you know from your investigations how much progress has been made on these repairs.

MORGAN SERVES AS ARBITRATOR IN RADIO MERGER

Senate Quiz Gets Facts in I. T. & T.-R. C. A. Deal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Cables and correspondence indicating that J. P. Morgan & Co. sought to act as arbiters rather than dictators in negotiations which resulted in the agreement for purchase, subject to federal government approval, of the Radio Corporation of America's communication services by the International Telephone and Telegraph company were placed in the senate interstate commerce committee's record today.

Under the agreement, Radio corporation stockholders will receive 400,000 shares of I. T. & T. stock, with a market value of $90,000,000, 200,000 shares to be delivered upon governmental approval of the merger and 200,000 shares to be delivered in blocks of 40,000 annually for five years.

Produce Voluminous File.

Only a portion of the voluminous file produced by Sosthenes Behn, president of the I. T. & T., in response to the committee's demand, was made public, but that portion showed that J. P. Morgan & Co., who at various times have acted as bankers for the two principals, sought to bring about a compromise when it seemed the negotiations in progress during February and March, 1929, were about to collapse.

Owen D. Young, then chairman of the Radio corporation, and David Sarnoff, then the corporation's general manager and now its president, refused to consider less than their original demand for 400,000 shares of I. T. & T. stock, according to correspondence which disclosed that Behn insisted that 150,000 shares of I. T. & T. stock, with option to subscribe to an additional 150,000 shares at $250 was "a very generous price," contending that the net physical value of the R. C. A. communications services was probably not in excess of $15,000,000, with possible earnings of $1,500,000.

The correspondence did not disclose why Behn finally agreed to pay approximately three times more for the services than he believed them to be worth, but it generally is understood that he was faced with the necessity of absorbing the R. C. A., already in control of the European field, or fighting it for control of South American radio communications.

Moved to Break Deadlock.

When the two companies were deadlocked, Morgan & Co., through Lamont and N. D. Jay, stepped into the situation, according to the cables and letters, proposing a compromise price of 300,000 shares of I. T. & T. stock, with a market value of $67,500,000. In support of their proposal, the Morgan offices in New York cabled Lamont and Jay in Paris on March 19, 1929, as follows:

"It would be very difficult to justify a delivery of 400,000 shares of Radio corporation communications and give that property a reasonable and representative value on the books of the International. Three hundred thousand shares is a very liberal offer, and as much as could be justified by values taking into account continuing licenses from Radio corporation, General Electric and Westinghouse."

Sarnoff, in the correspondence, justified his demand for immediate delivery of 200,000 shares of I. T. & T., on the ground that the latter company would not be "diluting" its present earnings, since the Radio communications showed net earnings for 1928 of about $1,500,000, and he estimated that the net earnings in 1929 would be not less than $2,000,000, or $10 a share for the 200,000 shares.

Reverse Order of Radio Fails to Fool Elmer

Finds New Announcement Method Novel.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Now and then a program director turns things around a bit and we enjoy a novelty. In the orchestra program of French music from New York, through W-G-N, 8 to 8:30, titles of numbers were not announced until a group had been played. As background musical entertainment the scheme works first rate. However, I could not recall the titles, familiar as most of them were, while they were being played.

The important weekly program from New York, through KYW, 9 to 9:30 [formerly at 6:30 o'clock], came in most attractively at its later hour. It is an orchestra program with a chorus of mixed voices.

The Pace Jubilee singers closed their series of programs of folk songs and spirituals from W-G-N, 8:30 to 9. This organization has undoubtedly made many friends.

Jean Goldkette's augmented dance orchestra, in its weekly offering from W-G-N, 9:30 to 10, demonstrated how high hat a syncopation orchestra can be. I take it that the piece used for this high purpose was Korsakow's "Caprice Espagnole." The number sounded as though it were being played by quite a large size symphony orchestra.

It was gratifying to hear again the very excellent Chicago baritone, Albert Boroff, on the WENR 9 to 10 orchestral program.

COMMONS DEFIES HOUSE OF LORDS; BACKS UP LABOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The house of commons in its row with the house of lords over the unemployment insurance bill late tonight openly defied the peers by adopting, without division, the Labor government's compromise. The measure alters an amendment providing the law should run only one year, which was passed by the house of lords, by extending the time limit to three years.

Prime Minister MacDonald, in taking up the challenge of the house of lords, said that "the lords by insisting upon its amendment encroached upon the privileges of the house of commons and is another illustration that the house of lords, as a revising assembly, cannot be trusted." He thereupon proposed to amend the lords' amendment.

The bill now automatically goes back to the house of lords for its agreement to the time of compromise of the house of commons. This is the first conflict between the Labor government and the house of lords, and should the peers refuse the new amendment, dissolution of parliament and new elections may be considered necessary.

GRAND FUNERAL IN ROME TODAY FOR DUCE'S PAL

ROME, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The funeral tomorrow of Michele Bianchi, one of the "quairumvirs" in the Fascist march on Rome in 1922, promises to be one of the most impressive in Fascist history. There will be no music—nothing but the roll of drums will be heard as black shirted compatriots bear the coffin on their shoulders through silent streets.

At the graveside Bianchi's name will be called from the muster roll and the assembled Fascist dignitaries will respond. Only two wreaths will be allowed on the coffin—that of the king and that of Premier Mussolini. Bianchi had requested that no flowers be sent. That the money instead be spent for charity in his native province of Calabria.

Mussolini himself today visited the bier of the Fascist pioneer who died last night. The premier appeared deeply moved. He stood rigid a few moments in the Roman salute, and departed silently.

Moody, who died in Santa Monica on Monday, was the commercial editor of the Chicago Daily News when Melville Stone was managing editor. He retired twelve years ago. Moody held a life membership in the Press club and had been a member of the Board of Trade.

STAY AWAY FROM RUSSIA, GERMANS WARN INDUSTRIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—The Vossische Zeitung tomorrow sounds a warning to all business men seeking concessions or planning to invest money in soviet Russia, and cites the Moscow trial of two German business men, Dr. Dittloff and Dr. Weimert, as unfair and subsequent sentences unjust.

They went to Russia for a seed company and agreed to build houses for Russian workmen and keep them in clothes, provided the necessary material could be obtained in the Russian markets, the paper alleges. The article adds material was unavailable and the completion of the houses and delivery of goods were delayed. The court, it says, despite testimony in favor of the Germans, gave them the heaviest fine possible.

"Always in Good Humor" says Bill "and my Folks, too"

Happy Days' Message for all Grown-Ups in Letter from Baby

YOUNG Bill Freeman, Jr., of 707 South Street, Key West, Florida, has started in early telling the world his secret of health. "I don't know that I would have been the cause for divorce" writes Bill, through his mother, "but certainly the first three months of my life my mother was a nervous wreck, and so was I. I never saw father because he didn't like my disposition—and every day it was a fight at our house—either castor oil or an enema, and I was just about ready to quit home.

"Finally, they started in giving me a half teaspoonful of Nujol night and morning. I am five months old now, and I take Nujol every other night, which keeps me so well regulated that I am always in good humor, and so are my folks. Mother says she will be glad to answer any questions regarding my health and happiness."

William's mother has discovered for him, as you see, the simple secret that many a person never finds, even in a long lifetime—the secret of the brimming, buoyant, joyous happiness that comes from bodily health.

How simple it is, after all. No drugs, no medicines, no irritating cathartics. Just simple and natural lubrication which our bodies need as much as any machine.

Nujol is not absorbed by the body; it is non-fattening; it can form no habit; it cannot hurt the smallest baby. What it does is keep our bodies internally clean of the poisons we all have and which, unless they are swept away as regularly as clock work, give us headaches, make us feel sick, low in our minds, blue, down on the world.

Nujol is as tasteless and colorless as pure water. Start this very night and see how different you will feel after a few days. Keep your body clean inside with Nujol. You can buy it at any drug store in a sealed package. It costs but a few cents, and it makes you feel like a million dollars. With millions of people all over the world keeping well with Nujol there is no reason why you, too, should not be joyous, full of pep, with the happiness that comes of good health. NEW 'POISON PEN' MYSTERY STIRS RIDGEWOOD, N. J.

Residents Called Before U. S. Grand Jury.

New York, Feb. 4.—[Special.]—The "poison pen" mystery which enthralled Ridgewood, N. J., two years ago began a return engagement today with the service of subpoenas upon several residents of that town and its vicinity, summoning them to appear before a federal grand jury for questioning in connection with anonymous threatening letters received by Walter Burnett, Ridgewood electrician, who figured in the earlier case.

Woman Seriously Ill.

Miss Sarah B. Mowell, who was acquitted two years ago of having written "poison pen" notes to Mrs. Frank Von Moschzisker of Ridgewood, wife of a Pennsylvania railroad attorney, was said today to be seriously ill, and it was understood that her condition had delayed investigation of the letters received by Burnett during the last few weeks.

In Miss Mowell's trial, Burnett testified that he had smoked with Mrs. Moschzisker and had drinks with her in her home, that she called him "dear boy" and saw him also in her husband's office. Mrs. Moschzisker denied this and displayed a "poison pen" letter demanding $20,000 in exchange for "silence."

Inquiry Concerns 2 Notes.

The current investigation concerns two notes to Burnett, one warning him that he would be taken for a ride, and the other warning him that his home and shop would be destroyed by fire. He has been silent about these notes, on advice of U. S. Attorney Phillip Foreman.

During the trial of Miss Mowell it was testified that she and Burnett had been keeping company for several years, and Prosecutor Breslin charged him, before the jury, with inducing Miss Mowell to write blackmail letters to Mrs. Moschzisker because he needed money badly in his contracting business.

APPEAL OF KEY SUIT IN ILLINOIS GAS TAX FIGHT IS DISMISSED

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—The appeal of the McHenry County Oil company in the key suit involving the validity of the Illinois gas tax law was dismissed in the state Supreme court today. The dismissal was asked by the company.

Attorney General Carlstrom will now ask the dismissal of the 220 pending suits, which are holding up taxes collected since the new gas tax law became effective in October. The cases will be called in the Circuit court on Thursday.

Disposition of this litigation will make available for the 1930 road building program about 15 million dollars.

Indianapolis Man Gives Wabash College $100,000

Crawfordsville, Ind., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Louis B. Hopkins, president of Wabash college, announced today a gift of $100,000 to the Wabash Centennial fund from Charles N. Williams, Indianapolis. A few weeks ago announcement was made of a gift of $50,000 from Judge Albert B. Anderson, who recently resigned as a judge of the Circuit court of Appeals in Chicago.

Yankees Break 2 Quebec Records—Tourist, Liquor

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 4.—Record influx of American tourists into Quebec province last year was reflected in the record earnings reported by Quebec's liquor commission for 1928-'29, which totaled $27,007,430. Net operating profit also constituted a new record at $8,043,752, to which was added $1,044,515 from seizures.

JURY HOLDS FATE OF FORMER JUDGE WHO KILLED GIRL

Attorney Blames Slaying on Bootleg Liquor.

Courtroom, Austin, Tex., Feb. 4.—(AP)—John W. Brady's murder trial was left in a jury's charge tonight. Final arguments were completed at 4:55 p. m. At midnight the jury retired, but will resume its deliberations tomorrow morning.

District Attorney Henry Brooks, son of Brady's former law partner, made the state's final accusation that the former Appellate court judge, in sound mind and with an intention to murder, stabbed to death Miss Lehlia Highsmith, a stenographer.

Plead Former Character.

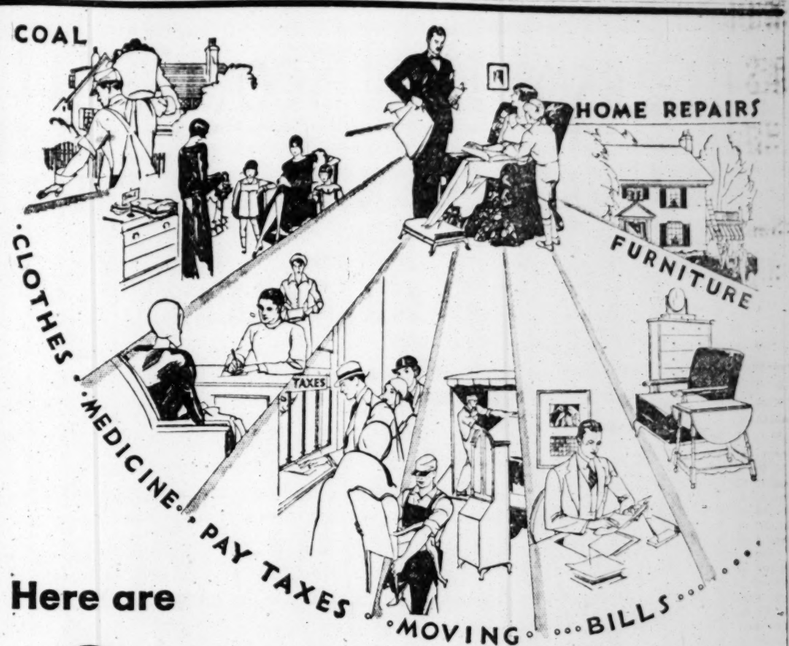
"It is as much your duty to give justice to John Brady, our friend, as it is mine to stand here and prosecute John Brady, my friend," Brooks, white faced and trembling, said in the closing argument.

E. A. Berry, chief attorney of the defense, like Brady, an elderly man and friend of the former jurist, pleaded for mercy, saying as he turned slowly away:

"I submit into your hands the fate of John W. Brady. I submit with it all he has ever been."

Blame Bootleg Liquor.

For hours the defense argued that Brady was a brilliant man, stripped of his strength and made insane by long use of bootleg liquor, but the state insisted that he employed his knife as a jealous elderly lover. Much was made of the insanity issue, the defense lawyers conceding Brady's act was not that of the Brady who once sat on the prosecution side of the table and later as an assistant attorney general.



Here are

why you may need $300

IF you had an extra $300 today—what could you do with it? Pay up scattered bills, buy winter clothing, coal, or household supplies—perhaps pay for necessary medical attention. If you need money for these or any other good reasons, "Household" will advance $100 to $300 without delay.

No Fines—No Fees
No Deductions

You get the entire amount. When you borrow $300 you get $300. All loans are made on basis of repayment in twenty months, but you may repay in full at any time—interest is charged only on unpaid principal balance.

Save Nearly
⅓ Interest Cost

By limiting our service to loans of $100 to $300, "Household" is able to reduce the interest rate to 2½ % per month—a saving of nearly one-third. Thus the total cost of a $200 loan for 30 days is only $5.00. Other amounts for longer periods, at proportionate cost.

A Statement About Small Loans by Household Finance Corporation

We Make Loans of $100 to $300 at 2½% per Month

There are classes of loans which require the rate of 3½% per month

The Household Finance Corporation wishes to impress upon the public that any licensee who makes loans of less than $100, and a certain class of loans of larger amounts is, in our opinion, entitled to and is justified in charging the maximum rate of 3½% per month. We could not afford to make loans of less than $100 at less than 3½%. The 3½% rate is not the fixed rate that licensees must charge, but is simply the maximum rate permitted by the State Small Loan Law on loans up to $300.

If you need $100 to $300 you owe it to yourself to see us first.

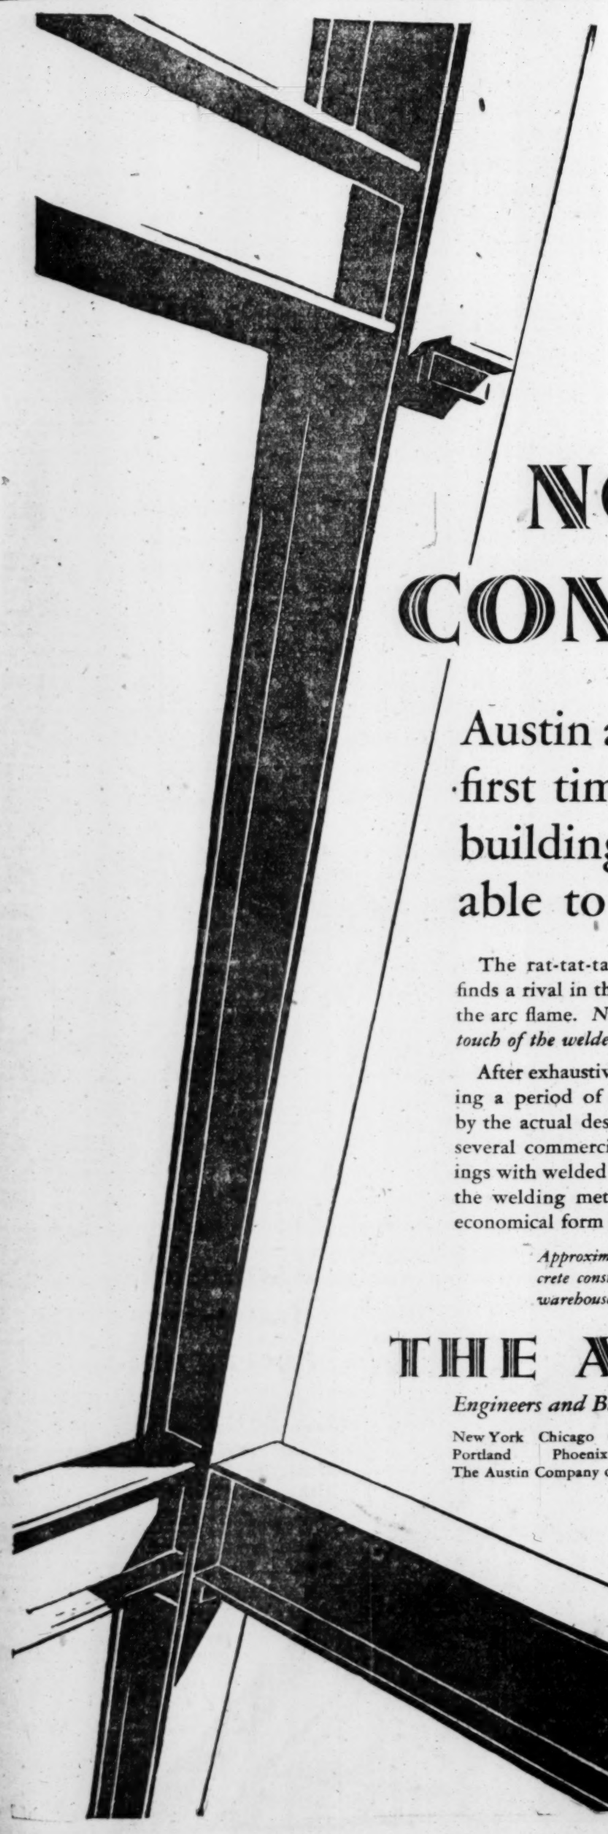
NOISELESS CONSTRUCTION!



Austin announces a New Era... for the first time in history, the welded steel building is offered at a cost comparable to other forms of construction

The rat-tat-tat of riveting hammers finds a rival in the alluring blue sizzle of the arc flame. Now buildings grow at the touch of the welder's torch!

After exhaustive research and tests, during a period of over 5 years, followed by the actual design and construction of several commercial and industrial buildings with welded steel, Austin now offers the welding method as a practical and economical form of construction.

Austin believes that the welding process deserves a broader use than has been practical heretofore, and today is prepared to quote on either welded or riveted construction for projects anywhere from Coast to Coast.

Eliminating noise . . . providing great strength by fusing many steel members into one rigid structure, with possible savings in steel, welded construction is worthy of consideration for your contemplated project.

Approximate costs and interesting data on welded or riveted steel, or reinforced concrete construction will be gladly furnished for your new main or branch plant, warehouse, or commercial building. Wire, phone or write to nearest Austin office.

RING BOARD CLEARS CARNERA; SUSPENDS RIOUX

LEAGUE OWNERS END BROOKLYN INTERNAL WAR

Robinson to Manage Team Two Years.

New York, Feb. 4.—[Special.]—The club owners of the National league, in session at the Hotel Commodore, today succeeded in bringing about a conciliation among the warring factions in the Brooklyn baseball club and devising a peace pact that finally proved acceptable to both the McKeever and Ebbets interests in the club. This war to end wars in the Dodger camp, which consumed more than four hours, concluded with the acceptance of the following terms of settlement:

Uncle Wilbert Robinson, storm center of the Robins' internal feud the last three years, is to be retained as manager for two years, receiving a civi as well as a baseball contract to insure his retention for that period. But he resigns as president of the club and also as a member of the board of directors.

Yorke Will Be President.

Frank B. Yorke, attorney for the club and a McKeever director, is to be elected president for a term of two years.

Joseph Gilleaudeau, Ebbets estate representative and also a director, will be named a fourth director to succeed Uncle Robbie.

Steve McKeever, of course, remains a director, and a fifth director, a post that has been vacant ever since the death of John Scholl, is to be appointed by John A. Heydler, president of the National league.

The new board, therefore, will consist of McKeever, Yorke, Gilleudeau, two members to be appointed by Gilleaudeau and Heydler, and as soon as these appointments are made Heydler is to call a meeting for the election of the officers of the club.

Both Sides Satisfied.

Intervention by the National league club owners was made upon the request of the Brooklyn delegation, which, in the hours preceding the meeting, had made a last but futile attempt to settle the tangle among themselves.

After the meeting both Robbie and McKeever, at odds for several years, though once friends, expressed themselves as satisfied. Robbie, in particular, appeared overjoyed at the prospect of devoting his full time to managing a club without being encumbered by other executive duties.

YANKEES STAND FIRM

New York, Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Babe Ruth's blast from Florida that he will engage in coupon clipping in the event that he doesn't get his $85,000 for three years' failed to discomfit Col. Ruppert, millionaire owner of the Yanks and the other member of baseball's most famous salary controversy.

"Jake," as the boys call the colonel, did not rush a battery of typewriters into action to answer the Bambino's tirade. The present policy of the Yanks is to meet the Bam's darts with a calm and dignified silence.

"We always have treated Ruth fairly and have made him a proposition which has never before been made to a ball player," said Ruppert. "Every one in baseball tells us we have been most fair. Our offer of $158,000 will not be raised. It is my opinion that Ruth has been badly advised."

Believe Extras Would Cease.

The Yankees point out that all of the extras that Ruth makes out of baseball, his radio talks, baseball writings and his testimonials for indorsing suspenders, belts, underwear, chocolate bars, etc., are dependent on his remaining in baseball as a home run hitting regular. They believe that if Ruth made good his threat to retire all these extras suddenly would cease.

It appears, on the other hand, that Babe Ruth can well afford to hold out against the New York Yankees until they give him $85,000 a year. His financial position is such that he can carry out his threat to retire from baseball unless the Yankees come through with his demand for a three year contract for that sum. A statement he made public yesterday regarding his financial condition contained this paragraph:

"I have saved exactly $150,000 in less than three years, which pays me a dividend every three months. And any one who thinks that figure padded can write to the presidents of the Bank of Manhattan and the Equitable Life Assurance company, both in New York City."

Inquiries were made today at both the institutions mentioned in Ruth's statement and from all that could be learned Babe Ruth can twiddle his thumbs the rest of his days if he so desired.

Tony Canzoneri Suspended Indefinitely in New York

New York, Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Tony Canzoneri, former world's featherweight champion and a recognized contender for the world's lightweight title, was suspended indefinitely today by the state athletic commission in concurrence with action taken by the Pennsylvania boxing authorities. Canzoneri failed to fulfill a contract to box Steve Smith in Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 29, as a consequence of the beating he received at the hands of Jack (Kid) Berg Jan. 17.

Hockey Scores

Les Canadiens, 3; Toronto, 1.
Boston, 3; Detroit, 1.
Ottawa, 5; Pittsburgh, 1.
New York Americans, 5; New York Rangers, 1.

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—For the second time in two years the New York Americans ended their season's National Hockey league rivalry with the New York Rangers on even terms, taking the final game tonight, 5 to 3. It gave the teams two victories apiece for the year.

A brilliant defense, coupled with quick, effective thrusts of their light and fast forwards, won the game for the Americans and avenged the disputed 4 to 3 triumph of the Rangers a week ago. Weakened by the loss of Ching Johnson, the Ranger defense was inferior.

Two penalties in the final period turned the tide against the Rangers after they had fought their way from behind to a 3 to 3 tie. With two Bluecoats off the ice, the Americans staged a four man attack that brought the winning goal from McVeigh's stick in 18:30. Then, 38 seconds later, Simpson passed to Himes for another counter.

Herrera Wins 10 Round Decision from Wagner

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Tony Herrera, Chicago lightweight gave Eddie [Kid] Wagner of Philadelphia, a beating in ten rounds here tonight. Herrera knocked Wagner down twice in the first round for no count and put him down for a count of nine in the eighth round. The bout was halted for a few minutes in the fifth round when Wagner was struck low.

FLORIDA WASTES PROVIDE HAVEN FOR WILD BIRDS

Becker Finds Cranes and Storks in Barren Home.

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Punta Gorda, Fla., Feb. 4.—Northern states have their barren lands, their thousands of acres of low grade soil which should go back to nature as lands for growing crops of trees and wild game. About a month ago we saw such lands in Michigan, mile after mile of scrub oaks and jack pines.

Yesterday on a rough trip east of this little Florida town we discovered that Florida can match some of the northern states in lonely, silent, almost limitless stretches of uninhabited barrens.

Miles of Deserted Prairie.

As far as the eye can reach you can see nothing but deserted prairie, flat as a table top and fading into a blue haze in the distance. Oppressively silent and deserted, with nary a cabin to lift its roof above the horizon, those low barrens (reminding us of the little known pampas country which we saw along the frontier of British Guiana and Brazil) are broken only by a clump of cabbage palms or a "head" of moss draped cypress trees. Occasionally one of these groves of cypress, a somber gray mass because of the Spanish moss, stands out on the prairie barrens like a small hill.

Yesterday we invaded a vast stretch of these prairie barrens through which a forlorn sandy, bumpy old trail winds its way. Looking across these forgotten lands (the nearest house is ten miles away) when the sandhill cranes were trumpeting their resonant notes and the big storks or wood ibises were circling over a shallow pond near a round clump of cabbage palms, we had the impression that we were a thousand miles from nowhere.

Give Up Attempt to Cultivate.

These barrens, covered with grass and palmettos and broken with palms and cypress groves where the wild turkey still finds a refuge, belong to the outdoors man and wild birds today. We saw indications of attempts by settlers to cultivate some of the land. But they have given up the job.

Cochran Leads Reiselt in 3 Cushion Play, 200 to 185

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia cut heavily into Welker Cochran's lead in their three cushion billiards match today but the one time 18.2 balkline champion from Hollywood still led tonight, 200 to 185. Cochran won the afternoon block, 50 to 36 in 33 innings. Reiselt came back with an 80 to 50 victory tonight in 85 innings.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

CARNERA AND RIOUX.

ABOUT the only redeeming feature, if any, of the Carnera-Rioux fiasco at the Stadium was the fact that top price for seats was $5.99. Apportioned, this might be $4 for the prelims which the King Tut-Flowers bout made worth it, $1.90 to see Carnera in ring togs for those with that kind of curiosity, and 9 cents for the action between Carnera and Rioux, to be classed as an overcharge.

ELZEAR RIOUX.

In thirty years of viewing and reporting boxing contests we never have seen cruder effort to find the canvas than those of Carnera's so-called opponent. Of course, not much opposition was expected, for that is not part of the "upbuilding" program for the Italian, but a "rehearsal" should have produced a less ludicrous scene. In other words, the show looked "too bad" to be a "frame." But The Wake ever was a trusting soul.

Ladies at Boxing Shows.

We told you last week we were to attend the Carnera-Rioux affair in a party of which a member was a lady who went in for books, music and art; that because we ordinarily have reportorial duties, we never had attended a boxing bout with a lady; and that we would record the reactions of the lady to the gory scene. Well, as you know, there was no gory scene.

The reactions of the lady who goes in for books, music and art—as we interpreted them—were not widely different from those of masculine spectators in our vicinity. Her "Poke him on the chin, Tut," during the Flowers bout reminded one of the immortal "It 'im in the slats, Bob," which the spouse of Bob Fitzsimmons admonished from the ringside when the latter defeated Jim Corbett for the title at Carson City in 1897. Her "Why, you big yellow dog!" as Rioux sought a soft spot on the canvas reflected composite sentiment of the opposite sex. Yes, we have attended a boxing contest with a lady who ordinarily goes in for books, music and art.

11 of Kid Howard's Best Enter Golden Gloves Quest

Howard Carr, identified as Kid Howard in boxing, yesterday nominated eleven for THE TRIBUNE'S annual Golden Gloves tournament. Trials will be held in three sections of the city, Feb. 11, 14 and 17, with all finals at the Coliseum Feb. 25 to 28.

Carr, affiliated with boxing for 25 years, developed a team in 1922 that won THE TRIBUNE'S first amateur tourney.

Fighters All Training.

Tom Vittacco and Sam Solari will carry Arcade gymnasium colors in the 122 pound class. Howard operates this gym. Charles Bartusiak, Leo Ranerl, and Willie Capitano will box as featherweights, while John O'Dishoo will show as a welterweight. Gene Stanley, Jock Pauline, and Gus Brandt, stiff right hand punchers, will be the gymnasium's representatives in the middleweight division.

James Lambeth will contest in the light heavyweight class and John Sokil will compete as a heavyweight. All entrants now are in training at the Arcade, receiving instruction from Howard.

The Belle Plaine A. C., which has developed many clever fighters, including Jimmy Chase, now an up and coming professional, will be represented by ten fighters. Earl Young, Joe Sprafka, Raymond Peterson, John Valleck, Eddie Upgard, and William Stewart are among some of the fighters President Marshall Richey has entered under the Belle Plaine A. C. banner.

Central Entries Closed.

Entries for the central sectional tests at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium Tuesday night, closed yesterday. More than 200 fighters will compete with four in each class qualifying for the finals at the Coliseum. When all entrants are listed in the three trials it is expected that the number to compete at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium will approach 250, probably necessitating two day trials.

Entries for the north section preliminaries at the Fronton Feb. 14, close Friday.

Winners of first and second places in each class in the Coliseum finals will make up the Chicago team that opposes New York at the Chicago Stadium March 19. Tickets for both shows are on sale at THE TRIBUNE'S public service office, 1 South Dearborn street. Admission prices are one, two and three dollars with no tax.

Knighthood's Still in Flower, Golden Glove Meet Proves

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—The days when knights fought for their ladies fair is not over in Indiana—at least in Mishawaka.

As an aftermath to the thrilling finals of the South Bend News-Times-CHICAGO TRIBUNE Golden Gloves tournament held in the armory here last night, a romance with a punch in it has been found. James Lamberson, 17 year old Greek bootblack of Mishawaka, appeared at the office of Mortimer P. Reed, general manager of the News-Times, this afternoon in response to an announcement that the eight winners last night could have engraved on the back of the golden gloves medal anything they desired.

James was all smiles while he was instructing Mr. Reed "I want you to engrave on the back of that medal my name, the division I fought in and the following—" won by me for the sake of ——." And then James told the name of his girl, a pretty young miss of Mishawaka.

"You see, Mr. Reed," James continued, "that's my girl and we had an understanding that if I lost last night I'd lose her, too. Gee, I'm glad I won. I'm crazy about her and——." James stopped to blush. "And she's sure wild about me."

St. Goddard Wins Again in Ottawa Dog Derby

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Emile St. Goddard of The Pas again set the pace in the second heat of the Ottawa international dog derby today when he covered the first 12 miles of the 33 mile course in 56 minutes, a minute more than his good time yesterday.

GET A COACH OR WE'LL QUIT, DEFI OF GOPHER FROSH

Minnesota Job Narrows to Crisler, Bierman.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Faced with the prospect of losing several members of the freshman football squad unless a coach satisfactory to the players is signed, sports authorities at the University of Minnesota still cast about tonight for a successor to Dr. Clarence Spears, who resigned two weeks ago.

Although the senate committee on intercollegiate athletics has been at work since Dr. Spears accepted the post as head coach at the University of Oregon, it apparently was little nearer a solution of its program than it was a week ago. Spring football practice at Minnesota is scheduled to start within two weeks.

Admits Chicago Visit.

Two names continued to receive prominent mention among the possible appointees—Bernie Bierman of Tulane and Fritz Crisler of the University of Chicago, but no official word was forthcoming from the Minnesota committee, which had maintained silence since it began its task.

Two members of the committee, William Middlebrook and Ernest B. Pierce, who were absent from the city yesterday, and were reported to have conferred with candidates for the post in Chicago, returned today, but declined to comment. Middlebrook admitted he had been in Chicago, but refused to disclose the purpose of his visit.

As the senate committee continued to struggle with its task, other athletic difficulties arose. This was the word from Louis Gross, head freshman coach, that several of his charges have asked him whether they should remain at Minnesota in view of the unsettled athletic conditions.

Appeal for Patience.

Some dissatisfaction has been expressed with the senate committee's handling of the coaching problem. It was believed some of the freshmen may follow Dr. Spears to the west coast and matriculate at Oregon in order to play under him. Dr. Spears takes charge at Oregon after Feb. 15.

Loss of the best part of its sophomore crop would seriously handicap prospects for the 1930 Gopher football machine, already hard hit through graduation or the playing limit rule. Meanwhile the senate committee continued at work but declined to make any statement other than an appeal for patience.

HANDS ELZEAR $1,000 FINE FOR BEING 'SCARED'

Just a Poor Fight, No Fake.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Elzear Rioux of Montreal, who was knocked out in 47 seconds by Primo Carnera, the giant man of Italy, at the Chicago Stadium last Friday night, was fined $1,000 and suspended indefinitely from boxing in Illinois by the state athletic commission yesterday.

Carnera was exonerated from being a party to a fraudulent match and, according to the finding of the commission, was just a big bogey man who scowled once or twice at Rioux and frightened the French Canadian so badly the latter couldn't stay on his feet. After the hearing Carnera's purse of $16,000 was ordered paid. Rioux's fine was deducted from the $3,000 he was to have received for meeting the Italian.

Agree That Rioux Quit.

All the evidence submitted indicated there wasn't any doubt but that Rioux had given a fine exhibition of dry tank diving. But after questioning the principals and their representatives the commission believed it wasn't a framed up dive but rather a plunge into the dry tank caused by fear.

E. L. Cook and W. A. Beattye, the judges at the fight, testified the three punches Primo landed did not carry enough force to knock out an opponent. The evidence which Referee Dave Barry submitted indicated the final punch handed to Rioux was a glancing blow and was the only punch which could have upset any fighter.

Just an Off Night.

"I had an off night," Rioux told members of the commission after appearing somewhat hazy about some previous knockouts which had been handed him. "My muscles would not respond and I could hardly hold up my hands. I am always nervous before a fight but not quite as much as I was before this one. I didn't know what it was all about after Carnera hit me the first time."

Referee Dave Barry testified Rioux appeared frightened half to death when he called the two boxers to the center of the ring to give them instructions before the fight started.

In announcing the decision, the commissioners said they were of the opinion Rioux had not given the public a fair exhibition.

"Whether this performance was due to fear or other emotional reasons we were unable to determine," read the verdict. Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the commission, pointed out that Rioux had made a great uphill fight against Heine Mueller of Germany in the same arena a short time ago and that it was unable to determine why he did not display the same ability against the Italian.

Rioux Day Late Arriving.

The commission was satisfied no conspiracy existed between the two fighters or between their managers. Depositions submitted by Carnera and his managers stated they had never met Rioux until weighing in time on the afternoon of the fight. Leon Cei testified he had been a figure in boxing in France for twenty years and never was accused of being a party to a fake. Carnera's statement said "Cei told me to knock out Rioux in a punch if possible."

"The commission is satisfied there was no fraud," Chairman Clinnin said after the hearing. "We have investigated every angle and have not found a tangible piece of information to show the fight was fixed."

The hearing brought out the information that the Carnera-Rioux fight was to have been the semi-windup, with King Tut and Bruce Flowers meeting in the main event. For unknown reasons the order of fights was switched.

SHARKEY-SCOTT FIGHT PROGRAM IS COMPLETED

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The supporting card for Jack Sharkey's heavyweight match with Phil Scott in Miami, Fla., Feb. 27, was announced today at Madison Square Garden. Johnny Risko, the Cleveland baker boy, will meet Victorio Campolo, husky Argentine, in the 10 round semi-final.

Another ten round match brings together Tommy Loughran, former light heavyweight champion, and Pierre Charles of Belgium; the first ten rounder pairs Jimmy Maloney of Boston and Moise Bouquillon, French heavyweight; George Cook, British veteran, opens the card in a six round bout with Paul Bianchi of the Argentine.

STARS AND BARS RETURNS TO FORM IN N. O. HANDICAP

V. Smith Rides 3 Winners at Fair Grounds.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 4—(AP)—Running back to his January winning days, Stars and Bars today carried the colors of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable to victory in the St. Bernard handicap at the Fair Grounds.

With Verlyn Smith in the saddle the 4 year old son of Pennant was much the best of his four rivals, finishing eight lengths in front of Miss Blanche Watson's Lord Bradalbane. The race was a mile and sixteenth jaunt for 3 year olds and up. Oregon Fire was third with Mole Hill fourth and last.

The victory on Stars and Bars was Smith's third of the day. Previously he had brought home Jack Horgan and Patti Louise ahead of their fields. The Greentree stable colt paid $6.60 for a $2 ticket, while Patti Louise paid back $12 for each $2 invested. Jack Horgan, however, was the odds on favorite and a $2 mutuel ticket was worth only $3.50.

TENNIS UNKNOWN FORCES HUNTER TO THREE SETS

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The national indoor tennis championship came close to losing its outstanding favorite and drawing card today as Frank Hunter, America's second ranking star, was hard pressed by Frank Bonneau, a comparatively obscure New York southpaw.

Hunter finally won by scores of 6-4, 3-6, 7-5, to reach the quarter final round. However, he needed all his famous fighting fire to pull through.

Using the same weapons with which Jean Borotra, the Bounding Basque, turned back Hunter in the final of last year's tourney—the volley and smash—Bonneau located a weakness in the hard driving Hunter's tennis armor and pounded it throughout the match. Occasionally Hunter's slugging forehand passed him cleanly but fully as often Bonneau laced into the ball for smashing overhead kills.

Hunter's next opponent will be Eugene McCauliff, lanky ex-Fordham stylist, who reached the quarter-finals ahead of the field yesterday.

All of Hunter's leading rivals came through in far easier fashion, winning in straight sets.

Of these Harris Coggeshall of Des Moines, Ia., looked most impressive, smothering Sidney Seligson of New York university, 6-0, 6-1.

Julius Seligson of Lehigh, former intercollegiate champion, defeated Kenneth Appel of South Orange, N. J., 6-0, 9-7. He will try to succeed where his brother failed when he meets Coggeshall in the quarter-finals tomorrow.

Gilbert Hall of South Orange, who is looked upon as Hunter's chief rival, polished off Ed Burns, New York, 6-4, 6-4.

Perrine Rockafellow, who used to play for Colgate, downed Bob Considine of Washington, the promising youth who shares the national public parks doubles title, 7-5, 6-0.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The home fans who contributed so freely last season that the Cubs established a new attendance record will have to wait until April 22 before spending any money on the 1930 edition of their favorites. This is the Wrigley field opening date as revealed in the official schedule made public this morning. The St. Louis Cardinals will be involved with the Cubs in the local inaugural. The same two teams will kick off at the start of the season April 15 in St. Louis.

Before coming home to show their diamond ability to the multitude the Cubs will visit Cincinnati, as well as St. Louis. Seven games are scheduled for these two series. After getting home they will have plenty of time to renew acquaintances, as they will not have to move out again until the evening of May 15. During that time the seven other clubs in the league will appear at Wrigley field.

For the White Sox the first six weeks of the American league season will be a matter of seeing America first. The Bush gang opens on its own lot against Cleveland April 15, and from that date until June 3 will play only fifteen games at Comiskey park. The rest of the time will be spent in travel between the seven other points of the circuit. The Yanks will be the first eastern entry to visit the south side park. They are due here for performances June 3, 4, 5, and 6. They will be followed by Philadelphia, Washington, and Boston in the order named.

New Paris, Ind., Feb. 4.—Goshen High school basketball team defeated Nappanee, 37 to 30, here tonight. Michal of Goshen led with nine points.

EBBETS EARNS FANS' FAVOR FOR CHASTAIN CLASH

A big crowd watched him work yesterday. The visitors liked the way he went after Pep Justo in their four round sparring engagement. Ebbets showed up so well he likely will be the favorite in the betting when he crawls through the ropes to tackle Chastain.

The Texan also worked out a short time after Ebbets stepped out of the ring. He boxed Danny Gasparo, who meets Kayo Franklin on the same card.

Fighting Criss, who is to be George Trafton's foe at the same show, got in from Detroit yesterday. Criss was escorted to a loop gymnasium where he worked out. He didn't put much stuff into his drill but said it would not require a great big effort to put Trafton to sleep.

Spug Myers and Joey Medill, 140 pounders who clash on the Dempsey card, each engaged in intensive rehearsals. They will wind up their training this afternoon.

ADD STREATOR TO CAGE CARD.

Decatur, Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Coach Guy Kintner has added a game with Streator to the Decatur High school basketball schedule. It will be played in Streator Tuesday, Feb. 11.

CHICAGO STOCK VOLUME DROPS; PRICES STEADY

Investment Trusts in List Issue Reports.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Volume of trading declined to about 243,500 shares and prices showed little inclination to move one way or the other in yesterday's session on the Chicago Stock exchange. Fair gains were marked up for a number of issues among the specialties and the automotive stocks displayed a generally steady tone.

Reports from a few of the investment trust companies tended to center a good deal of interest in that group, though no important price changes were recorded.

Manhattan Dearborn corporation gained a fraction, while Continental Chicago and Chicago Corporation on much larger turnovers moved within a narrow range. Burnham Trading was only mildly active and unchanged following the release of the annual report. Manhattan Dearborn closed at 36¾. The company's report, made after the close of the market, placed the net asset value of the stock at $47.

Shows Depreciation.

The Burnham report showed that the market value of the securities held had suffered net depreciation of $1,590,900. The cost of the securities was reported at $5,445,250 and the market value as of Dec. 31 was $3,84,350.

Based on the company's figures, the net asset value per unit on the 78,778 units outstanding is $40.05, while it sold yesterday at around 30.

The company also reported that the dividend income from securities held was 25 per cent in excess of the preferred dividend requirements. Demand loans and cash is shown in the balance sheet at $1,114,808, marketable securities at $3,854,349 and total obligations other than capital of $1,813,800.

Common or preferred stocks of the following corporations make up 95 per cent of the company's holdings:

Allied Products corporation, Beatrice Creamery company, Brown Fence and Wire company, A. M. Castle and company, Grigsby-Grunow company, Kalamazoo Stove company, the Winton Engine company, Muskegon Motor Specialties company, National Standard company, Noblitt-Sparks Industries, Inc., Real Silk Hosiery Mills, Inc., Reliance Manufacturing company and Super Maid corporation.

The largest block of stock held is 30,500 shares of Grigsby-Grunow of which 25,000 shares were acquired through an interest in an underwriting syndicate and the remainder purchased in the open market.

Leads Radio Group.

Grigsby led in activity among the radio shares and showed improvement of a fraction. The meeting of stockholders scheduled yesterday for the purposes of voting on an increase of capital stock from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 shares was adjourned because of a lack of a quorum. President B. J. Grigsby told stockholders that sales of the company for January were $5,668,788, compared with $5,255,975 in 1929. Reports from dealers indicate, he said, that sales for the month were in excess of production.

Among the specialties which recorded gains were: Vortex, up 1½; Fitzsimmons and Connell, 2¾. General Theater equipment, 1½, and Butler which closed up a fraction selling ex. dividend 30 cents.

Vorclone preference fell to 7½ when the directors deferred action on the dividend which is due Feb. 15.

Discusses Distribution of Tax Burden in U. S.

BY SCRUTATOR.

It is not far from the truth to say that nobody is satisfied with the way taxes are levied and collected. Chicago's experiences with reassessment, the troubles that followed dissatisfaction with inequalities, are unique only in degree. Every state and every city has something like it.

Scientific knowledge has been little applied in the taxation field. Government has always been compelled to place the levies on that which was easily reachable, and to take all that it could. It is rather noteworthy in this connection that representative governments have usually been able to take a larger share of each man's produce than has the despot.

This is true, as pointed out by Eric Englund of the agricultural finance division of the department of agriculture, because "the general popularity of tax reduction is not strong enough to offset the sum of the public demand for particular improvements which require more and more money."

Unjust to Real Estate?

The idea that real estate is bearing an unjust share of all taxes is being fostered nowadays. Advocates of farm relief point out that farmers obtain only 10 per cent of the national income and pay out 30 per cent of that in taxes. The burden of the accompanying plea is that some system to shift direct payments to urban dwellers be found.

Generally speaking, taxes on farm land are two and a half times what they were in 1913. Tax delinquency and tax sales have increased. But the further extent to which the city man should contribute to lift the load requires a great deal of study. It may be that he doesn't owe it.

Mr. Englund, not an unfriendly commentator, points out that nine-tenths of the increase in farm taxes during the last fifteen years occurred from 1916 to 1923. During that period the increase in farm real estate taxes in Kansas amounted to $11,600,000. The additional revenue was distributed in such manner that counties, school districts and townships got 81 per cent, the soldier bonus 10 per cent and the state itself 9 per cent. Gov. Reed of Kansas recently said that the state itself gets only 6 per cent of collected revenue now.

According to Mr. Englund, 55 per cent of the increased state tax from 1915 to 1927 went for highways and education. During these years per capita expenditures in cities over 30,000 rose from $18.45 to $40.77, of which 44 per cent went to education.

Localities Benefit.

It is, then, apparent that much of the added tax burden has been spent for local benefits. No settlement has ever been made of the vexing question about who should pay for the highways, the farmer or the city man who rides over them. The gasoline tax, nearly a 400 million dollar item in the United States, is in large part a contribution of the city man to the rural road, although some states turn part of it into general funds. Even apart from the gas tax, the oil industry in the middle west is paying nearly as much to municipalities in indirect as in direct taxation.

Distribution of tax paying may not be so unfair, as between city and country, as is sometimes maintained.

BAR SILVER AT ALL TIME LOW IN LONDON MART

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Bar silver dropped to the lowest price for all time on the London market today, being at 19 15-16 pence per standard ounce.

Cable advices from London gave no definite reason for the drop, other than there appeared to be far more selling than buying. China was reported as having both bought and sold.

Baltimore Utility Offers Rights to Stockholders

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 4.—Directors of the Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power Company of Baltimore today announced an offering to stockholders of 106,127 shares of common stock at $60 a share. The stock is selling at $106 a share at present. Stockholders are given the right to subscribe to the new issue in the ratio of one new share for each ten held. Rights are worth about $4.20 each.

The company will realize about $6,267,620 from the sale, some of which it is expected to spend in its 1930 expansion program, which calls for an outlay of $7,500,000.

The new common stock of the Union Tank Car company was placed on a $1.60 annual dividend basis today when directors voted an initial quarterly payment of 40 cents a share, payable March 1, to stock of record Feb. 15. The new dividend rate is equal to $6.40 on the old stock, which was split up four for one and which paid $5 annually.

Extra Payment.

An extra dividend of 50 cents a share was declared on the common stock of the Ohio Oil company in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of the same amount. Both are payable March 15 to stock of record Feb. 14. Three months ago a similar extra was paid.

Brill corporation declared a dividend of 65 cents on the A stock, payable March 1 to holders of record Feb. 18. Last year at this time the company paid $1.50 and in 1928, $1.25. The regular dividend of $1.75 on the preferred was also declared, payable March 15 to holders of record March 1.

Standard Dredging company directors today announced an initial quarterly dividend on common stock, payable March 1 to holders of record Feb. 15, of 15 cents in cash and one-eighteith of one share of common stock.

Initiates Loan.

Dillon, Read & Co. today initiated the flotation of a loan of about $32,500,000 for Siemens & Halska A. G. of Germany, with an offering of $14,000,000 series A participating debentures.

Entitled to interest at the prevailing dividend rate on the common stock, the debentures [$400 principal amount] were priced at $933 flat. Yield on the basis of the 14 per cent dividend for the 1928-'29 fiscal year is 6 per cent.

Representing the most important German industrial financing in the American market in more than a year, a preponderant part of the loan has been taken up privately in advance of the formal offering, it was said.

An unusual feature of the issue is that the debentures have a maturity of 1,000 years, falling due on Jan. 15, 2930, although they are redeemable, at the option of the holder, on any interest date after seventy-five years on at least six months' prior demand.

Caterpillar Tractor company declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a share in addition to the regular dividend of 75 cents, for the first quarter of 1930. Net earnings for 1929 were reported at $6.16 per share.

BELDEN INCOME RISES SHARPLY IN THREE YEARS

The Belden Manufacturing company of Chicago in its report for 1929 shows net profit of $447,872 equal to $23.98 a share on the 18,680 shares of common stock outstanding. In the previous year the company made a profit of $130,764 or $7 a share.

The report shows that net sales of the company increased over $1,800,000 last year, reflecting the increase in activity in the electrical equipment field. In 1927 the firm suffered a loss of $23,257.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Revenue freight loadings for the week ended Jan. 25 were reported today by the American Railway association to have totaled 862,621 cars.

This was an increase of 15,268 cars over the preceding week, but a reduction of 63,853 cars under loadings for the corresponding week a year ago.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 4.—Increasing signs of improving business and the outlook for a lower discount rate enabled the bull party to maintain the initiative in a rather dull and featureless stock market today. Trading fell more than a half million shares short of yesterday's total, amounting to only 3,224,610 shares.

Operations for the rise were pushed in a scattering of selected issues at intervals making for a somewhat generous sprinkling of really notable gains—2 to 6 points or better—in the final tables. Columbia Gas, one of the favorite whoopee makers, ran up for more than 6½ points on a fairly heavy turnover.

Radio was given a whirl and the shorts in this old time favorite were hard put to it to cover their commitments for a spell. Allis Chalmers, Colorado Fuel, American Water Works, Columbian Carbon, and United States Industrial Alcohol were bid up briskly at one time or another and the closing figures on them reflected gains ranging above 6 points.

Otis Elevator Up 23.

The smartest individual performance of all, however, was that of Otis Elevator, which was hurled up for a sheer gain of nearly 23 points

How to be Happy though in the market

DO YOU read the financial page with elation in times of prosperity and with apprehension when the market is going badly? Does investing interfere with your peace of mind? This is unnecessary.

Select a well established reliable investment house and be guided largely by their recommendations.

Invest only in securities of corporations supplying a product or service in growing demand by practically the entire nation; for example, electricity.

Use due discretion in making your selections, choosing securities selling on a fair basis gauged by past records, present conditions and future probabilities. Here your investment house can be of valuable service.

Buy outright.

Investors who are customers of this Company have available dependable investment counsel and a broad list of conservative securities—particularly, electric light and power company investments.

Write for our current list of offerings and our informative booklet, "Reliable Investment Counsel —How to Choose and Use It."

BELIEVE BREAK IN WHEAT PRICES IS ABOUT OVER

Market Rallies from Bottom Level.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Decline in wheat prices is about over, temporarily, at least, according to some of the closest observers of conditions in the grain trade.

General liquidation developed on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday after a small advance early, with stop loss orders uncovered on the way down, and all deliveries sold at a new low on the crop, with March touching $1.12¾ and May, $1.16⅜, showing 47⅝@50¾c under the high point of the season.

The break was regarded as having cleaned out most of the stop loss orders in the market and heavy short covering and aggressive commission house buying which followed caused a bulge of 3¼@3½c from the inside figure, with the finish about the top, with net gains of 1⅜@1⅝c, with March $1.15@1.15⅛ and May $1.19⅝@1.19¾.

There was a marked change in sentiment here and at Winnipeg during the day. Winnipeg was weak early, but turned strong later and finished 1¾@2⅛c higher. Liverpool, after showing early strength, wenkened with North America and closed ¼@½d lower, early buying being based on a better spot and continental demand, although Russia sold a cargo to Antwerp. Buenos Aires closed ¼@¾c lower, a decline in the exchange rate being a factor.

No Change in Loan Policy.

While the trade has been disposed to ignore the persistent buying of country run cash wheat by the cooperatives, their operations attracted considerable attention at times during the day, as they continued to take the cash grain regardless of the break in futures, paying the farm board loan basis, and were estimated to have secured around 400 cars in all markets, following purchases of 250 cars on Monday. As this grain is not being hedged by sales of futures and mills in many instances were not willing to compete for the offers, there has been a fairly good business in elevator grain, with local shipping sales of 50,000 bu.

Decline in premiums for Canadian wheat will make no difference in the loan policy of the farm board, according to Chairman Legge, even though exports from the United States are not likely to increase greatly. The meeting of the wheat advisory committee scheduled at Chicago for today had a little effect on the market, as the trade expect that the stabilization corporation plan will be announced.

Corn in Strong Close.

Corn showed individual strength, due largely to short covering, which found offerings light. An early break carried May and July to a new low for the season, but the finish was 1⅝@2¼c higher, with March, 88⅝@88½c, and July, 91⅞@92c. There was some buying of corn against sales of wheat, and cash interests removed hedges against shipping sales of 105,000 bu. Country offerings continue light, although Omaha reported Nebraska selling rather freely. Buenos Aires finished unchanged to ⅛c lower.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

Export sales of 400,000 to 500,000 bu wheat, largely Mantobas, were reported in all positions. Charters were made for three cargoes wheat, including one for Manitobas. No. 2 hard winter that had arrived at Liverpool sold at $1.26¼ per bu, and for February shipment $1.28 was paid. This compared with cargo of Russian wheat sold to Antwerp at $1.30½. Local shipping sales were 51,000 bu wheat, 105,000 bu corn and 41,000 bu oats to the domestic trade.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Cotton goods were quiet in unfinished lines with some few lower bids reported as declined. Finished goods are moving well in printed lines and in some of the dress specialties. Burlaps were unchanged. The strike of garment workers began and is affecting rayons, silks, and fancy cottons for dress wear more than worsteds. Raw silk was unchanged with traders awaiting the monthly statistical report due in a day or two.

PLAN 13 STORY APARTMENTS FOR SHERIDAN ROAD

BY AL CHASE.

Formation of the 5012 Sheridan Road Building corporation by Ernest W. J. Hughes, Arthur G. Smith, and B. Johnson, discloses another prospective tall apartment structure for the uptown district. The building, which is not to be erected for a year or more, probably will be thirteen stories high and will contain small suites. The site is 42x150, and is now improved with an old residence which will be wrecked.

The new building, which it is reported will cost more than half a million dollars, will be owned and operated by the Hughes Real Estate trust. The latter operates eight properties and reports that all are over 97 per cent rented. In fact, one of them, Eastwood Towers, at 926 Eastwood avenue, is 100 per cent occupied.

Buys 71st Street Corner.

Richard Hills of Midlothian has purchased from William H. Van Hoesen the northwest corner of East 71st street and Eggleston avenue, 60x125, improved with twelve apartments, for an undisclosed consideration, subject to an incumbrance of $51,000. Harry A. Bollman and William C. Regelin were brokers.

Harry Allen has purchased from George Nelson the four apartments and four car brick garage at 9134-36 South Troop street, giving in part payment the two flats at 8225 South Troop street. Harry Harms bought the three flats at 8945 South Justine street from Dr. Fred W. Moeller. Busch Bros. were brokers in both transactions.

Paul & Paul, men's furnishers, have leased the store at 4623 Broadway for a term of years at a reported annual rental of $7,200. Cerf & Ehrenhalt and Victor J. Curto & Co., were brokers.

Buys Drexel Boulevard House.

Arthur L. Courtright has sold the sixteen room residence at 4331 Drexel boulevard, lot 37x295 feet, to Peter J. Fitzsimons, with the Santa Fe railroad, for a reported $26,500. The residence at one time was the home of John W. O'Leary, president of the National Bank of the Republic. Paul Caspers Jr. of McKey & Poague was broker.

RESEARCH PILOTS INDUSTRY, BANKER TELLS MERCHANTS

Science and research was described as the invisible "pilot" of modern business and industry by John G. Lonsdale, St. Louis, president of the American Bankers' association, in addressing last night an assemblage of 1,800 visiting merchants, buyers, and their wives at the Interstate Merchants' council banquet at the Hotel Sherman.

Industry must keep abreast of the times, he said, and appreciate that the trend toward organization for an interchange of ideas and knowledge signifies the value of coöperation to the business world.

"President Hoover's business conference," he said, "showed business leaders the interdependence of one group upon another. Study and research, as typified by Edison's search for a domestic rubber substitute, shows that American business may be piloted around rocks which sometimes threaten it. It constitutes one of the most romantic chapters in American history."

Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, welcomed the visiting merchants. He told of building of the gigantic merchandise mart and its prospective significance to Chicago as the central wholesale market.

The Chicago Infants and Children's Wear association will entertain several hundred merchant-buyers tonight at a banquet to be held at the Morrison hotel.

GOLEE TELLS OF PLAN FOR NEW HOLDING FIRM

Plans for the organization of a holding company to own the stock of the Evanston Trust and Savings bank and the real estate financing firm of Smart & Golee are under way, Christian A. Golee, president of the bank, announced yesterday.

The merger plan, on which a committee has been working since November, involves the formation of a holding concern with a capitalization of 20,000 shares of stock of no par value. Stock of the firm will be offered to shareholders of the bank on a basis of five shares for each one share now held. Though of no par value, it will be sold on the basis of $50 a share.

The Evanston Trust and Savings bank was organized in 1914 and as of June 29, 1929, had total resources of $3,731,272. Smart & Golee was incorporated in 1922 as the outgrowth of partnerships formed in Evanston more than thirty years ago. It is engaged in real estate financing and related lines.

WILMETTE (population 17,000) is one of Chicago's most attractive North Shore suburbs located on the Lake Shore, 14 miles north of the "Loop District." It is a city of beautiful homes adjoining Evanston on the North and is served by the Chicago & North Western Railway, Chicago Elevated Railway, and Milwaukee Electric.

These bonds were issued to extend the water and sewer system to a residential district in the western part of Wilmette near the Milwaukee Electric Line and extending from Glenview Road to the Indian Hill residential district at Lake Avenue.

The bonds are payable from taxes levied against the benefited property, which taxes are a lien prior to any mortgage or other encumbrance and coequal with general taxes. The property taxed is valued at from $40 to $75 per front foot, against which a very small annual tax is required annually for ten years to pay principal and interest of these bonds.

An advertising agency should neither strut nor cringe

EXPECT little from an advertising agency that will not deign to heed your views. Your money is being spent. Your business is being represented to the reading—and the listening—public.

But don't assume too much authority if you would get the best. Do not close your mind. They are always dubious victories that take spirit and enthusiasm out of an advertisement.

The Roche agency maintains amiable relations with the firms it serves because it looks upon them with respect—and because it is as interested as they are in the productivity of each advertisement.

Substantial earnings enable it to attract leading talent to its doors—and to place a notably successful principal in command of what it does for even its most unpretentious advertiser.

STOCKS CLIMB ON IMPROVING TRADE OUTLOOK

Railroad stocks were more active than usual as a group, and the motor and motor accessory shares had a good day. The amusement issues were well maintained and various specialties shared in the favor of the constructive forces.

News of better conditions in the steel industry helped the shares of United States, Bethlehem and other notables of the group. The street was told that the United States Steel corporation's plants are now turning at 80 per cent of their capacity and that independent mills are at 76 per cent capacity on the average of 3 per cent better than a week ago. Steel common gained an even point on the day's trading.

Trading in Motors.

Some of the motor shares, particularly Chrysler, were heavily traded in, and gains among the leaders of the group ranged from a fraction to 1¼ points.

The oils did little despite a substantial decrease in the weekly oil production figures, and trading in the store stocks was mixed. Interstate Department Stores responded favorably to a favorable 1929 earnings statement, and National Bellas Hess also developed fresh activity on the upside, but Macy & Co. led a downward movement in another section of the division with a decline of 5 points.

Bear operators brought their battering ram to-bear against a number of more or less vulnerable spots at different times, one of their targets being Gillette Safety Razor, which was driven down for some 5 points before it touched bottom and rallied. The close found the shares of this corporation selling at less than 2 points below last night's final price, however. So far as could be learned there was no basis for the attack on this stock—it was merely a speculative dido.

News of the lowering of the reichsbank rate for the second time this year was effective in turning speculative sentiment to the possibility of another cut in rates, both here and in London, and thus making for world-wide easement in money conditions.

Wahl Company Reports Net 1929 Loss of $24,869

The Wahl company reports a net loss for 1929 of $24,869 against a net profit of $206,782 for 1928. Thomas Drever, chairman of the board, states in his report that the reversal was due to the extraordinary expenses incurred in the automobile branch of the business in developing new models to meet the demands in a highly competitive market. The directors took no action on the dividend of $1.75 due at this time on the preferred stock.

Furniture Mart Corp. Has 1929 Income of $87,146

The American Furniture Mart Building association for the year ended Dec. 31, reports net income after all charges including depreciation of $87,146 equal to 21 cents a share on the 400,000 shares of common stock outstanding. The corporation recently purchased 2,000 shares of its preferred stock and 34,000 shares of its common stock which has been retired and canceled.

Lincoln Printing to Show Gain in Net Earnings

The annual statement of the Lincoln Printing company to be issued in a few days will show net earnings for last year of $580,820 against $482,063 in the previous year, according to Washington Flexner, president. The 1929 earnings are equivalent to approximately $2.70 a share on the common stock.

Spot butter sold at former prices, while fresh eggs were 1c higher. Live hens, spring chickens and ducks were 1c lower. Receipts 6 cars by freight. Potatoes were in fair demand with prices steady. Receipts 118 cars, with 239 cars on team track.

Top yesterday, $12.85; average, $11.90.

Receipts at Chicago today, 7,500 cattle, 31,000 hogs, and 13,000 sheep.

Cattle and lambs were pounded lower again yesterday, while hogs established new high prices for the season. Gains of 10@20c were general in the hog market, the extreme top at $10.70 going back to Sept. 30 for an equal.

The general average at $10.40 was highest since Aug. 29, and 35c above last Saturday. Activity featured the trade during the first half of the day few strictly choice kinds were included in the 6,000 estimated left at the close. Larger houses bought sparingly at the upturn. Sharp price gains at other points, with relatively high prices reported at some markets, partly offset the weakening influence of the advance estimate of 31,000 hogs for today, which compares with 22,060 last Wednesday. The five leading markets, however, report expected increase of only 5,000 compared with the previous Wednesday.

Buyers Get Concessions.

Only 5,000 cattle were unloaded at Chicago yesterday. Yet, buyers obtained additional concessions and some cattle were still unsold at the finish, being carried on unsatisfactory bids.

A few were held off the market on the strength of reports that feeders are expected to keep supplies light all week in an effort to stabilize the market. Load lots of fancy baby beef yearling steers, eligible to $15.50@15.75 were absent. The top for load lots at $14.75 was paid for 1,544 lb averages. Nine yearlings averaging 983 lbs reached $15.75. Cows and heifers were dull at further slight declines. Calves sold steady. Stockers and feeders were scarce and unchanged.

Heavy Lambs Low.

The market for heavy lambs entered new low price levels yesterday when $10.50@11.50 took the bulk of the supply of 95@110 lb averages. Smaller bands of extremely heavy were bought as low as $10.00. Losses of 25@50c were cited in some sales toward the close, the low point of the day, which equaled the lowest in a number of years for medium and heavy stock.

The few loads of choice light and handy weights available met good demand at strong prices, several loads of 80@85 lb averages going to packers and city butchers at $12.75@12.85 during the forenoon. Aged sheep and yearlings sold steady. Feeding lambs slumped again, good kinds selling around $11.50.

Cotton Board to Finance Purchases by Co-ops

A report that the federal farm board has approved arrangements made by American cotton cooperative associations to take over all marketing activities of various member state cooperative market associations and to finance handling of all cotton of various member associations had a good influence on the cotton trade in general yesterday and, although the market started 6@12 points lower on disappointing Liverpool cables, it reacted and closed at only a small recession from top figures of the day. There were net gains on futures in Chicago from 10@16 points, and in other markets of 12@17 points.

OFFICIALS OF SCHILD FIRM TO DONATE STOCK

A novel plan to continue dividend payments and to eliminate a deficit incurred last year was revealed last night in the announcement that certain officers and directors of Eitingon Schild company, Inc., propose to donate to the company $2,000,000 of its own stock. This donation is to be made, the announcement said, "to offset the effect upon the company's surplus of heavy inventory writeoffs necessitated by the decline in fur prices."

The deficit, which, it is planned to eliminate through the generosity of the officers and directors was directly the result of the collapse in the stock market last autumn since that disturbance is blamed for "one of the most drastic and rapid declines in prices of skins in the history of the fur industry."

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by nine men from the Moss outfit, enemies of old Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and injures one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged for the injury and pursue him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house where he finds a lovely young girl busy baking pies. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house inquiring for him and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has injured her brother, Steve Lawson.

Jim rides on into the town, after saving Ellen, the girl who had protected him, from the unwelcome attentions of Pete Moss. Shear, the marshal, threatens to arrest him for his attack on Steve Lawson, but Harrison Pendleton arrives on the scene in time to save him from arrest.

INSTALLMENT IX.

A KILLING.

Shear was annoyed. He had reasons of his own for wanting to arrest this lad, but Pendleton's open championship of Rutledge could not be ignored. The cattleman was too powerful and too popular for that. He could rally half the drivers on the trail to his side.

"If you want to answer for him, Mr. Pendleton, and guarantee he'll be here when he's wanted why I expect that will be all right," the marshal said reluctantly. "I've had orders to arrest him. So I've got to know he'll be on hand."

"Who gave you orders, Joe? Sounds to me like some one is trying to put something on you."

The light gray eyes of the killer narrowed. "Nobody will try to run anything on me, Mr. Pendleton. It's not considered safe." Shear paused, to let this sink in. "The friends of this boy, Steve Lawson, have asked the authorities to arrest Rutledge. They claim he had a lot of their stock in his herd and they asked for a cut to check up. 'Nothing doing,' he said, and went right to a gun play."

"Who are these friends of Lawson?"

"Ranchmen along the trail. They've been bothered a lot by drivers picking up their cattle as they pass through the country. They have a right to check up any herd they suspect."

"Nobody asked to inspect our herds," Jim said.

Shear turned bleak eyes on him. "So you say. Your story doesn't get to first base with me."

"It'll all come out in the wash, Joe," the cattleman roared heartily. "But the drinks will be on you, for you'll find I'm right about this boy."

"That's not all, Mr. Pendleton," the marshal continued. "I find him riding a horse belonging to Pete Moss. He claims Pete loaned it to him."

He stood, crouched and wary, over the fallen man.

Surprised, Harrison Pendleton turned to the young Texan for information. "What about that, Jim? Some mistake, I reckon."

"That's another story. I had a run in with the Moss gang again this morning. They jumped me while I was coming to town, and kept on my trail for thirty miles. Down the river they picked up fresh mounts and ran my bronc ragged."

The marshal cut in to Jim's tale. "And then Pete Moss said, 'Take my horse, Mr. Rutledge, since yours is wore out.' It certainly sounds good to me." Shear laughed, in heavy irony, without mirth.

"I hid in a cottonwood and they didn't find me," Jim went on. "Afterward I found Pete Moss by himself and got the drop on him. So I borrowed his horse."

"The name of that in this country, young fellow, is horse stealing," Shear said harshly. "I reckon you know what happens to horse thieves."

"I never yet knew a bird like you who didn't have some explanation of how he came to get the bronc in question," commented the officer with a thin-lip smile. "Usually they met some guy who sold it to them. You go them one better. Held up the owner and took it from him."

Pendleton's laugh could have been heard a block. "You're off on the wrong foot, Joe. I'll admit it's not a reasonable story, but I'll bet a four-year-old against a plug of tobacco that it's true. The joke is on Pete Moss, I'd say."

"Is it?" asked Shear coldly. "Now I wonder."

"You know what the Moss outfit is."

"Why yes, Mr. Pendleton. I know Dave Moss and all his boys. I've never seen anything wrong with them. The more I think of it the less I like this young man's story. I'm arresting him right now."

"All right, Joe. You're the doctor. I'll go along and see if I can arrange bail."

"I'll take your weapons, Rutledge," the marshal said.

Jim turned his arms over to the officer.

"I'd ought to throw you in the calaboose," Shear added. "But I'm willing to accommodate, Mr. Pendleton. We'll go right down to Justice Buchman's office and put it up to him."

"I'll be much obliged," Rutledge replied.

From the Cowboys' Retreat a man came through the swing doors and stopped to speak with some one standing by the curb. With a laugh he turned toward the three men who were approaching. He was slight and neatly dressed. His wide hat was tilted to a rakish angle.

"Didn't know Doc Brown was in town," Pendleton said. "Running a game, I reckon."

Shear did not answer. "Take this," he said urgently, a knife edge to his voice, and thrust into Rutledge's hands the rifle he had recently taken from him.

Events happened so fast Jim's brain could hardly record them. The man with the tilted hat recognized Shear. His stride faltered for a fraction of a second. Then he came on, the barrel of his pistol flashing into the light. A heavy arm, flung around Jim's neck, dragged him into the street. Two shots rang out, almost together. A third followed. The slight man staggered, clutching at his heart. As his knees sagged under him and he pitched forward, he tried to raise his weapon to fire again.

Pendleton released the boy.

A little curl of smoke rose from the end of the marshal's revolver. He stood, crouched and wary, eyes on the fallen man. The expression in his face was demoniac.

From every direction men poured toward the battle ground. Shear erased out his face to its usual impassivity.

"I had to do it, gentlemen. He's been threatening me. Mr. Pendleton will tell you he drew his pistol before I did."

"Soon as he saw you," the cattleman assented.

"You'll testify to that, too," Shear said to his prisoner.

"He didn't wait," Jim admitted.

"It had to be him or me. He's been laying for me. So have his brothers. It's come to a showdown. I aim to drive Bart and Black Brown out of town. They're running a crooked house."

A doctor pushed through the crowd and examined the man lying on the ground. "Dead," he pronounced.

"Wouldn't have it any other way," the killer said. "I'd have ducked this if I could, but he kept asking for it."

"Shot through the heart," the doctor added.

"Kept crowding me—Doc and his brothers, too," the gunman went on. "Wanted to run this town. I told 'em no, not while I was marshal. Joe Shear stands for law, gentlemen."

The body of the dead man was carried into a saloon and put on the floor, to remain there until the arrival of the coroner.

The crowd around the saloon continued to swell. Among the later arrivals was a heavyset man in corduroy trousers, flannel shirt, and grey Stetson hat.

"Let me through," he said curtly to those on the edge of the throng.

"Gangway for Mr. Manders," another called out.

Allison Manders reached the heart of the press. Shear was still explaining himself as a vindicator of the law. He was anxious to make this clear, for while his vanity sunned itself in the respectful awe his exploit had imposed upon those around him.

"What's the row?" asked Manders.

He was a hardfaced man with a well earned reputation for fearlessness. His jade eyes fastened on the marshal.

"Had to bump off a bad man who tried to kill me," Shear said, a challenge in his voice.

The officers were not friends. They belonged to opposing factions in city politics.

"Who?" Manders asked.

"Says Brown. He came at me with his gun smoking."

'Die Walkuere' Triumph for Madame Gadski

Gives Full Effect to Wagner's Music.

"DIE WALKUERE."

Music-drama in three acts by Wagner. Sung by the German Grand Opera company at the Auditorium, Feb. 4, 1930.

THE CAST.

Wotan	Richard Gross
Hunding	Laurenz Pierot
Siegmund	Johannes Sembach
Sieglinde	Juliette Lippe
Bruennhilde	Johanna Gadski
Fricka	Sonia Sharnova
Conductor	Ernest Knoch

BY EDWARD MOORE.

This, the second item in the "Ring" series, was a cause of rejoicing among the Wagner-conscious last night, for Mme. Gadski, most famous of all the living Wagnerian heroines, was making her first appearance in this all too brief German season. There was applause when she was recognized on the stage at the beginning of the second, more applause when she sang the divine war cry, an ovation with flowers and all the trimmings at the end of the act.

It was all earned. Mme Gadski still is the artist of the grand manner, a fine talent wise with much experience. Accent, poise, dignity are hers. Though she may not have quite as much voice as she used to have years ago, she has just as much quality and even more style.

In fact, accent and poise and manner imposed upon a number of splendid voices seem to be the means whereby this company of experts creates a good part of its effects. You can analyze this company down to the group of eight sturdy voiced valkyrettes in the last act and not find a person who was out of place. Mr. Sembach, who sang Siegmund as it has not been done here in years; Mme. Lippe, a Sieglinde whose like I never heard anywhere, Mme. Sharnova and Mr. Gross, whose quarrel was spacious and dignified and not in the least the family row that it sometimes seems like; Mr. Pierot's tremendous Hunding, all had the air of being considerably more than operatic singers engaged for a season of Wagner. They were unbelievably alert and vital figures in a gigantic drama.

Compliments, too, to Mr. Knoch as another expert. He, too, had solved the secrets of pace and accent. Without ever seeming to hurry the performance he moved it along swiftly and unflaggingly, disguising the weak points of the score—even "Die Walkuere" has a few—building up the strong ones, carrying the singers along in the pace of his own impetuosity and, rather strangely in such a heavy orchestration, never overwhelming them.

There is reason to believe, also, that the stage picture at the close of the second act, dealing with the death of Siegmund and Hunding, Wotan towering above them, Bruennhilde and Sieglinde stealing away below, was the most satisfactory disposition of this scene that the city has witnessed.

The Cincinnati May Festival chorus, Cincinnati's important contribution to the cause of music, 225 strong, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow to participate with the Chicago Sypmhony orchestra in three concerts at Orchestra hall, a special program tomorrow night and the regular Friday afternoon and Saturday evening pair. Theodore Thomas founded it fifty-seven years ago, and Frederick Stock is now its permanent conductor. Its appearance here is part of Mr. Stock's quarter-centennial as conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Tomorrow night's program will consist of a Bach cantata, Mr. Stock's fine "Psalmodic Rhapsody," and Brahms' "German Requiem." The soloists will be Ethel Hayden, Dan Gridley and Frazer Gange. For the Friday and Saturday pair Mr. Stock and the orchestra will play his transcription of the Bach Passacaglia and Fugue, to be followed by Mach's "Magnificat" and Honegger's "King David," the last named a first performance in this city. The soloists will be Miss Hayden, Anna Burmeister, Merle Alcock, Mr. Gridley, and Herbert Gould. Mr. Stock will conduct throughout.

George Ade Writes of John Hertz for Miami Beach Banquet

George Ade, Hoosier humorist, will commemorate tonight at Miami Beach, Fla., his long friendship with John Hertz, retired head of the Yellow Cab company. He has invited an imposing list of nationally known celebrities, friends of Mr. Hertz, to a dinner at the King Cole hotel at Miami Beach in honor of the Chicago man, and will make the occasion further memorable by distributing a biography composed without the knowledge of the guest of honor, and done in the inimitable Ade style.

"I wish I could truthfully say," the biography states, "that I discovered John and gave him his first lesson in hurryup journalism, but the fact is he somehow managed to join the staff and begin writing about sport events before I knew he was in the building. His guide, counselor and friend was Ed Sheridan.

"We had quite a list of employes around the old Victor Lawson shop. Eugene Field, Vance Thompson, Ray Stannard Baker, William Elroy Curtis, Kenneth F. Harris, Harry B. Smith, Harvey Woodruff, Will Payne, John McCutcheon, Fred Wile, and others not unknown to fame were on the pay roll, but not for large amounts."

Guests at the function will include former Gov. Al Smith, Albert Lasker, Edward N. Hurley, former Gov. James M. Cox, Gen. Robert Tyndall, Sam Katz, John Golden, Roy D. Keehn, Harvey Firestone, C. K. G. Billings, H. T. Archibald, Ernest Byfield, C. F. Glore, Earl Reynolds, Knute Rockne, Steve Hannagan, Joseph Tumulty, and Charles Michelson.

Boy, Bank Worker, Attends Two Schools, Wins $100 for Essay

Michael Wagner, 3304 Polk street, 16 year old winner of the Alexander Hamilton oratorical contest conducted recently by the Hamilton club of Chicago, was formally presented with an award of $100 yesterday at the Commercial Continuation school, Harrison street and Plymouth court.

Will J. Bell, president of the club, and George W. Dixon, chairman of the contest committee, were present to give the prize. Michael's oration on "Alexander Hamilton and His Contribution to Government," was the best of contestants from twenty-two schools. He is employed at the First National bank, and beside attending continuation school, goes to evening school at the Y. M. C. A. with the expectation of becoming a physician.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send your name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. Mary Carp, 517 South Third street, Fairbury, Ill., was awarded $5.

The Question.

What punishment did your parents use which had the greatest influence on your behavior?

The Answers.

George Goldberg, 1933 North Fairfield avenue, garment designer. — The only punishment that had any particular effect on me was their sending me to church against my will; I was told either to go to church or to leave home. I left home. The result was I became a confirmed disbeliever in all forms of religion.

Mrs. Florence Eversole, 3027 Thirty-sixth avenue, Minneapolis, Minn., housewife. —Any one can guess that very readily. I was whipped so that I remember it. In punishing my own children I have found it effective simply to ignore them entirely until they are willing to come to terms. After that I ignore the offense.

B. O. Williams, 7258 Aberdeen street, salesman. — I was told to obey, and if I didn't obey I was punished. Therefore I learned that obedience was the easiest way to keep from getting a trouncing. I have a youngster, and although we try to keep from punishing him we find it necessary, because a child does not know where to stop.

Miss Leona Heine, 4437 Fullerton avenue, bookkeeper. — They took away some of my pleasures for a week, or whatever the seriousness of the offense might demand. Naturally I did not repeat the offense. This did me more good than a whipping.

Herbert Patterson, 540 South Yale avenue, Villa Park, Ill., real estate salesman.—A good talking to. On many an occasion father would take his easy chair and explain things to me. He spoke with easy, unperturbed manner, and voice wholly free from any suggestion of anger, talking as brother to brother. I couldn't help understanding and obeying.

Tell Short History by Ideals of Great, Book Dealer's Idea

Persons puzzling their heads over the best manner in which to condense the history of the United States into 500 words, the chief requirement in THE TRIBUNE contest closing at midnight on Feb. 15, were given another suggestion yesterday—trace the nation's history through the ideals personified by great Americans.

The contest, which carries prizes ranging from $1,000 to $50, was inspired by the agreement of former President Coolidge to write a 500 word history which will be carved on the Mount Rushmore memorial in South Dakota. The form and style of the entries has been left entirely to contributors, who can select such events since the discovery of America as they wish to use in telling their histories.

Yesterday's suggestion for building the history around the ideals of national heroes came from Bookseller Ben Abramson of the Argus Book shop, 333 South Dearborn street.

"It would be quite a simple matter to use this method," Mr. Abramson said. "Almost every one, school children and adults, knows by heart the ideals of Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt, and the rest, and since this is to be a history for future generations to study it will serve the double purpose of providing historical facts and historical thought."

"Let me illustrate my plan," continued Mr. Abramson. "Two or three words will tell you the thought of the leader of a period which completely characterizes the period itself. For instance:

"Capt. Miles Standish—Valor and tenacity.

"George Washington—Courage and verity.

"Thomas Jefferson—Equality and democracy.

"Benjamin Franklin — Knowledge and science.

"Abraham Lincoln—Humanity and freedom.

"Woodrow Wilson—Scholarship and idealism.

"There, in a brief sentence or phrase, you have a thumbnail sketch of the great hero of a period and the ideals he represented which we find reflected upon the pages of the period's history. I have named only seven men—there are a dozen or two dozen more who can be treated similarly."

The history editor again called attention yesterday to the fact that one person may submit as many manuscripts as he or she chooses. The same person may use as many methods in the telling of the history as he or she desires and all will be carefully considered after the contest closes at midnight, Feb. 15. Address manuscripts to the History Editor, THE TRIBUNE, Tribune square, Chicago.

THE STAGE

KATHARINE CORNELL'S rôle in "Dishonored Lady," the play by Margaret Ayer Barnes and Edward Sheldon which had its opening last night, is described by Manhattan reviewers as "a modern woman harboring beneath her fine breeding an inherited taint of restless desire." In other words, the character is an addition to the dark, exotic Miss Cornell's gallery of enchanting but sinister ladies.

The authors are said to have delved into the printed records of famous murder trials for their material. They found a case which stirred the curiosity of Great Britain in 1857—the trial of Madeleine Smith, a well born Glasgow beauty, for the murder of an obscure clerk of French descent, who was her lover. He was poisoned by arsenic, and circumstantial evidence pointed strongly toward Madeleine. She went through the ordeal with iron nerves, and the verdict was "not proven."

F. Tennyson Jesse, literary specialist in celebrated murder trials, has told the story in book form. "Dishonored Lady" modernizes it—"time, the present; place, New York"—making the heroine a Park Row belle and the victim a sleek swain from the Argentine.

The first nighters received the play with enthusiasm, but expert opinion was mixed. Some of the stage forecasters allotted it a run of six or eight weeks. Others said its life depended entirely upon Miss Cornell's popularity.

Clayton Hamilton, emeritus dramatic critic, is now in Chicago, lecturing at schools, colleges and universities as cultural propagandist for the approaching engagement of William Gillette. He speaks with authority on the subject of Mr. Gillette's "Sherlock Holmes," for he saw the first performance of this play Nov. 6, 1899, in the Garrick theater, New York.

Mr. Gillette was 44 years old then; he is now 74. He has broken a retirement of years to revive the play he fashioned expertly out of Conan Doyle's stories. He announces that this tour in his most famous character study will be his farewell to the stage. He follows George M. Cohan at the Erlanger, Monday, Feb. 24, for a three weeks' stay.

"Journey's End" has no monopoly on the all male cast. Another play without a heroine, an adventuress or a French maid will be staged in New York next week. "The Last Mile" is its title, and John Wexley is its author. There is some talk in Manhattan, also, about a play with only one character, bearing the title of "Courtesan." It had bad luck once, but is going to try again, late in the month.

Mrs. Fiske seems to have conceded her age. In her new born play, "It's a Grand Life," she is wearing a white wig. She says that the rôle needed the dignity of snowy hair.

Explanation of the title of "Strictly Dishonorable," which is on next week's playbills: The piece deals with a southern girl's adventures among the speakeasies of New York; she is adored by a suave Italian who coaxes her into his apartment with intentions which, he frankly tells her, are "strictly dishonorable." Margaret Perry, a leading woman at the age of 16, plays the part.

Burton Holmes will begin his annual series of travel lectures in Orchestra hall next week. Wednesday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons, as usual, for five weeks. His first topic will be "London in the Season." C. C.

Baden-Powells at Colon; Greeted by Boy Scouts

COLON, Panama, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Lord Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement, and Lady Baden-Powell, who have been making a tour of the West Indies, arrived at Colon today and were enthusiastically greeted by Boy Scouts. They will continue on to Panama.

FLYER PHONES WIFE FROM AIR AND TELLS WHAT HE'D LIKE TO EAT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The day when a man may dictate a supper menu to his wife while flying home from work may not be far distant. In fact, it already has been done once.

Arriving here after a flight from New York, Dr. C. Francis Jenkins, a Washington inventor, said he had communicated to Mrs. Jenkins his taste in supper dishes as part of the test for a new type of antenna attached to a radio telephone outfit, while flying over Pennsylvania.

Laymen Obtain More Voice in Picking Bishop

C. P. Anderson's Successor to Be Elected Today.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A resolution asking equal rights of laymen with clergymen in the election of future Episcopal bishops of Chicago was adopted by an overwhelming majority in the 93d convention of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago. The sessions of the convention were opened yesterday morning at St. James' cathedral, Cass and Huron streets.

At the election, which has been called for 11 this morning, when a successor to the late Rt. Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson will be elected the clergy will elect and submit their election for confirmation or veto to the lay delegates. If the resolution which was adopted yesterday morning is also adopted at the convention of 1931, the constitution will be changed so that the clergy and lay delegates will vote concurrently at all succeeding elections of bishops.

The election of a bishop will follow nominations by a "blind ballot." That will allow laymen to place candidates in nomination. This represents an immediate increase in their powers. Under the arrangement adopted there will be no nominations from the floor of the convention and no nomination speeches.

Charles R. Fleld, lay delegate from St. Luke's church, Evanston, presented the resolution concerning the laymen at yesterday morning's session. It immediately was referred to the committee that returned it favorably to the convention. There was no debate. Mr. Fleld, speaking for the resolution, stated that Bishop Anderson had left a letter favoring the plan of giving the laity the rights sought in the resolution. The Rev. Dr. George H. Thomas, rector of St. Paul church, and the Rev. Dr. Arthur Rogers, rector of St. Mark's church, Evanston, also spoke for the resolution.

It had been predicted that the resolution would bring a heated debate. It is thought, however, that the letter that had been written by Bishop Anderson did much to quell clerical opposition, for on several previous occasions similar resolutions were proposed and promptly defeated.

The method of nomination by ballot, according to observers, probably will tend to widen the field of nominees and lessen the assurance of campaign leaders for the various candidates now in the field. Late yesterday the suggestion of the Rt. Rev. Hughes Latimer Burleson, assessor (assistant) to the presiding bishop of the American Episcopal church and bishop of South Dakota, was substantially supported, especially in view of the meeting of the house of bishops in Chicago on March 26, when a primate to succeed the late Bishop Anderson will be selected.

The Rev. Gerald G. Moore was reelected secretary of the convention and the Rev. Walter C. Bihler, River Forest, assistant secretary. Edward J. Rogerson was reelected treasurer. The convention unanimously adopted a resolution offered by the Rev. George H. Thomas which gives Mrs. Charles P. Anderson an annuity.

Anglican Church Meet May Strain Union with British State

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Members of the Church of England watched with some trepidation today the opening of the church assembly, at which the much mooted question of severance of church and state may arise.

Since parliament voted down the new prayer book, in which a number of high church principles are incorporated, there has been great dissatisfaction with the situation which permits groups composed of a considerable proportion of noncommunicants of the church to edit the rituals of the church, and it is unlikely that the present assembly will finish its session without at least making a gesture toward a possible disestablishment.

The attitude of the church on divorce is another subject of discussion. At present the Church of England does not recognize divorces and second marriages of persons whose first partners are still living. The question of social relations of communicants with divorces is a ticklish one.

How Much Is Needed to Wed On? Answer Varies with Couples

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"How much money would you advise a young couple to have to start housekeeping on?" I am asked.

Frankly, I cannot say. There are only two people in the world who can decide that inteligently, and they are the young couple.

If, by the question, is meant how much money on the bank, it could be answered for some couples that they wouldn't need any, providing they had a salary to rely on. For another couple from two to ten or twenty thousand wouldn't tide them happily over a period of time.

Not that money isn't important. Someone wisely said that love may soar above the sordid dollar but marriage can't. Not enough money and too much money, both, have ruined countless numbers of marriages.

It is not true, either, that love flies out the window when poverty comes in the door. A case well known to me could be reported as picturing just the opposite. Love practically flew in the window when the man's money vanished overnight. And the world knows a good many couples that remained together through years of financial struggle, but drifted apart when days of affluence arrived.

The "lean days" are so frequently periods in which the two have a common purpose, in which mutual sacrifices are made and in which self hasn't time to thrust it's distorting head. Happy days these lean ones may be, too. On the other hand, certain marriage candidates are disqualified from the start on this score. They couldn't bear of lean days without shuddering. With them marriage must begin on a financial peak.

About all that can be universally agreed on about marriage and money is that it is not how much you have that matters so much as what you want to spend it for. If for luxuries and pleasure, you'll need a lot. If you do not require luxuries and are content with a mininum sum for pleasure you can get along with a great deal less.

If you are willing to go along slowly furnishing the home piece by piece and can manage a little wholesome recreation and insurance in your budgeting of a fair salary you can expect happiness from this financial start, too. But the question can only be answered by what you want to spend your money for.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Rhubarb with Figs.

Perhaps the principal merit rhubarb has, when sweetened with brown sugar, is that it is different. It is not half as pretty as when sweetened with white sugar, and yet it has an old fashioned quality that some people like, and when figs are added to rhubarb some like the brown sugar in the combination better than the white, but first let us note just how it is probably best to cook the rhubarb with the brown sugar. To get the finer effect, after washing, wiping, and trimming the stalks, split them lengthwise two or three times and then, holding the split pieces together on a board, cut across, making one-third inch lengths. To each cup of the rhubarb add one-half cup or more of brown sugar—some people like to have their rhubarb quite sweet—leave in a warm place until some of the juice is drawn out and then cook gently. Any strong flavor it has may be modified with whipped cream.

In using figs with rhubarb we must remember that the figs are sweet enough to add the sugar used. One way to cook rhubarb with figs is to put into a saucepan a layer of rhubarb cut in the thinnest slices, then add brown sugar and figs and more rhubarb, making as many layers as you choose. Let stand over night and then cook gently for half an hour. You should measure your materials in some way to gauge the relation of sweet to sour.

In preparing figs and rhubarb in this way we may use either white or brown sugar and use dried figs made exceedingly immaculate and cut in slices. It is possible to get a conserve so made that it seems like all figs.

Another way to make a fig and rhubarb combination is to put enough immaculate moist figs through the food chopper to make half a cup. Add to this one cup of water, one-half cup of sugar and cook for twenty minutes, or until the whole seems like a sirup. Have ready two cups of rhubarb cut fine—the hothouse rhubarb is never peeled—pour the fig sirup over it and cook for a short time, when the rhubarb will be tender.

This makes a thick pink conserve and one pleasant to eat with meats. The combination of figs and rhubarb has all the medical or laxative virtue of figs alone, while it can be a brighter and fresher product.

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Purchasers of baby chicks are warned by Dr. Robert Graham of University of Illinois that the term "accredited," as it is now used, does not give chicks nor the hatcheries from which they came a clean bill of health.

"A more important item in the future livability of the chicks than knowing whether or not they are accredited is to determine whether they are from tested stock and if the test was applied by a competent veterinarian. Many hatcheries in the middle west test all their egg supplying flocks for bacillary white diarrhea and tuberculosis. Other accredited hatcheries to date have made no particular effort to establish disease free flocks by test.

"Hence accredited flocks in Illinois and many other middle western states are not necessarily healthy flocks nor are accredited hatcheries those which buy their eggs only from healthy flocks. In fact accredited chicks under the system now being used in some states may be from diseased flocks."

No plans of controlling bacillary white diarrhea or tuberculosis will be completely successful until all mature breeding stock is tested and the reactors eliminated, advises Dr. Graham.

"Clean houses, clean ground, and clean, wholesome feed complete a sanitary program which has proved its worth for keeping down baby chick losses. Brooder houses should first be cleaned with scalding hot lye water containing 1 pound of lye to 40 gallons of water. A standard disinfectant should then be sprayed about the house and allowed to dry. Clean ground means ground on which old fowls have not been for a year or two. Plowing and cropping is desirable in suppressing worm infestation and other diseases. On farms where heavy losses have occurred, rearing chicks in confinement or on wire runways is recommended. The danger of carrying infection into the brooder houses on shoes and feed utensils must be guarded against."

G. F. Baker Gives Another Million for Dartmouth

New York, Feb. 4.—[Special.]—George F. Baker, noted financier, has made a new donation of $1,000,000 to Dartmouth college at Hanover, N. H., for the maintenance and operation of the Baker Memorial library there, it was learned today. Mr. Baker provided $1,100,000 several years ago for the construction of the library, as a memorial to his uncle, Fisher Ames Baker, Dartmouth, 1859.

Prom at Yale Draws Several Chicago Girls

BY THALIA——

Those of us who have passed the collegiate age find it a little difficult to recapture the point of view of youth regarding proms. We are likely to think of them as just parties, whereas they have an immense significance in the micron of our juniors.

A prom bid is, to a popular girl, as important a trophy as a scalp is reported to have been to an Indian. Several Chicago debutantes and ex-debs have achieved the coveted invitations to the midsemester gayeties now being conducted at the various educational institutions in the east.

Today is the finale of the 3 day prom activities at Yale, where Janet Kirk, Mrs. William D. Kirk's daughter; Phoebe Logan, daughter of the Stuart Logans; Jean Stevens, Mrs. Clyde Stevens' daughter; Mary Dawes, Lucy Stone, and Margaret Wells have been among the party goers.

Miss Stone and Miss Wells made the trip from Vassar, where they are students, and Miss Stevens went on from Lake Placid, where she, Barbara King, and Louise Badgerow have been enjoying a session of winter sports. Phoebe Logan went as the guest of young Jimmy Heyworth. Donald R. McLennan Jr. is a member of the committee making the prom arrangements. Miss Kirk leaves New Haven tomorrow for Ithaca, N. Y., to attend the Cornell festivities, referred to as junior week. Christobel Wheeler, daughter of the Seymour Wheelers and another of this year's debutantes, goes tomorrow to Hanover, N. H., for the Dartmouth yearly carnival.

In spite of the general impression that "there isn't a soul left in town," announcements of luncheons, teas, and lectures continue to arrive. The American Friends of China send vermilion postcards to let it be known that they are to have a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock next Tuesday in the bungalow on the roof of the Hotel Sherman.

Dr. P. C. Chang, dean of Nankai university at Tientsin, is to speak on "The Chinese Theater." Mrs. Waller Borden is taking charge of the reservations. "Dr. Chang is a noted critic, an authority on Chinese drama and poetry, and a moving spirit in advancing the modern culture of China," says the card.

The Arts club has cards out for an illustrated lecture by Thomas Munro on "Expressing the Machine Age in Painting and Sculpture" next Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock. Recalling the crush at the last morning lecture, when Bertrand Russell spoke, the club advises reserving seats.

The English Speaking union announces a tea for Miss Constance Collier and the cast of "The Matriarch" at the Arts club next Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Fletcher Steele, landscape architect of Boston, who is to talk on "The Modern Trend in Gardens" at the Fortnightly at 11 o'clock this morning under the auspices of the Cambridge school, arrived yesterday and is the house guest of the Walter S. Brewsters for his short stay in Chicago.

The fourth of a series of teas for parents and teachers is to be given at the Chicago Latin school on Open day, Feb. 12. The wives of the trustees who are to assist include Mrs. Frank S. Porter, Mrs. Charles T. Freeman, Mrs. Clarence T. Seipp and Mrs. Charles D. Frey.

The Woman's National Republican club announces a Valentine card party a week from Friday at the Conrad hotel. Mrs. Harry C. Holloway and Mrs. Clyde L. Day are co-chairmen in charge, and Mrs. Boyd Hill is doing the publicity.

Mrs. Waller Borden apparently finds "causes" irresistible. She admits to being involved in a new project after she has solemnly promised herself not to do it again this season. The Open Road, Inc., is an organization whose purpose is "to put Europe within reach of intelligent, artistic people for less money than they would have to spend in order to live here," according to Mrs. Borden's expression of it. She is opening her residence for a meeting next Monday evening at which Charles Denby Jr., Madame Kormler, and John Rothschild of New York City are to speak. No funds are to be solicited, as the New York organization merely is desirous of securing coöperation in finding students for the trips. The presidents of most of the eastern colleges compose an advisory committee.

The George S. Faurots have left Bermuda after a lengthy stay there, and the John T. Piries, who have been recently at the Mid-Ocean club, have sailed for the West Indies. Mr. and Mrs. Carolos Alling have been at the Hamilton hotel this week.

Mrs. Gustav Hessert is to give a luncheon today at the Drake hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Bendelari of 1540 Lake Shore drive leave today for Florida. There they are to join a house party on the Indian river near Daytona. Later on they motor to Palm Beach and Miami and will spend several days deep sea fishing off the Florida keys.

Men of Free State Are Marrying Late, So Statistics Reveal

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Feb. 4.—The proportion of unmarried people in the Irish Free State is greater for all ages than in any other country, is the fact revealed by the latest Irish Free State census which was published today. It was also shown that there is a marked tendency for marriages to take place comparatively late in life.

The following table gives the percentages of men unmarried at the ages indicated:

25 to 30 years	80 per cent
30 to 35 years	62 per cent
35 to 40 years	50 per cent
55 to 60 years	26 per cent

The next highest known percentage of men unmarried between 25 to 30 years, is in Sweden which is 64 per cent, while the corresponding figure for England and Wales is 45 per cent and America, 35 per cent.

Although emigration accounts for the large number of single men up to the age of 35 to 40, still the remaining unmarried males at that age in the Free State is more than three times as great as in Denmark or England and Wales.

These Two Artists Mingle Mystic Ideas with Their Pigments

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Helen West Heller always has ranked high among Chicago mystics. Her paintings frequently are symbolic in character and she shares with Salcia Banc, another radical interpreter of the grotesque, a passion for inspiring horror and repugnant fright in the bosom of her audience. Miss Heller has been noted for many years as a skillful craftsman in lithography and wood blocks. An exhibit of her work has just been opened at 151 East Chicago avenue, and though the paintings are few in number they are rather impressive in their summing up of Miss Heller's possibilities.

There is a large oil, "Ice," that has a swift movement and a tingling cold atmosphere which is effective; there is "Abstraction—Intersection," that is quite fascinating, the village is portioned out in layers and two gaunt dogs sniff the deserted streets on which the only sign of life is a truck and three laboring men hurrying home; the "Operating Room" is in the mood of the "Last Supper," Russianized. Among the prints the "Cow" is unlike the gentle and symmetrical ruminant we know, the foundation of the milk bottle; "Ducks" is extremely good; "Hurdles" is alive with swift running figures; the "Crocodile" is a fabled monster out of an ancient story. The two high keyed paintings, abstractions both, one "Mountains" and the other "Resistance," look respectively like a platter of round fishes gasping for air and a dance of screws. There is a rhythmic flow of color which redeems their obscurity, however.

The Chicago Public School Art society will hold its annual meeting for the election of officers and directors Saturday morning, Feb. 8, at 11:30 o'clock at the Arts club. John Shapley, head of the art department of the University of Chicago, will be the speaker of the day.

Newlywed Nippon Prince, Princess Go to Inform Ancestors

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Feb. 5.—Prince Nobuhito Takamatsu, brother of the emperor of Japan, and Princess Kikuko Tokugawa, a descendent of the ancient family that long held the office of Shogun, were married yesterday. Today they continued in the long routine of ceremonials.

They started on the journey to most of the important shrines of the Japanese imperial ancestors and other dieties, before whose altars they must report their marriage. At Kuoto, for instance, they will invoke the spirit of Emperor Meiji, the prince's grandfather, who, 62 years ago, forced Princess Kikuho's grandfather to relinquish the supreme control of Japan that the Shoguns, at first merely high palace officials, had held for centuries. The royal pilgrims will visit the tomb of Jimmu, the first emperor, and that of Emperor Taisho, the prince's father. They will return to Tokio on Feb. 10.

Thereafter for three days they will be the center of a round of receptions arranged by the emperor.

U. S. COMPARES PAY BY 5 AND 10 STORES IN EIGHTEEN STATES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The "phenomenal" increase in sales of chain stores of the 5 and 10 cent variety was held today by the women's bureau of the department of labor not to have been paralleled by advances in wages to girl employés.

Many of them were said to receive insufficient pay "to procure the necessities of life," or an average of $12 a week. Mary Elizabeth Pidgeon of the bureau said this average applied in the last quarter of 1928 to slightly more than 6,000 girls in 179 limited price stores throughout 18 states and 5 additional cities.

Only 7 per cent of the girls earned as much as $18 a week, while 70 per cent earned less than $15, and the others less than $10.

The fixed selling price irrespective of locality of the stores does not prevail in regard to wages in the various states, the survey showed. In California the average was $16, the minimum wage permitted by law for experienced workers in that state.

Michigan, with a $15 average, and Kentucky, with a $14 mean, ranked next. The average of $8.80 for Maryland was the lowest reported for any state, while the average in Alabama, Georgia, Kansas, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee was $9. Arkansas, Florida, and Oklahoma reported an average of $10; Delaware and Rhode Island, $11; Ohio, $12, and Missouri and New Jersey, $13.

In the five additional cities, average earnings were $12 in Boston, $13 in Indianapolis, $14 in New York and Milwaukee, and $18 in Chicago.

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid Arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

CORINNE GRIFFITH, First National's charmingly beautiful star, says: "The thing I like best about Lux Toilet Soap is the wonderful smoothness of my skin after it!"

Corinne Griffith

Luxury such as you have found only in fine French soaps at 50¢ and $1.00 the cake

NOW 10¢

It has swept across the world from Hollywood to Europe

"NO beauty is more important to a girl than alluring smooth skin." So says William A. Seiter, prominent First National director, summing up what 45 leading Hollywood directors have found out from their experience with motion pictures.

"A screen star must pass the most merciless test—the great close-up lights find out the slightest flaw in the skin," he goes on to say. "But the owner of a skin which can pass this test has the support of an immense adoring public."

It is because alluringly smooth skin is so vital for success on the screen that of the 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 511 are simply devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. And all the great film studios have made it the official soap for their dressing rooms.

The Broadway stage stars are equally enthusiastic about this soap, so daintily fragrant and white. And now, too, the screen stars of the European capitals have adopted Lux Toilet Soap! To keep their skin as faultlessly smooth as the American stars keep theirs.

You will love the way it keeps your skin silken-smooth! And such generous lather as it gives, even in very hard water. Order several cakes of Lux Toilet Soap—today.

Authorities in 85% of America's leading hospitals now insist upon Kotex absorbent . . . proving its hygienic safety.

IF there is one time above all others when you want hygienic security, a feeling of safety and absolute comfort, it is when you are selecting sanitary protection. That is why you will appreciate the fact that America's great hospitals (85% of them) are now using Kotex absorbent.

Cellucotton—not cotton

Hospitals know this as Cellucotton absorbent wadding. It is not cotton, but a cellulose product which, for sanitary purposes, performs the same function as the softest of cotton, with 5 times the absorbency.

The marvelous absorbency of Cellucotton explains why Kotex stays soft longer. This protection gives greater safety and security because it absorbs away from the surface, not in just one particular spot.

Soft, lasting protection

It is well designed, it won't twist and bulge, it can't pack. Sometimes there is a deceptive softness about a pad which soon turns to chafing, uncomfortable stiffness after it's worn. That isn't true of Kotex, as you will soon discover when you try it.

Then, of course, there is the reason most women first began to use Kotex: it is disposable. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, fleecy softness that lasts for hours.

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

Lengthened Skirts Make a Graceful Posture Necessary

by Gabriele Zanelli

The most affectionate hold the lengthened skirt will have on women will be earned by the better poise possible with them. Few women there were who did not feel uncomfortable knowing their knees were exposed to public censure. Consequently, we had a continued jumping jack sort of performance during the course of their wearing. Every few moments one would have to rise and attempt to pull down material that was not there to be pulled down over knee and fatted calf.

Now you can sit like a lady and act like a well poised one, which does not hurt any girl's effectiveness either. One of these days I expect we will be putting on our most supercilious eyebrow lift at sight of a short skirt photograph, adding quite possibly: "How could girls ever have looked like that!" We do, so agreeably for our consciences, forget quickly that we were one of the girls.

What I really mean is that now if we sit ugly we can't blame the skintight skirts of kilt abbreviation. We don't have to continue wearing it. We don't have to show horny knees nor gross upper underpinnings.

But, speaking of sitting, how come a girl gets that abominable habit of sitting with knees spread apart? If one had any sense of line and silhouette, it would be an offense never committed. It gives such an ugly squaring off of the figure at a point where slender shaping is most desirable. Knees should be held close together and ankles side by side, not with Sally Prim nicety but reasonably close together.

Let the toes touch the floor lightly. Draw the heels back slightly but don't force the calf to bulge by pressing it against the chair leg or rung.

Sitting cross legged is quite all right if one can do it gracefully and it doesn't send the upper foot so far forward that you can read the price sign on the shoe sole.

One of our cartoonists has made a certain foot pose ludicrously familiar because it appears with chunky women. Knees are spread apart and the feet are rested on the outer rim of each respective sole. You expect the feet soles to start clapping together in a minute.

GIRL'S DRESS.

Here is a smart, practical design for a school dress for a young girl. Bodice and skirt are each one in two pieces, the skirt being pressed into plaits each side of the front and attached to the bodice. Nothing could be much easier to make. Navy blue wool crêpe, with beige crêpe collar and cuffs bound with bright red crêpe, would delight any girl, while French blue jersey, with collar and cuffs of blue and white checked woolen, is smart.

The pattern, 2947, comes in sizes 6, 8, 10, and 12 years. Size 8 requires 2 yards of 40 inch material, with ⅜ yard of 32 inch contrasting.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Temporary Help Needed.

"I am the mother of four small children, the oldest a boy, 9. The others are a girl, 8, and boys, 5 and 3. I am expecting another baby soon. My husband recently underwent an operation and I was in the sanitarium for a long while. During this illness we lost everything we had and had to move into a two room furnished apartment.

"Now we have moved again into four rooms but have almost no furniture for them. Can you get us another bed, table, chairs, and anything else for a four room flat?

"MRS. F. J."

This is one of the cases where temporary assistance means virtual salvation for the family. Reduced to their present circumstances by sickness and unemployment, the right start would put them on the upward trend again. Can you help them to reëstablish their home?

Little Parisiennes Have Own Ensembles

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—There is one side of Paris fashions untouched by the general landslide toward long skirts, mysterious legs and so forth. The skirts of little Parisiennes are, if anything, shorter than ever. Children go around in the coldest weather with a generous expanse of legs showing between the top of their long half-socks and the bottom of their coats and dresses. They seem to thrive on this exposure, and they certainly look cunning with a few scanty inches of skirt. It takes less cloth to make their clothes this way, and perhaps this is a factor with thrifty French mothers.

The Paris idea of chic is bounded by the ensemble, and even the littlest girl has her ensembles just like grown-ups. One color for both coat and dress is quite as important for her as for her mother. Color chic, also changes frequently. This season the first yellowy-green of spring is considered the smartest color for the springtime of life. There are hundreds of little Parisiennes wearing this shade in the Bois.

Coats for very young ladies, from four to eleven, are usually flared from the shoulders, giving flying legs plenty of room for speed. Mignapouf, who makes nothing but children's clothes, and dresses the little girls of particular Parisiennes, gives to the diminutive coat silhouette little flares at the sides and back by means of single box and knife plaits, as shown in the sketch of a Mignapouf ensemble. Pockets for childish knickknacks are set in at the sides under the curved bands of the front panels. There is a tiny yoke at the front of the shoulders of this coat, which descends in a wedge shape in back. The coat is made of green duvetyne.

The dress of this ensemble is made of green wool crêpe trimmed with tiny arrow heads of self-material around the front and back panel as illustrated. The collar and cuffs are of silk crêpe similarly trimmed. There is, of course, a matching hat made of green duvetyne and trimmed with rows of arrow heads in green crêpe.

Edna Wallace Hopper

Since 1885, Edna Wallace Hopper has been a stage favorite. Her unfading youthfulness has been one of the great wonders to womankind. Today, in her sixties, she has the appearance of a girl in her teens—a phenomenon due to the care and thought she has given herself.

In recent years, Miss Hopper has revealed her jealously guarded formulas and methods with the result that she is looked upon by thousands of women as a trusted cosmetic counselor. She has done what others want to do—and can do if they follow her methods.

Science proves my complexion is no miracle

—but simply the result of using a cream with metabolic qualities....

FOR YEARS I have said that my complexion was no miracle, but women would not believe me. They could not see how at 64 I could have the complexion of a girl of 16. Now science proves that a complexion like mine is one any woman can have if she will give her skin the cosmetic cooperation that I give mine.

The scientific reasons for the seeming miracle of my youthful complexion are these: The skin is made up of millions of tiny cells; the youthfulness and beauty of the complexion depends on these cells; to keep healthy, these cells must breathe in enough oxygen, consume it, throw off the wastes. If any of these metabolic functions are hindered, the skin suffers. It loses its freshness of color, ages, becomes leathery. Skin eruptions even result.

The cream I've been using is more than a cold cream. It is one that stimulates the metabolism of these microscopic pores as well as cleanses the skin. Through its daily use, I've kept the pores of my skin open and, at the same time, kept those tiny body cells functioning. That's why at 64 my complexion is soft and white, as velvety smooth as that of a young girl.

The Cold Cream You Use Should Be More Than a Mere Cold Cream

Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream is more than a cold cream. Possessing qualities found in no other cold cream, it both cleanses and stimulates. It does what no other cold cream even claims to do—enhances the metabolism of the body cells. Miss Hopper has tested this cream for over 30 years. The flower-like beauty of her complexion is irrefutable proof of its superlative merits.

If you would keep your complexion young, you must give it the cosmetic cooperation that it needs. In addition to cleansing the pores of the skin, you must stimulate the body cells and enhance their metabolism. That's what happens when you use Youth Cream—the one cream formulated in accordance with modern cosmetic knowledge.

Within one week after you start using Youth Cream, your complexion will tell you that Youth Cream is different! Your skin will look and feel younger. After that, no one will have to tell you that Youth Cream is not an ordinary cold cream. You'll know that it does all that any cold cream can do . . . and more!

So that you can see the difference that her Youth Cream can make, Miss Hopper has made arrangements so that—

$30,000 Worth of Youth Cream Will be Given Away Free!

So that you personally may know the wonders of this cream, Miss Hopper will GIVE you a 7-day tube if you mail this coupon promptly. It will be sent free of all charge; she has even provided the postage. All that's asked of you is a real week's test of Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream. In one short week your complexion will tell you why Miss Hopper—at sixty-four—has skin soft as a baby's. This offer will not appear again.

Tested List of Toys, Playthings Found in Booklet

by Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A list of toys and playthings for children from babyhood up will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Toy and Plaything booklet of which a notice was printed in December was not primarily for Christmas use. It was arranged to help those who want guidance in supplying toys and playthings for their children, which will fill their needs at the various ages.

Often a mother will write, "My little girl doesn't seem to have the right playthings," or "my little boy has this and that—what else would you suggest?" Because a really satisfactory answer to these questions and a helpful explanation would be too long for an individual letter, the list was compiled.

It contains suggestions for toys and playthings of durability and lasting interest that are suitable for children from babyhood up. Although it covers a long period of years, I think those in charge of the younger children will find in the lists especially concrete help. Also the comments in the foreword may act as a general guide.

This toy booklet is not identical with the play booklet. The toy booklet contains an actual listing of toys and playthings. The play booklet contains suggestions for the best brief, helpful reading matter on the whole subject of play, for mothers of preschool children.

In fact, one booklet really supplements the other. The two together give the best toys and playthings for children of different ages, and an understanding of why those playthings are suitable.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each child-ish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address: Bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

I took Junior to the store to get him a pair of shoes. The clerk put a shoe on his foot and said, "Well, young man, how does that feel?"

For over a week the weather had been dreary and unpleasant. Naturally people were beginning to get blue and cross.

At last the sun shone. When Betty, aged 4, awoke and saw the sun she said, "O, mother, isn't this a good-natured day?" G. T.

Woman, Not Lawyer, Pleads Her Case in Highest British Court

LONDON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Bethune Campbell, wife of a Boston, Mass., clergyman, yesterday became the first woman appellant to plead in person before the highest court in the British empire.

Mrs. Campbell is the daughter of the late Lady Elizabeth Howland of Toronto, and the case is an appeal from a judgment of a Canadian court in the matter of trusteeship of her mother's estate.

The clergyman's wife has lived in Boston for 21 years. She has a son in Harvard and a daughter in another school. She never has studied law, but has been in London since August, reading in the British museum in preparation for her appeal.
